Consumer Survey Is Due Here

To Ask Families About Purchases

Seven local residents have been under special training for a survey in the city of consumer expenditures due to start June 30 and continue over the next four to six weeks, the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, announced today.

One of 66 locality surveys scheduled to continue into next year, it will be conducted "in connection with revision of the consumer price index, sometimes referred to as the cost of living index."

Canvass Announced

It is part of a program designed to modernize and improve the government's official measure of changes in prices of goods and services that consumers buy.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy was recently notified that the group is to canvass in the city.

Families will be asked "to give information in considerable detail about the goods and services they buy, the prices they pay, how often they shop for food," and other information required to calculate the consumer price index.

All in Confidence

Those to be interviewed will be notified and information obtained will be held in confidence. All selected for the survey are asked to cooperate to the fullest extent because the index is an important economic factor in decisions made by government, business, professions, and labor groups, and has "a direct bearing on the living costs of all Americans." The last comprehensive survey of its type was made 10 years ago.

Interviewers are being trained to get data from 65 "carefully selected households in Kingston." The survey is to be supervised by Donald Malkerson of the Chicago regional office of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Local office quarters are at 277 Fair Street.

Newburgh Determined to Rid Self Of Reputation as Welfare Resort

(Editors: Officials of the city of Newburgh, alarmed at the size of public welfare expenditures, have determined to cut the cost even at the risk of losing federal and state aid. State officials have expressed fear Newburgh's action might jeopardize federal aid to the entire state. The situation is backgrounded in this Associated Press membership enterprise story)

Evening News, Newburgh

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—This city nestled in the Hudson Highlands is determined to rid itself of its reputation as a welfare resort.

But the State Department of Social Welfare has expressed alarm over the measures Newburgh proposes to accomplish its aim. State officials say such action could jeopardize payment of federal funds to every community in the state—a total of about $150 million each year.

Plans Complete Control

What Newburgh proposes is to shun state and federal welfare regulations—and funds if necessary—to take complete control of its welfare program.

The picture of this city of 31,000 cutting itself from the apron strings of the federal and state governments has brought expressions of admiration from other state communities. But mixed with these expressions are words of concern. Under terms of the Social Security Act, as interpreted by some officials of the State Welfare Department, the federal government requires that, before granting aid to a state, all its welfare districts must meet the same standards.

NAACP Asks Probe

Also, the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People demanded Sunday night that the city's welfare regulations be investigated by federal and state authorities. Gloster B. Currant of New York, national director of branches for the NAACP, made the demand at an emergency meeting of the local chapter.

Telegrams, expressing opposition to the new welfare program, sent to Gov. Rockefeller, Sens. Jacob Javits and Kenneth Keating, Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, and City Manager Joseph Mitchell.

Behind Newburgh's action are figures that show there had been an increase in welfare costs to the city every year for the last 10, even though the city has lost population and taxpayers during that period.

Third of Budget for Relief

The welfare budget has grown larger than the combined police and fire department budgets—a total of $983,085. Nearly one-third of the city's 1960 budget of $3,134,383 was spent for relief.

Today one in every 10 residents receives welfare aid of some sort. City officials blame the disproportionate number of persons on

Support Is Pledged On Berlin

Governors of Two Parties Back JFK

HONOLULU (AP) — Governors of both political parties pledged strong support today to President Kennedy in his dealing with the Soviets on Berlin and other crisis areas.

But Kennedy's domestic policies came in for sharp criticism from some Republicans and a Democrat who was one of his early supporters for the 1960 presidential nomination, Gov. John Patterson of Alabama.

Patterson kicked up some excitement on the outskirts of the 53rd annual Governors' Conference by blasting what he called the "childish" handling of the "Freedom Riders" bus controversy by the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

Asks Halt of Blasts

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York—who might be Kennedy's Republican opponent for the presidency in 1964—called for a moratorium on political criticism of the administration's international moves.

Rockefeller told a news conference Sunday that Kennedy obviously faces a great many problems "more complex than they looked from outside," the presidency. He said it was too early to make any judgments.

Notes Complex Problems

"The problems are so complex, so serious, they have such an effect on human dignity and liberty around the world I feel all of us, regardless of party, should stand behind him to support the defense of freedom with whatever steps are necessary," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller's attitude contrasted with criticisms voiced by for-

Health And Safety Are Considered

Emergency Board To Check Facts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today invoked the Taft-Hartley Act in an effort to halt the strike of maritime unions.

In an executive order, the President said the strike will, if permitted to continue, imperil the national health and safety.

At the same time, Kennedy set up a three-member emergency board to consider facts and circumstances of the dispute between sea-going unions and ship operators.

Friday Is Deadline

Kennedy set a deadline of Friday for the board to make its report.

The board, under Taft-Hartley law, will make no recommendations, but will merely report on the issues of the dispute.

Kennedy, unless the strike is settled in the meantime, presumably will then seek an injunction to halt the strike for an 80-day cooling off period.

The first step of the injunctive machinery is to ask for a temporary restraining order. Under the law, the federal judge who gets the application must grant the temporary restraining order.

Members of Board

Kennedy named David L. Cole as chairman of the emergency board.

Cole is former head of the federal mediation and conciliation service.

Other members are Samuel I. Roseman of New York and Prof. James J. Healy of the Harvard Business School.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg told reporters the board is expected to act very promptly.

Goldberg had given the President a report on a weekend survey of the strike's impact.

In a statement accompanying his executive order, Kennedy said the strike already has resulted in serious interruptions in the movement of food, oil and other commodities.

Notes Cargoes Delayed

"The supply lifelines to the state of Hawaii have been cut," Kennedy said. "There have been delays in the shipment of military cargoes."

Kennedy took note of the suggestion of some union leaders that they are willing to ease the strike to permit the movement of military supplies and essential commercial cargoes.

"These suggestions appear, on first impression, more tactical than substantial," Kennedy said.

"I request the board of inquiry to consider these suggestions however, and to include findings of fact regarding them in the report the board will submit to me."

He's for Bargaining

Kennedy said that he was anxious that the dispute be settled through collective bargaining.

He urged that the unions and the ship owners involved to continue their bargaining, and use the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, as well as the Emergency Board of Inquiry, in an effort to settle the dispute.

The action today does not bar

Business Good, Bad Depending on Status

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Business in New York State is better or worse, depending on whether you sell cars, own a department store, or stand in an unemployment insurance line.

Generally, however, business is recovering—slowly, an Associated Press survey indicated.

Employment in New York State rose in May for the third consecutive month to a total of 7,265,000. There was also a rise in unemployment, attributed to an influx of job-seekers into the labor market. Total unemployment at mid-May was estimated at 490,000 or 5,000 above the mid-April figure.

The level of employment in May however, was 56,000 lower than in May, 1960.

Turning Into Sales

Where a year ago the public was not buying more than it needed, and sometimes not even that, window shopping has begun turning into sales. There have been, however, no drastic changes in the business climate of 1961. And the general outlook for the remainder of the year is one of large hopes for small gains.

In New York City, for example, Macy's reports that sales in May show a lifting of the recession. Better weather and signs of a strengthening economy are boosting sales, a Macy spokesman said.

Others Do Business

Other retailers in New York City also say customers have begun buying again.

The New York-Greater Long Island-Westchester automobile Association reports sales of new and used cars are down.

In Buffalo and Syracuse, businessmen talk of a fine spring recovery and a bright outlook for the remainder of the year. But in Elmira a retailer commented:

"We're all cautious. The seller's mood is cautious—there's no indication here to make us optimistic about great prospects. . .our present situation isn't alarming anymore, but there's no reason yet to jump for joy."

Reason for Optimism

Why are they more optimistic in Buffalo, where 9.1 per cent of the city's 510,700-man work force was idle in May?"

For one thing, the steel industry, the rock of the local economy, reports a fine spring recovery. The Erie County Auto Dealers Association reports new car sales in the first quarter of 1961 were off only 1 per cent from the first quarter of 1960. Also, the February unemployment total was 12.1 per cent of the work force.

Picks Up in Syracuse

In Syracuse, the electrical machine industry — communications and electronic equipment — has picked up and increased employment.

Syracuse unemployment fell from 8,750 in mid-march to 6,295 in mid-May.

In Albany, where unemployment began dropping in March, savings are up, borrowing down, and the mood "cautious optimism."

Identical Low Bids Rejected, Sent for Probe

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Identical low bids have been rejected by the state on contracts for laboratory supplies and equipment, sheet steel and crackers, the Office of General Services says.

The office, in a report to Gov. Rockefeller, listed 15 items, ranging from yeast to metal castings, on which identical bids currently were being received.

Also listed were seven commodities on which the practice of identical bidding had been terminated.

Gen. Cortland V. R. Schuyler, head of the state's purchase-and-supply operation, said in a letter to Rockefeller Sunday that he recently directed that "any instance where identical bids were submitted to this office, with no single low bid being received, all bids are to be rejected. The identical bids are to be referred to the attorney general."

Schuyler said the first bids rejected were on three items in a contract for liquid chlorine, submitted July 7.

Identical bids currently were being received, he said, on certain laboratory equipment and supplies, sheet steel and crackers.

"Awards have not been made on these items," he said.

Schuyler listed these other commodities on which identical bids currently were being submitted:

Drafting tables, certain electrical supplies and equipment, engineers' measuring tapes, insecticides, certain metals and castings, rock salt, tires and tubes, tracing cloth and paper, typewriters, weed killers and yeast.

Identical bidding has been discontinued, Schuyler said, on contracts for tranquilizing drugs, liquid chlorine, anhydrous ammonia, polio vaccine, antibiotics, insulin, and dental equipment.

Kingston Savings Bank to Increase Rate of Interest

Kingston Savings Bank has announced its intention to increase its rate of interest-dividends to 3¾ per cent a year on all funds on deposit for two years or longer, effective with the quarter beginning July 1.

Lloyd R. LeFever, president, said the bank petitioned the New York State Banking Department on behalf of its depositors for this, the highest dividend rate any bank is permitted to pay.

The extra quarter of one per cent was approved by Kingston Savings Bank's trustees to encourage long-term savers. Savings on deposits less than two years will receive the current rate of 3½ per cent a year.

Interest-dividends are allowed on all regular savings and school savings accounts from date of deposit and are compounded and credited four times a year.

Revolt in Barcelona, Governor Is Seized

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Troops based in Barcelona revolted today against President Romulo Betancourt. The Interior Ministry said the rebels had seized the town's radio station station and announced they had captured the Anzoategui state governor, Gen. Rafael Solorzano.

Loyal troops and navy men were dispatched to Barcelona, Anzoategui's capital and commercial center near the Caribbean coast, to quell the uprising.

A related attempt at rebellion at La Guaira, the seaport for Caracas, was reported quickly crushed.

Betancourt called on the garrison of Barcelona, reported to number 350 officers and men, to surrender or face an attack by loyal forces.

Barcelona is a Caribbean port of about 26,000 population some 135 miles east of Caracas, the capital.

Rebellion Localized

The government said the rebellion was localized at Barcelona and that the Betancourt regime had the backing of all other members of the armed forces.

At La Guaira a sublieutenant of the national guard, the Federal Police, was reported to have led a detachment that tried to seize the electric power plant supplying Caracas. But loyal army forces drove off the rebels.

Outside Barcelona the country was reported quiet. Traffic was detoured two blocks away from the Miraflores presidential palace. The only military guard on duty there was a detachment of steel-helmeted soldiers. On the occasion of previous uprisings armored cars have been sent to guard the palace.

The revolt came 48 hours after Gen. Pedro Jose Quevedo, the army commander, said the armed forces would put down any attempts at "personal adventures."

Summer Movie Plan Not Favored By Kingston P-TA

The Kingston Parent-Teacher Association Council does not endorse the summer vacation movie program at the Community Theatre, it was announced today by Mrs. Thomas Maines, president of the Council.

In a statement today Mrs. Maines said that last year "there were pictures shown that many parents felt were not appropriate for young children."

She pointed out that the Council took such action also because it was felt that an endorsement of the movie program would be against Parent-Teacher Association "non-commercial policy."

She charged that the local theater is "using our principals, teachers and office personnel, paid by you, the taxpayer, to sell tickets in the schools," listing this as another reason the Council is "so much against this program."

Perhaps also, she said, "a subconscious but deep-seated reason for such violent objection on the part of many parents is that parents do not want their children to become habitual movie-

Unemployment in State Seen Due to Influx of Job-Seekers

NEW YORK (AP)—New York State's employment rose last month to a total of 7,265,000, but there was also a rise in unemployment, estimated in mid-May at 490,000.

In announcing the figures Sunday, State Industrial Commissioner M.P. Catherwood attributed the unemployment rise of 5,000 over the mid-April figure to an influx of job-seekers into the labor market.

He noted that an employment pickup in March and April as well as May had restored 155,000 jobs—although the level of employment this May remained 56,000 lower than in May 1960.

Employment rose in every major industry between April and May, with construction, trade and the service industries showing the greatest gains. A 5,700-job rise in manufacturing was concentrated in the durable goods segment, led by the metals and transportation equipment industries.

Each of the state's major labor market areas reflected the improved employment picture, with the greatest percentage of month-to-month job gain—2.6 per cent—reported in Buffalo.

Unemployment and unemployment rates, while rising in New York City and Albany-Schenectady - Troy and remaining unchanged in Westchester County, declined in all other areas of the state

Police Hunt Woman After Boy, 3, Is Found Drowned

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Police pushed a round-the-clock search today for a slender, raincoat-clad brunette who they believe drowned a three-year-old boy by dropping him off a bridge after binding his hands and feet with her stockings.

The body of blond, blue-eyed Andrew Ashley was found near the shore of an artificial lake in 300-acre Delaware Park. The boy had apparently been dead since Friday afternoon, when he was reported missing.

More than 300 policemen and volunteers checked hundreds of North Side homes and police and Army guardsmen fanned through miles of wooded parkland in a two-day search for the youngster.

A neighbor said he last saw Andrew walking Friday with a tall, dark-haired woman. Police believe she was the same woman who left two other North Side youngsters bound and gagged next to railroad tracks recently. Both were found unharmed.

"We're dealing with a woman maniac," warned Mayor Frank Sedita.

Many North Side families weren't letting their smaller children outside. Some refused to talk to reporters.

All police leaves were cancelled in the 57-man Colvin Street police station in the area of the slaying. Authorities elsewhere scanned newly compiled lists of people released recently from nearby mental hospitals.

The boy was found clad only in a tee shirt and undershorts but the Erie County medical examiner's office said he had not been sexually molested. A dishtowel was drawn tightly around his

Britain, Soviet Plan On Saving Laos Talk

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

GENEVA (AP) — The cochairmen of the international conference on Laos met today to determine how to keep the conference alive until Laotian leaders settle their internal disputes.

A British spokesman said the pace of the meetings might be slowed down to three a week until the three princes of Laos send a unified delegation to Geneva. Britain and the Soviet Union are the cochairmen.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, the neutralist leader who is virtually certain to become the next premier of Laos, predicted Sunday night that the Laotian crisis would end soon and a national coalition government would be formed.

The Geneva conference itself has degenerated, in public at least, into a forum for exchanging charges.

The Chinese Communists today accused the International Control Commission of interfering in Laotian domestic affairs. Canada's representative said the commission needed more equipment to travel in Laos and check on ceasefire violations. He accused the Communists of blocking requests for planes and other equipment.

Souvanna predicted a coalition government would be formed in Laos by July 20 but some American officials here said Souvanna appeared overconfident.

Souvanna told newsmen Sunday he will hold another meeting next month with the other two Laotian princes — pro-Western Boun Oum, premier of the royal Laotian government, and pro-Communist Souphanouvong of the Pathet Lao. He said they will draft a joint government proposal for presentation to King Savang Vathana, the ruler of the strategic jungle kingdom.

Souvanna added: "I could easily go to the king myself but this would be presumptuous. Any decision will be a joint one."

The three political princes at a meeting last week in Zurich agreed to ask the king to designate their future government "in the interest of perfect neutrality." But they did not go into details or make any specific nomination for premier.

Speaking with newsmen at a cocktail party in a Geneva hotel, Souvanna clearly indicated that he expects to head the new coalition regime. He said his military forces hold the upper hand.

"Our troops are everywhere," he said. "If I want to, I could march on Vientiane and Luang Prabang tomorrow."

Vientiane is the administrative Laotian capital and Luang Prabang the royal seat. Both are held by pro-Western forces of the Boun Oum government. The 2,000 or so troops reportedly loyal to Souvanna Phouma are far outnumbered by the 10,000 or more Pathet Lao guerrillas who, while recognizing Souvanna as premier, pay their real allegiance to Souphanouvong. Both forces are outnumbered by the American-equipped, American-trained royal army of 23,000 but these troops have shown almost no will to fight.

Laos remains under an uneasy truce with the international truce teams sent to police the proclaimed cease-fire stymied in Vientiane.

Reject Kassem's Claim on Kuwait

LONDON (AP) — Britain and Kuwait rejected today Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's move to annex the rich Persian Gulf oil sheikdom, Kuwait.

Britain also reaffirmed a pledge to go to the aid of the ruler, Sheik Abdullar Al-salim As'sabah if asked.

But qualified diplomats reported that the ruler made no request for immediate help in talks at his palace today with Britain's representative, John Richmond.

The sheik and the British agreed instead they would try to resist Kassem's takeover move calmly and quietly.

Both hope Kassem will be persuaded to modify his stand. Both are anxious to avert a major new Middle-East crisis that could upset the stability of the sheikdom that supplies 40 per cent of Britain's oil.

Local Criterions Corps, First at Firemen's Parade

The Criterions, comprising the recently merged units of Colonial Cavaliers of Port Ewen and Newburgh Ambassadors, were awarded the first prize trophy as the top musical marching unit in the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association convention parade at Hudson Falls Saturday afternoon.

More than 60 musical organizations participated. It was reportedly the largest parade ever to march in that city.

The newly combined corps to be known as the Criterions, has over 100 playing members, 69 of which are used in contests.

The Criterions represent Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion, and John T. Kenny Post of Newburgh.

The corps director is Spencer Myers of Kingston.

Corps advisors are Albert Macholdt of Kingston; Donald Newcomb of Newburgh, Walter Broughton of Highland, and George Garrison of Newburgh.

Other leaders are John Amarello, drum major; Joseph Genero of Brooklyn, bugle instructor; John Friesing of Newark, N. J., drum instructor, and Vincent Ratford of Brattleboro, Vt., drill instructor.

The Port Ewen corps, most active of all corps in this area and undoubtedly the most widely-known unit of the Hudson Valley area, will appear in the "Tournament of Drums" a competition sponsored by the "Grey Knights" American Legion Drum Corps of Rochester, Saturday at Aquinas Stadium, Rochester.

On the following weekend, the Port Ewen corps will appear in the "Pageant of Drums" competition to be held at MacArthur Stadium, Syracuse, July 8. This event is sponsored by the "Brigadiers" Drum Corps of Syracuse.

These appearances will be preliminiaries for the local unit after which it will appear for an exhibition at the Dietz Memorial Stadium, Kingston, on July 15.

The event, known as the "Pageant of Champions" will be sponsored by the Port Ewen Group and will feature in competition the "Caballeros," National American Legion champions 1961-62; the "Skyliners," four-time National American Legion champions; the "Brigadiers," New York State American Legion champions and National American Polish War Veterans champions; the "Hurricanes," Connecticut American Legion champions; and the "Sunrisers," Long Island DC Association champs.

Longest U. S. presidential inaugural address was delivered by William Henry Harrison and consisted of 8,500 words.

Hospital, Doctors and Nurse Are Sued by High Falls Man

Michael Burke, a former resident of High Falls, has brought an action for negligence and malpractice in Supreme Court against the Kingston Hospital, two doctors and a nurse to recover damages which he claims arise out of his confinement and treatment at the hospital back in March 1958.

Burke, admitted to the hospital on March 27, 1958, suffering from a peptic ulcer, alleges through the use of an improperly sterilized instrument used in treatment, he developed an infection of the arm and is now permanently scarred from the resulting operation. Burke is represented by Alfred Julian of New York City and Philip Korn of Kerhonkson.

Denies Negligence

The Kingston Hospital, represented by Donald H. McCann, denies negligence and alleges it is an institution which offers its facilities to the public and that it is equipped with the proper facilities according to standard practices and denies any responsibility.

Dr. David S. Gerbarg, who was one of the attending physicians, is represented by Joseph Balsamo, and Dr. Glenn Van Gaasbeek, surgeon, who was called in on the case, is represented by Donald Fager. Mrs. Elizabeth O'Leary, a private nurse who was in attendance on Burke, is represented by Howard C. St. John.

Charges Faulty Sterilization

It is alleged by counsel that Mr. Burke was admitted to the hospital in March 1958, in a very serious condition with ulcers. He was treated for a time and then left the hospital but later, in April of 1958, returned to the hospital for an infection of the arm. He alleges faulty sterilization is responsible for the arm condition. As a result of an operation on the arm, he now has severe scars on his arm.

The action was taken up today for trial before a jury and Justice William Deckelman in Supreme Court.

Robert Schnitzer, administrator at the hospital, was the first witness called to produce the hospital records. They were voluminous and a recess was taken shortly before noon to permit counsel for defense to examine the records.

Social Security Expansion Comes Up in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another of President Kennedy's major bills, a proposal to expand Social Security benefits, comes up for debate in the Senate today.

The Senate is expected to clear the House-passed measure handily, but not until after a flurry of oratory over a Republican proposal to write in a health insurance program for old persons.

The House, meanwhile, will debate Kennedy's request for another $5-billion increase in the national debt limit now standing at $293 billion.

Tuesday the House takes up the biggest appropriations measure of the session, the $42,711,105,000 Defense Department bill.

Both branches hope to clean up a big batch of major bills by Thursday, so members can get away for a long Fourth of July holiday weekend.

Rush Money Bill

In addition to Social Security, the Senate will act on a rush money bill carrying funds for the U.S. share of the U.N. Congo operation, a Commerce Department appropriations measure and the debt limit bill.

Both House and Senate must clear the highway financing bill containing $11.56 billion in revenues over the next 11 years to keep the interstate system on schedule.

The 4 cent federal gas tax will drop to 3 cents on Saturday if this measure is not signed into law by that time; it continues the 4 cent rate and imposes new tire and truck levies. The compromise version of the bill already has been worked out.

Changes in Law

The Social Security bill up for consideration in the Senate lowers to age 62 the retirement age for men, increases the minimum Social Security benefit, raises the monthly payments to widows of retired workers, and makes other changes in the law.

This is one of the items on Kennedy's 16-point legislative program submitted to Congress in February. So far nine have been sent to him for signature.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., has announced he will raise the issue of medical care for old persons in the Social Security debate by offering his $450-million annual federal grant plan.

This is expected to meet solid Democratic opposition. A similar Javits proposal was beaten 67-28 last year.

The New York senator proposes a system of federal grants to help pay for three types of optional health insurance plans for persons over 65 with incomes below $3,000 for an individual, $4,500 for a couple.

The steamer Sultana caught fire and sank near West Memphis, Ark., on an April night in 1865, carrying 1,457 persons to death.

Three Area Fires During Weekend

Three fires were reported in the area during the weekend, one of which destroyed a two-story frame residence on the Fox Hollow road, Shandaken.

A fire from a stove pipe damaged the former James C. Vosburgh house in Shady Saturday evening, and a blaze in an automobile at the Route 28 traffic circle Sunday afternoon was extinguished by the Spring Lake Fire Company.

The fire which heavily damaged a residence in Shandaken was of undetermined origin.

It occurred during the early morning hours Sunday. The Shandaken and Phoenicia fire companies responded, with the first call coming at 3:20 a. m.

The second floor was occupied by William Hummell, owner of the home.

Occupying the first floor, but not at home Sunday night when the blaze was discovered, were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rotella and their daughter.

Volunteer firemen were at the scene for several hours, returning to their stations about 7 a. m.

Houses nearby were protected from heat and flame. The Hummell residence had about five rooms on the first floor, and several upstairs.

Shady Home Damaged

Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 responded about 9 p. m. Saturday to the former Vosburgh house, now reportedly owned by a couple from South Carolina.

Fire reportedly started from a stove pipe connected to a wood range near the kitchen wall.

Flames burned the wall and studding and mounted into the upper section of the cottage, then began to spread. Firemen removed the upper section of the wall and a portion of the roof, stopping the progress of the blaze.

A booster hose and a 1½-inch hose stream were used. Quick response by the fire company (Lake Hill-Shady-Willow) reportedly prevented a more serious fire. Firemen cleaned up the kitchen before leaving. Woodstock Company No. 1 sent a pumper and emergency truck.

Roy Van Wagener, captain of the No. 3 company, was in charge at the scene.

Automobile Blaze

At 3:30 p. m. Sunday a 1955 sedan operated by Samuel Paul, 53, of Forest Hills, L. I., burst into flames.

Restriction Not Permitted in Notice of Sale

Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said Sunday that he has asked the referee in a mortgage foreclosure proceeding in Dutchess County to have removed from the notice of sale a restriction to the effect that the premises "shall not be sold . . . to anyone not of the Caucasian race."

Notice of the sale, published in a newspaper (The Harlem Valley Times) over the past several weeks, relates to a dwelling located in the Town of Amenia and is a part of the Lake Amenia development in Dutchess County. The foreclosure was brought by the First National Bank of Amenia against Richard T. Baribeault.

The notice followed a judgment of foreclosure and sale.

Attorney General Lefkowitz called the attention to the official referee, who was named to conduct the sale by the Supreme Court, Dutchess County, that the United States Supreme Court in a decision in 1948, had ruled that such restrictive covenants in deeds may not be enforced by the courts.

It included: (1) Restoration of accessibility to downtown with new and improved public and private transportation carriers; (2) Freeing of downtown areas from congestion by private automobiles, particularly through construction of loop roads surrounding the areas; (3) Middle-income housing in downtown areas, and (4) more downtown conveniences such as arcades, colonnades, covered streets and rest benches.

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP—Peggy Ann Starkman, Kingston High School senior holds scholarship grant of Singer Sewing Machine Company presented by James K. Able, (right) general agent of the company. Witnessing the presentation are the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Starkman of Boice Lane. The grant is based on National Merit ratings and given to a student who aspires to teach home economics. (Freeman photo)

Kingston Senior Wins Singer Grant

Peggy Ann Starkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Starkman of Boice's Lane, is one of five young women throughout the nation who will enter college this fall on Singer Sewing Machine Company merit scholarships to prepare to become high school or college teachers of home economics, it was announced today by J. K. Able, general agent of the company.

The cash amount of the scholarship ranges from $250 to $1,500 per year for the four college years and is calculated by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation according to a formula based on the student's financial circumstances.

Where a scholarship winner attends a privately supported college, the Singer Company will provide a supplementary cost-of-education grant to the college, on a graduated basis, to help cover that portion of the cost of a college education not covered by tuition.

Miss Starkman is in the senior class at Kingston High School where she is a member of the school band and orchestra, a member of the yearbook staff and Prisma girls' service organization.

Miss Starkman plans to attend Cornell University next September.

National Merit Scholarship examinations for high school juniors are conducted in March of each year. Girls who wish to be considered for a Singer Company merit scholarship are invited to consult with their high school principal early in their junior year to arrange to take the National Merit qualifying tests.

Those who became finalists as a result of their high test scores may then indicate that they plan to teach home economics in high school or college after graduation from college. It is from this latter group of finalists — future teachers of home economics — that the five best will be picked each year as winners of Singer Company merit scholarships.

NEW U.N. JOB PLAN

A committee report on dividing up United Nations jobs among member states is a further indication of how that international body is changing. If the concept recommended in this report is approved, the influence of the United States is going to dwindle even further.

Under the present system, the 1,300 professional jobs in the United Nations are allocated to countries on the basis of their share in financial support of the U.N. This gives the United States, far and away the heaviest contributor according to the formula now in operation, a preponderance of the jobs. This has naturally brought complaints, many of them from the Soviet Union.

The committee of experts has recommended that henceforth jobs be allocated mainly on the basis of population. This would greatly favor such populous but poor nations as India, even though some jobs would continue to be allocated on the basis of a nation's share of the U.N. assessments. If Communist China were ever admitted to the U.N. — and its eventual admission seems more and more likely as more nations balk at keeping the question off the agenda—it would automatically be assigned a large number of jobs under the proposed arrangement.

The danger signals, so far as the United States is concerned, are obvious. Less obvious, though perhaps no less important, is the possibility that there may be some advantages for the United States in having the U.N. jobs spread around. When other nations are more deeply involved in the workings of the U.N. machinery, they may be less inclined to drop monkey wrenches into it. Still, the conclusion is inescapable that if the new proposals are adopted the United States is bound to have less of a hand in the inner workings of the United Nations than it now has.

The head of the "American Republic Army," charged with conspiracy in the microwave tower bombings, says his outfit advocates political overthrow of the U. S. Apparently he figures politics should be explosive stuff.

To hear a lot of commencement speakers tell it, the graduates are all going to become the leaders of tomorrow. Which may result in a shortage of followers.

SAFETY AND SANITY

It wasn't too many years ago when fireworks were a real problem in this country. Kids were losing fingers, hands and eyes during the supposedly happy days of their summer vacations.

Rallying under the battle cry, "Have a safe and sane Fourth of July," parents, educators, civic leaders and elective officials finally curbed the fireworks problem.

But the need for a safe and sane Fourth has not diminished. Motorists are literally driving themselves to death over the long Fourth of July weekends, and drownings have surpassed traffic deaths in some states as the leading cause of death over the holiday period.

The National Safety Council, pinpointing these holiday accident problems, makes two suggestions which we think make a lot of sense.

One is pretty simple. Learn to swim. That means everybody learn to swim. Can you think of a better way to avoid drowning?

The second suggestion is to install and use seat belts. Seat belts may not prevent an auto accident, but they can be worth your life if you should have a collision.

Seat belts and swimming lessons—two very sane keys to Fourth of July safety.

Howard Pyle, NSC president, says these are ways we can "Free ourselves from the tyranny of accidents." This is a good thought for Independence Day.

Problem for psychologists: What makes a man groan about cutting the grass, but then fertilize it so he'll have more to cut before long?

AN ARGUMENT

The world is a-welter with great events and big men stalk the universe like fabled giants. But every once in a while, someone picks a private fight which in principle is as significant as the battles of the great. For when all is said and done, what concerns us most deeply is the freedom of man. Twice we have gone to war about that and while we have not altogether won our way, we also have not lost. We do survive in our peculiar manner and if some despair, there are enough who are hopeful.

This little private fight that I converse about herewith deals with a machine that is used instead of postage stamps. Alongside the stamped part, there can be an advertisement of sorts. The manufacturer of the machine does not sell this instrument but leases it; thus the proprietary interest remains with him, although it is difficult to see that he assumes any responsibility for what is said. Thus, when the advertisement is used to encourage the sale of government bonds, no one can sue the manufacturer of the machine if the bonds go down.

However, the Post Office does not like the impression that it endorses certain advertisements, or so the manufacturers believe.

Along comes a textile manufacturer in Tennessee who wants to convince the American people that this is a republic not a democracy. He wants that stamped on all envelopes with a slogan thereanent. Personally, I cannot get excited about slogans on envelopes because I never look at envelopes. However, if a free man wants to do it, why stop him? Suppose he wants to say, "Hip, hip, hooray!" What then?

The manufacturer, however, views the matter differently. He says:

"The objections from the public to editorial postmark ads stems almost entirely from the fact that a great many people are under the misapprehension that they have been printed, sponsored, or authorized by the Government. This is not a question of opinion, but an established fact. This misapprehension can never be wholly overcome as long as the Government itself uses its own postmarks over adhesive stamps almost constantly for editorial slogans and messages."

The theory of the writer of this statement is that the government can do no wrong but that the citizen must be careful. The textile manufacturer has a sense of humor and dislikes being involved in controversy. So he has ordered a plate to read:

"We pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands."

This cannot be controversial because it is recited by children in schools, by their mothers in women's clubs, by their fathers in service clubs. It is a slogan for universal application.

However, the stamping machine manufacturer got out of it by this paragraph:

"At the present time, the policy which we follow in the furnishing of the advertising plates is being reviewed and modified. Temporarily, therefore, we are only furnishing plates which have to do with a specific commercial product or service."

I wonder what would happen if someone wanted a plate reading, "Our Father, Who art in Heaven," or maybe the Preamble to the Constitution or a stanza of the Beatitudes. These can be very controversial subjects, particularly since the United States Supreme Court has ruled God out of Maryland which was founded so that men might worshop God in the Catholic fashion as Pennsylvania was founded to give the Quakers a place where they might keep their silences without their ears clipped off for heresy.

In a statement, the meter manufacturer says:

"As a matter of policy, the Post Office never uses its cancellations for political or controversial propaganda of any kind. Experience has shown that any ads or slogans of this nature are considered by the public to be highly improper for use with postmarks whether they be with meter stamps or in stamp cancellations."

It always astonishes me how various people know what ads or slogans the public likes or dislikes. That yardstick is hardly a measure of any kind, because the public does not speak up. If they did, it would be a sorry day for many. How many of the American people look at a slogan on an envelope and say:

"Forsooth, this is indeed controversial. Let us shoot the controverts."

More likely, one tears the envelope and throws it away, gazing upon contents thereof with hope or misery. How seriously can one take himself in these hot days!

Tracking Down Allergies Which Distress Children

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Some of the allergic disturbances of childhood are easily recognized. When the sensitizing substance (allergen) is something present only on special occasions, like strawberries or pollen, it's not too difficult to follow a clue. When the effects of the allergen are easily visible, like an attack of hives or an infantile eczema, the nature of the disturbance is strongly suggested by its character.

But when the sensitizing substance is just one of many ingredients of many basic foods acceptable to the child, the clue is more difficult to follow. Such is the situation that prevails in the case of allergic disturbances due to milk, eggs, chocolate and wheat, the most common of the food allergens.

And when these common food allergens produce signs that are vague, the problems of diagnosis and relief or cure are almost impossible of solution.

To illustrate these important points in child health, a group of specialists made a four-year study of food allergies in childhood. Almost without exception, the youngsters suffered ill-defined disturbances. These included easy fatigue, irritability, skin pallor, circles under the eyes, stuffy noses, rebellious behavior, unruliness, lack of interest in school work and in play, sleepiness, crying spells, frequent bellyaches or headaches, excessive perspiration and aches or pains in legs or back.

Parents were apt to report that the child "wasn't herself" or that he or she was "moody" so that they never knew what to expect from hour to hour or day to day.

Now in the case of sensitivity to milk, eggs, chocolate or wheat, it takes a Sherlock Holmes to locate the criminal. First of all, it's not easy to prepare a diet for a youngster and exclude the most suspect of the allergens. Secondly, it's equally difficult to police the child and make sure he doesn't sneak in a candy bar or an ice cream cone or some other goody that contains the suspected allergen.

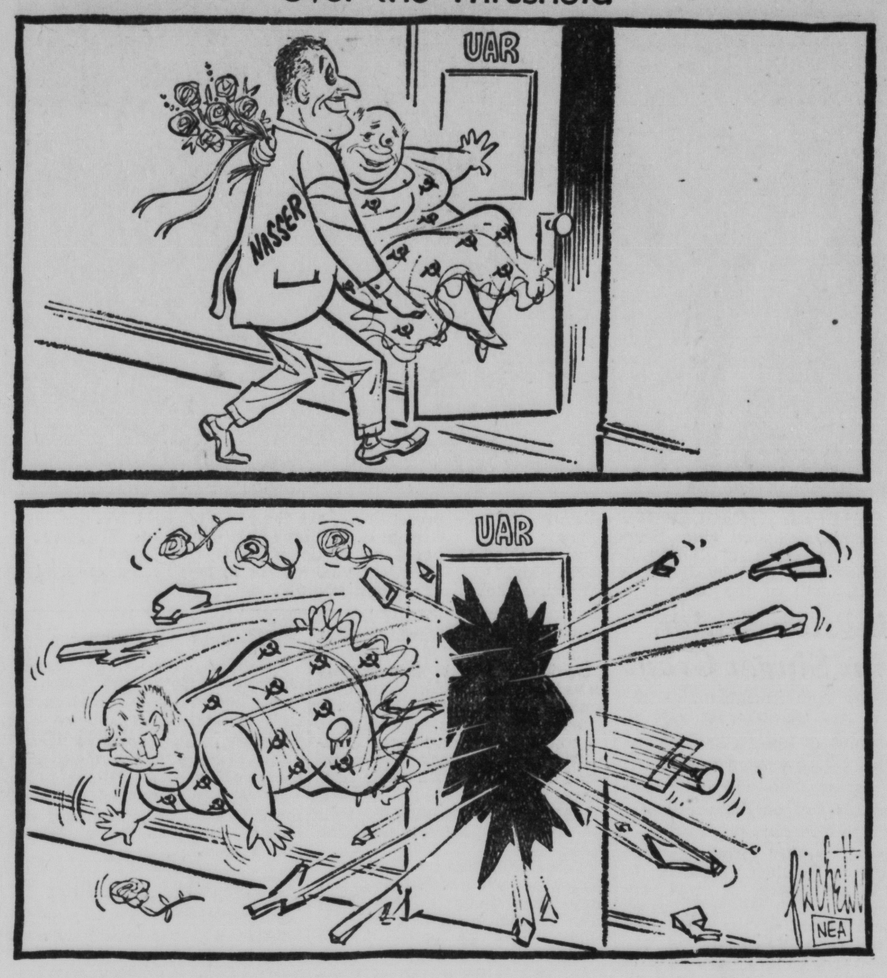

Nor does it do any good to blame the trouble on a lack of vitamins, emotional instability, anemia, parental neglect or juvenile delinquency.

What has to be done is the type of domestic detective work I've emphasized so very often. The intelligent and conscientious parent must keep a list of every morsel of food or drink that passes the child's lips and, besides the list, entries describing the youngster's reactions and responses. It's easiest to begin with chocolate, then eggs, then wheat, then milk.

When and if the elimination diet provides a definite clue, the next step is to add the suspected allergen so as to deliberately reproduce the distress. To make doubly sure, repeat both parts of the experiment at least twice.

That accomplished, treatment is a cinch. No vitamins, iron pills, psychotherapy, tranquilizers or pep-up pills. Just omission of the proved allergen. And, if that's successful, outside observers such as the child's teacher may be led to remark, "Why, I don't know what's come over him. He just doesn't seem like the same child."

Over the Threshold

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The American people may be well advised not to kid themselves that the Berlin situation can be handled without risk of war. But some questions are being raised here on whether Russian Chairman Nikita Khrushchev means everything he says about it.

Analysis of the Khrushchev memorandum reveals a few fuzzzy areas. It is not considered an ultimatum. It was not handed to President Kennedy personally. A Russian aide gave it to an American aide at the end of the talks in the Russian Embassy in Vienna on Sunday, June 4.

THE MEMORANDUM ITSELF DOES NOT SAY the German problem must be settled within six months. But Khrushchev said this personally to Kennedy and repeated it in his broadcast to the Russian people after he returned to Moscow.

In section three of Khrushchev's memo he says, ". . . the Soviet government advocates the immediate conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany." In section six he says, "The Soviet government proposes that a peace conference be called without delay." Then he proposes an interim solution for a definite time.

This would allow for peace talks between East and West Germany. The memo says, "The Soviet government regards a period of not exceeding six months as adequate for such talks."

A PREVAILING OPINION IN WASHINGTON is that talks between East and West Germany would be impossible to arrange and would settle nothing if they could be arranged, for the two governments have no common political beliefs.

Khrushchev therefore specifies that if the Democratic and Communist republics cannot agree, ". . . measures will be taken for the conclusion of a peace treaty with both German states or with one of them, at the discretion of the countries concerned."

This is taken to mean that Russia would make a separate peace treaty with Communist Germany, along the lines Khrushchev has outlined since a speech he made at the Polish Embassy in Moscow, Oct. 10, 1958.

He said then that six months was ample time to get going. But he did not mention his plan to make Berlin a free city. He added that in a speech delivered later.

When Khrushchev first made this suggestion, it is now believed that he thought the United States, Britain and France would accept his plan as a face-saving way to get their troops out of Berlin without a military defeat.

KHRUSHCHEV WAS apparently taken aback by Western opposition to this idea. He did not realize the enormous symbolism of Berlin to the West. He therefore babied his plan along for 2½ years. The question is why he chose this moment for a showdown, completing a cycle by returning to the original six-months' time limit.

The answer to this question is still speculative. For no one really knows, not even the experts.

One theory is that the Russians now believe that political as well as military strength is shifting in their favor. This would give them a balance of power and enable them to force a major humiliation on the West over Berlin.

Another theory is that Khrushchev may be doing this as a test, believing that the United States will not fight. Khrushchev himself is apparently ready to risk a world war over Berlin. His expressions of intent must be taken seriously.

SO, WITHOUT PROVOKING a war, the problem of the U. S. and its allied powers is to convince the world they are in Berlin by right and will stay there until the prospects for a unified free German people can be realized, fighting to maintain these conditions if necessary.

At any rate, the world seems headed for the greatest confrontation at the brink since the end of World War 2.

Freedom Riders Seen Echo Of 'Courts Are Too Slow'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Time was when public opinion in America decried the "lynching" of Negroes and denounced those white mobsters who said, "the courts are too slow" and "we can't wait for the courts—he's guilty, anyhow."

In recent weeks dozens of "Freedom Riders" have been going to Alabama and Mississippi for the express purpose of conducting so-called "non-violent" demonstrations that have frequently produced violence. The cry of the demonstrators is: "We have waited long enough for the courts to act."

As a result of these regrettable activities, the United States Information Agency has just reported to the Education and Labor Committee of the House of Representatives at a hearing in New York that reaction to the violence in Alabama was so sharp abroad that it outweighed attempts by 'well-informed journalists" to put the events into perspective.

'Bad Practice'

The information agency said that the "world-wide headlines and news stories presented a stark picture," but the "Voice of America" broadcasts "have resulted in a more perceptive reaction to the deplorable recent episodes than was true a few years ago—say at the time when Little Rock was in the headlines."

Perhaps the most significant comment was transmitted to the hearing by Edward R. Murrow, head of the U.S.I.A., who declared: "We cannot make good news out of bad practice."

"It is "bad practice," of course, when the Republican administration sends in Federal troops or the Democratic administration sends in Federal marshals to do that which the states primarily are empowered to do by the Federal Constitution — namely, to handle police cases inside a state. The moment the Federal authorities assume the right arbitrarily to pass judgment on the efficiency of local government—something not authorized by the Federal Constitution—it becomes a news story of world-wide importance.

For, in effect, it is a confession that Federal court procedures are considered too slow to satisfy the mob spirit. Racial disturbances have gone on for years in different parts of the country—including the north—but unless the President of the United States or the Attorney General by sensational intervention gives these disturbances international news value, many of the incidents do not even make the front pages at home.

Discord Elsewhere

The United States Information Agency's latest report assesses the Alabama and Mississippi incidents "in terms of their impact on the American image abroad." But who and what makes the "American image"? How can any fair assessment be made by peoples in those countries which are themselves permitting riot tactics? The Murrow report gives a summary of reactions in different areas of the world—Africa, the Far East, Western Europe and Latin America, as well as in the Soviet Union and Communist China. But in almost every territory mentioned it would appear that there are "people in glass houses throwing stones."

For in Africa scarcely a week passes without riots or disorders, many of them resulting in loss of life in the newly created states.

Who can serve as critic in France where over the week end the Premier had to resort to nation-wide radio to stem the mounting anger of French peasants who, as one dispatch puts it, "are blocking roads and storming official buildings to call attention to the sorry state of French argiculture"?

In Great Britian, there are demands in parliament for a quota on Negro immigrants — a form of segregation.

In Latin America, demonstrations have occurred in the last few days against an official representative of the United States government — Adlai Stevenson, Ambassador to the United Nations. He says the demonstrations against him were Communist-inspired.

Few Immune

Few countries today are immune from artificially contrived demonstrations which are deliberately initiated to stir up trouble, and perhaps these hurt a nation's "image" before the world.

It is, to be sure, hard to offset the effect abroad of dispatches that exaggerate troubles inside the United States, but it should not be as difficult as the U. S. Information Agency claims it is to give the true story of what the "Freedom Riders" did—with or without the encouragement of the Kennedy administration —to stir up friction and bad feeling that inevitably resulted in violence.

The Federal courts could have dealt with the problem of waiting-room "integration," and the Interstate Commerce Commission could long ago have given them the legal basis. But the originators of the "Freedom Rides" thought they could get better publicity by demonstrations, persumably because they felt that "the courts are too slow."

Needed at Home

It is here at home that an information agency effort is needed, especially among those impassioned individual who think the answer to every ill is an executive order by the President," to be issued without waiting for the courts.

For just a few days ago the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro leader who has been in the forefront of the so-called "non-violence" movement in the South, declared that he intends to demand of the President that he put an end, by executive order, to segregation throughout the United States. He says this is needed to prevent Negroes' bitterness from rising to "an explosive point." Apparently he doesn't want to wait for the "slow processes of the courts."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Certain foods and aromas bring back pleasant memories to me. I remember when my father used to take me to Kingston Point Park during the hot summer days, I used to beg for red birch beer soda. It was a nickle in these days. I also wanted nickle Cracker-Jacks. Both of these items my father had in the store, but only down at Kingston Point did I have a desire for them.

When we were down at 46 Broadway, Bessie Avenet had a grocery store at 57 Broadway. It was a very special grocery, for she used to make many of the food items herself, or cut them in small portions. In this very hot weather, she would have 2-cent watermelon slices, icy cold, and so delicious. Someone would walk down the street eating one, and then all the neighbors would run over for them. I remember my father used to send me over for two slices. Mrs. Avenet must have known how to buy good sweet, juicy watermelons, for I seem to remember it with pleasure, although so long ago.

She made her own pickles, relishes, and had various smoked and pickled fish, that she was known for. Those were the days before frozen foods, and one ate foods in season. I remember, that whatever you bought in Bessie Avenet's was good.

Mrs. Barney Avenet, was a widow with two daughters, Ruthie and Sadye, with whom I used to play jacks on their blue stone steps. Not long ago, Ruth visited here, with her son, then just graduated from law school. He had the same pleasant smiling personality and dark eyes, of his mother and grandmother. They are relatives of Hilly Goldman, owner of Thieves Market on Route 9W.

Broadway in Rondout was a special part of town for me, and I guess for many others who visit here once in a while and ask about everything. They may modernize it, but it takes many years to give it character and personality. There was S. E. Eighmey's dry goods store, corner Mill Street and Broadway, where you could buy many imported items besides the ones made in this country. They trimmed hats for you, with flowers or ribbons you could pick out. You could buy all sorts of ribbons, buttons, and other notions, and each saleslady took a sympathetic interest in the customer's problem.

I see at the time, the Post Office was at 31 Broadway. Joseph Block had their dry goods store at 36 Broadway. Remember Dr. Arthur M. and C. B. Cragin, father and son dentists, in the Max Greenwald store building at 39 Broadway, corner Abeel Street. Dr. Samuel Stern, the optician was across the street at 42 Broadway. Michael J. Dippold had their place at 44 Broadway, we were next door. Then came Joe McTague's candy and tobacco store.

In those days, Edward Weber family had a big butcher shop across the street, corner Broadway and Abeel Street. They sold to all estates and private families in this section. They had the finest cuts of meat, and I remember when they received ice for their mammoth ice-box, thousands of pounds came down a big chute nearly all day.

I wonder how many remember Casper Michel's saloon, his barber shop, and also Michel's Hall at 53 Broadway. Many social events took place in Michel's hall. A. M. Safran's clothing and loan shop at 58 Broadway with its antique jewelry, guns, watches always interested us.

While associated with the radio industry, he created such famous shows as Showboat with Lanny Ross; Town Hall Tonight with Fred Allen; Palmolive Beauty Box; Atwater Kent Hour and many others.

He is married to the former Betty Ghear, a beauty contest winner and Earl Carroll Vanities star who won the title of Miss Brooklyn in 1939. They have two children, Sally and Bruce.

EDMUND RUFFNER

Entries will be judged on the basis of beauty, poise and personality and must be residents of the Town of Rosendale, single and between 16 and 24 years of age. The winner will receive a trophy and the honor of serving as Miss Rosendale at the Rosendale Rally Days to be held during July 20-23.

Purchase of a ticket entitles one to observe the contest as well as swim for the day.

Health for All

Leave 'Em Alone

Whatever happened to the beauty spot? Time was, that women without a dark mole or two, painted them on. Now you don't see artificial moles. And people with natural ones have become unduly worried about them. There's a fear they may become cancerous.

Mostly a mole should be left alone. It should be removed only if it is very unsightly or if it is in a spot where it is constantly irritated. However, if a mole suddenly starts to spread, becomes darker, or gets lumpy, then you should let your doctor have a look at it. It may have become that one in a million.

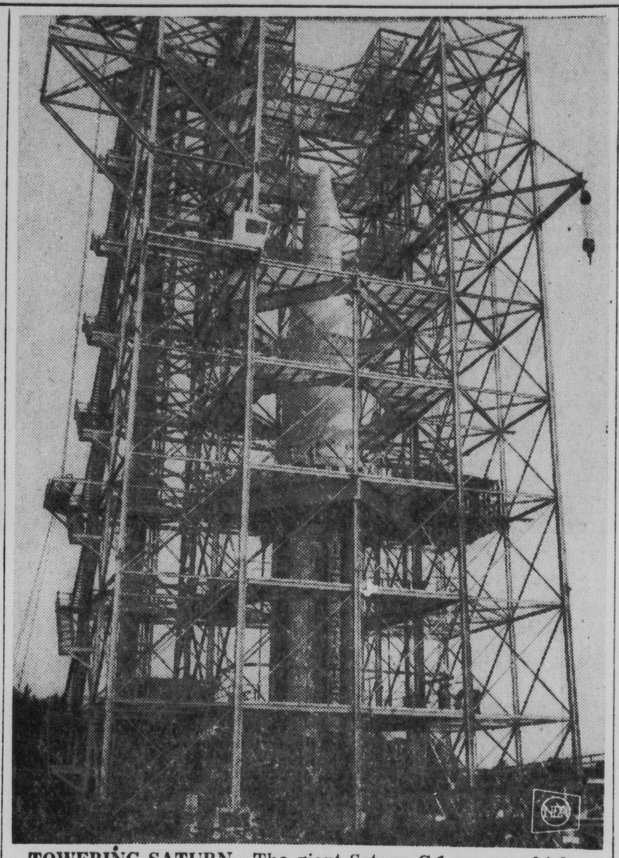

Moles are easily removed and they don't recur. Don't worry unduly about a mole, but don't take any chances either.

NEW YORK (AP) — Makers of women's suits approve wholeheartedly of the First Lady. She is one—if only one—of the reasons they see a revival this year in the popularity of the garments which had their last big vogue in 1952-54.

The President's wife frequently is photographed wearing a suit—and many women have noted it, sales personnel say. Men probably have noted it, too, and if they haven't given it a second thought they may when the first of the month bills come in this fall.

Suits to Take Over

Garment makers are always a confident lot when it comes to sales predictions. But backing them up are a number of retailers who report suit buying is up by 5 to 20 per cent. And some fashion experts agree that suits will have a bigger share of ladies' wardrobes this fall and next spring.

New York's garment district reports sadly than since 1954 a new generation has come along with a deplorably stunted interest in suits.

Was it because suits are long lasting and after the buying splurge in the early 50's closets seemed crowded with these basic garments? Was it the flight to the suburbs with emphasis on casual living? Was it the late 50's rush to spend for homes, autos and appliances that left little over for suits?

Well, the suit makers say, hopefully, that the end of the late, mild recession has coincided with the end of holding back on the buying of suits.

Have Disposable Income

More women now have the disposable income needed for suit purchases. Also many families now have paid for their major appliances and can upgrade their clothing budgets.

There's a growing population of college girls, young matrons and career women, all classed by garment makers as prime prospects for suits. The industry is especially aiming at the younger girls who have jobs now and can afford suits.

The Chicago Cloak & Suit manufacturers group says it is bullish about suit prospects for the first time in several years. The Chicago Fashion Guild says optimism is fed by the upward trend of the economy as well as by good sales results with store buyers.

Suit Sales Ahead

The Federal Reserve report on department store sales shows suit sales in March ahead in all areas, with New York and Richmond districts having the biggest gains.

Individual stores report sales gains tallied in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Chicago, Chattanooga and New York.

A New York fashion authority gives credit to what she calls the young look, citing the closer body fit and longer jacket. She terms the range of colors and of fabric weights as the best in a decade.

Alvin Handmacher, president of Handmacher Vogel, agrees that an important boost to the business is being given by the variety available this year—velvet suits, cotton suits, knit suits, the soft look, the tailored look, the fur trimmed.

See 20 PC Rise

He also holds that many suburbanites are returning to big cities, where the casual look isn't the vogue. And the suburbs are getting citified, too.

David Zelinka of Zelinka Matlick thinks retail sales should rise 20 per cent this fall with the right retail promotion.

Archie Davidow of Davidow Suits Inc. says sales are running five per cent ahead of last year and the outlook is good.

Burt Kwait, divisional manager of Felix Lilienthal, says the budget coat and suit market is bullish. He cites the flare silhouette in magenta, harvest gold, emerald green, turquoise, wild rice and Baltic blue.

But don't underestimate the news photographer.

"Whatever your politics," says Handmacher, "you will have to admit that Mrs. Kennedy has helped increase the American woman's desire to dress right and to wear suits. Her typical afternoon garb is the suit. This has given terrific impetus to suit demand."

Play Can Lose, But Can't Win

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The "nothing play" is a play that can lose, but can't win. It is the exact opposite of the "100 per cent play" that can win but can't lose.

West leads three rounds of hearts against South's four spade contract. South ruffs the third lead and if he wants to try a nothing play he simply runs off four trump leads and hopes that the clubs will break or that whichever opponent holds four clubs will have discarded one.

This isn't a real nothing play because it can work; clubs have been known to break 3-3. Also, there is no 100 per cent play at South's disposal, but he has a much better play than the one just mentioned.

South should draw two rounds of trumps and then lead out his ace, king and queen of clubs. The way the cards lie, East who holds four clubs and three trumps will be unable to keep South from ruffing out his last club and making his contract.

If the clubs happened to break 3-3, South would simply pull the last trump. If the man with two trumps held the four clubs South would not have been able to make his contract on any line of play.

Support Pledged

mer Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a potential bidder for the 1964 party prize.

To Take More Doing

In recent speeches Nixon has contended that the Kennedy administration has tended to "talk big and act timidly." Goldwater has said that it will "take a lot more doing than is being done" to win the cold war.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, California Democrat, said he believes the people are supporting Kennedy in the international field despite the Cuban invasion fiasco and the difficulties over Laos. He said he doesn't think this is the time for political criticism in that area.

Fear Public Not Awake

Brown and Gov. Steve McNichols of Colorado, the conference chairman, said in separate interviews, however, they fear the public is not sufficiently awake to the danger that faces the country if Soviet Premier Khrushchev should decide to force a Berlin showdown.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, scheduled for a major speech at the annual state dinner Tuesday night, has been emphasizing the seriousness of the international situation.

Johnson arrived on the scene Sunday night to take the place of President Kennedy, who canceled out of his scheduled appearance before the governors last week.

Police Hunt

throat but death was ruled due to drowning.

Police had only descriptions of a woman provided by the neighbor and two five-year-old youngsters left tied beside railroad tracks recently in similar cases.

One of the youngsters, Richard Edgington, told police a woman lured him from playmates with candy Thursday and took him for a walk through the nearby city zoo before tying him up.

At one point, the youngster said, the woman threatened to drown him.

Police said she is apparently about 35.

When Andrew's mother learned that her son was dead she cried repeately:

"Who killed my baby? Who killed my baby?"

Later she thanked police and volunteer searchers.

Bumper Crop of Babies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation continues to have a bumper crop of babies.

More were born during the first four months of 1961 than ever before during the comparable period, the Public Health Service estimated today.

The total reached an estimated 1,382,000 registered births during the four months. The old record was 1,362,000 in 1959. Last year there was a drop to 1,340,000.

President Invokes Taft-Hartley Act

the unions from continuing the strike.

Restrainer Comes First

Under the Taft-Hartley Act, the 80-day cooling-off period does not begin to run until a restraining order is actually issued.

Kennedy said in his statement that he favored more flexible procedures for dealing with labor disputes such as the maritime strike.

He said Goldberg had sought, in the course of this dispute, to develop such procedures, but has been unable to obtain the consent of all parties. Goldberg had suggested the creation of a commission to study the dispute and make recommendations, rather than have it go through Taft-Hartley procedures.

Modifications Needed

Kennedy said the dispute "Presents new evidence of the imperative need for modifications in the present law."

The strike, now in its eleventh day, involves virtually all American shipping companies and 70,000 men.

The striking unions are the National Maritime Union, Seafarers International Union, National Marine Engineers, International Organizations of Masters, Mates and Pilots, the American Radio association, the Radio Officers Union, and the Staff Officers Association.

150 Ships Idled

An estimated 150 ships, including passenger liners, are tied up on the East, Gulf and West coasts. Strike losses have run to many millions of dollars a day and from Hawaii have come reports of dwindling food supplies and a piling up of exports.

Even if Kennedy decides to invoke the Taft-Hartley emergency provisions it would take a week or so before a strike-ending court injunction could be obtained.

In this period, a fact-finding panel appointed by Kennedy would review the dispute quickly and submit a report without recommendations.

Once this report is at the White House, Kennedy could tell the Justice Department to go after an injunction which would force the strikers back to work. The court order directs bargaining to resume, aided by the Federal Mediation Service, during the 80-day cooling off period.

Although Goldberg, former counsel for the Steelworkers Union, is not sympathetic to use of Taft-Hartley, he said over the weekend the law will be enforced if national health or safety is endangered.

'Plain Duty,' Goldberg

"Whether we like it or not this is our plain duty," Goldberg said.

Kennedy himself voted against the law while in Congress.

When former President Dwight D. Eisenhower used Taft-Hartley in the 1959 steel strike, Kennedy called use of the law "the most one-sided, unfortunate and unfair action in this administration's history."

Joseph Curran, head of the National Maritime Union, one of the six unions on strike, said Saturday that a Taft-Hartley injunction might only lead to a worse strike after the 80-day period.

Negotiations between the unions and the American Merchant Marine Institute, representing the ship owners, have been in a stalemate. The key issue in the strike is a union demand for bargaining rights among crews of American-owned ships flying foreign flags.

8 Blimps Done

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy handed down today a death sentence for its blimp fleet.

It announced that eight of its 10 active airships would be deflated and placed in storage by Nov. 30. The two others will be kept in service until a year from now for research and development work.

The decision was made because of a shortage of funds and personnel "combined with the increasing capability of helicopters and fixed-wing aircraft to perform all necessary anti-submarine and airborne early warning functions," the announcement said.

Mailman's Small Sum Best in High Priced Issue

Q) "I am a 32-year-old letter carrier with $300 to invest. I can also from time to time raise additional sums to build a portfolio over the years. I want to start with either Sears, Roebuck or lower-priced Montgomery Ward, and later work into other quality situations. Which of these two stocks would be better for my first growth purchase?" — R. J.

A) This is a question where the obvious answer is also the correct answer. There is no doubt in my mind that Sears, Roebuck (NYSE) would be a much stronger holding for you.

Sears is a top quality stock, representing an aggressively managed company with an expanding credit business and a valuable insurance subsidiary. The shares have more than tripled in price over the last decade and recently sold at record levels. Continued growth seems assured.

Montgomery Ward (NYSE), on the other hand, has been a disappointing stock for years. Earnings have been falling almost without letup since 1950, and last August the dividend was trimmed to 25 cents quarterly. Some recovery may develop when the company's expansion and promotion programs are further along, but I would avoid the stock for the present.

For later additions to your investment program, I suggest you consider such strong issues as General Foods (NYSE), Winn-Dixie (NYSE) and Georgia Pacific (NYSE).

Q) "I received some Laclede Gas stock from an estate, but I live too far away to know anything about the company first-hand. Is this a worthwhile holding?"—H. M.

A) "Laclede Gas (NYSE) supplies natural gas in the St. Louis area — one of the largest and most diversified manufacturing centers in the country. Growth of the company has been good, and the shares have acted well. Periodic dividend increases can be expected. I advise you to hold your shares for income plus gradual appreciation.

Po'keepsie Man Is Held on Charge Of Having Pistol

Local police Saturday arrested Ben Taylor, 23, of 185 Union Street, Poughkeepsie, for alleged illegal possession of a .32 calibre pistol, which under reported circumstances is listed as a dangerous weapon.

It is charged that the pistol was found in a 1955 Cadillac car driven by Taylor. Police said he had driven a woman to Kingston for treatment of an eye injury, and the car was parked near the hospital when the pistol was found.

A state police investigation of a reported altercation in the southern part of the county led to discovery of the pistol, after police were notified that Taylor possessed one. The arrest was by Detective Albert Hutton.

City Court hearing today was put over to Tuesday morning to permit time for further investigation of the charge. Bail, fixed at $1,000, was not immediately posted.

Business Good

April and May but would have been better with improved weather, they said.

In Rochester unemployment rolls list 5,830 as of this month, compared with 6,831 in the corresponding period last year. Both Rochester Products and Delco Divisions of General Motors Corp. are recalling many of the workers laid off since last fall. Businessmen are optimistic.

Perhaps the business picture in New York State was best described by an executive vice president of the Jamestown Chamber of Commerce, when he said:

"I had coffee with a druggist, a hardware merchant, a furniture buyer, and a barber. They all said business was good and seems to be getting better. But individual replies vary. Sometimes it all seems to be getting better. But individual replies vary. Sometimes it all seems as muddy as the coffee we were drinking."

new law can take away your savings account unless...

This is the law: Any savings account that hasn't had a deposit, withdrawal or interest posted for 10 years will be declared "abandoned property." And, by November 10th, it must be turned over to the State of New York.

This is all you do: If you or your children have a "forgotten" account, just bring in your passbook or mail it to your bank right away! Your interest dividends will be brought up to date and your money will be safe.

P.S. The law applies to accounts in any kind of bank or savings institution. But think how rich you'll feel if you discover yours is in a Savings Bank. Because Savings Banks pay the highest interest dividends of any bank in the state!

Sees U. S. Railroads Dying Under Taxes, Regulations

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—An Eastern railroad official warned today that the nation's railroads were faced with death or nationalization unless the government ended its discriminative public transportation policies.

David I. Mackie, chairman of the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference, called for a "Magna Carta" for railroads, which would grant them "greater equality of competitive opportunity" and free them from "destructive taxation" and "stifling regulation."

He said a "helter-skelter" federal transportation program was responsible for decline of the railroads, and long-range governmental planning was needed.

Mackie made his observations in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual meeting here of the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors. The two-day meeting was attended by approximately 50 editors.

Must See Ahead

He called "socialization" of the railroads a "potential dilemma," which could be averted through "farsightedness."

Socialization has been a term that railroad officials have avoided using, even in making the direst predictions on the future of the railroads.

The federal government, he said, has expended through various agencies $181 billion for construction, operation and maintenance of air, highway and waterway transportation facilities without considering the overall transportation problem, nor considering the affects on railroads.

"It is necessary," he said, "that we immediately create governmental machinery capable of long-range planning, evaluation of need for proposed new transport facilities, fixation of appropriate and equitable user charges and appraisal of impact upon affected modes of transportation."

Too Much Regulation

Railroads, Mackie said, cannot compete equally with other modes of transportation because it is fully regulated by the government, while two-thirds of highway and nine-tenths of inland waterway freight movements are free of regulation.

Loopholes in federal regulations had increased the competitive disparity, he said.

Also included in today's program at the meeting was a panel discussion on newspaper public relations. The panel members included Vincent S. Jones, executive editor of Gannett Newspapers; Oxie Reichler, editor of the Yonkers Herald-Statesman; J. Leonard Gorman, editor of the Syracuse Post-Standard; and Dean Wesley C. Clark of the Syracuse University School of Journalism.

2 Truck Drivers Held for Jury in Area Girl's Death

NEWTON, N.J. (AP)—Two men charged with manslaughter in the May 18th death of a Port Jervis, N.Y. teen-age girl are being held for grand jury action.

Robert H. Gibbs, 21, and David R. Power, 25, both truck drivers, will go before the Sussex County grand jury this Tuesday for the death of Miss Joan Ann Tufano. They waived examination at arraignment Friday.

Miss Tufano was found dead May 18, lying along Route 206 near Hainesville, N.J. Police reported she died of a fractured skull.

The two men, arrested the same afternoon, claimed the girl fell from a moving truck cab by accident when she attempted to change seating positions in the pick-up truck.

The men said the trio had been drinking together and that they became frightened and fled from the scene.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster, using their own imaginative material, are a superior comedy team. But, unless they were satirizing TV, they would never have written for themselves the tired trivia that constituted the first episode of their new series.

"Holiday Lodge," which premiered on CBS Sunday night as Jack Benny's summer replacement, has the Canadian comics at a plush lake resort.

The plot was that old mistaken-identity device—a convention of morticians pretending to be florists. When they arrive at Holiday Lodge, acting exactly like TV's idea of the heads of a crime syndicate, our heroes believe it is a convention of gangsters.

Well, you can imagine the fun and puns in that situation. Anyway, the laugh track accompanying the picture was one long loud howl.

I'll bet some of the mail CBS gets from outraged funeral directors will be more entertaining than the first show.

After all of David Susskind's criticism of TV during his testimony the Federal Communications Commission hearing last week, it will be interesting to see how much business—if any—his independent packaging agency, Talent Associates, is able to line up for the three major networks next season.

Susskind has made a hobby of sounding off about the low state of TV programming over the years, but he has never had such a good forum before. He made the most of it.

Actually, Susskind has not had a particularly successful season this year. His "Family Classics" series, which started out as two-part shows on successive nights, dwindled down to one-hour shows. "'Way out," the off-beat series launched recently, will not last the summer, and NBC is quietly stewing about his forthcoming "Great Ghost Story" summer series, due to start early next month, but still very much in the planning stage.

Recommended tonight: "Peter Gunn," ABC, 10:30-11 (EDT) — singer Jane Morgan makes her debut on the show as a dramatic actress.

BOND BARGAINS

This article is an open letter to many readers of this column who, recognizing the high prices of "'blue chip" common stocks, have asked for a list of prime bonds selling at attractive discounts from face value. The obligations mentioned here are those of five top-notch corporations whose credit rating is high.

The enterprises are: American Telephone and Telegraph, Consolidated Edison, New York Telephone, Standard Oil of New Jersey and United States Steel. These leading corporations can borrow money as cheaply as any representative business in America.

In 1945, American Telephone offered at 100 a 35-year maturity 2¾ per cent bond. Conservative investors quickly bought the issue. Today this bond that cost 100 cents on the dollar 16 years ago can be bought for 78 cents on the dollar. It is a very high-grade obligation, instantly marketable, and the yield, considering its quality, is splendid.

In 1947, Consolidated Edison, furnishing light, heat and power to New York City, offered a 25-year 3 per cent bond at 100. Just now this bond can be bought for about 89—$890 for a $1,000 obligation.

In 1948, New York Telephone Company brought out a 3 per cent bond due in 1981 at 100. Today this high-grade obligation can be purchased at a large discount from its face value. It is selling for about 81 — down 19 points from its original price.

In 1946, Standard Oil of New Jersey—the largest oil enterprise in the world—offered a 2⅞ per cent bond at 98. Today it can be bought for 84. Its quality is very high.

In 1958, United States Steel Corporation—the world's leading industrial enterprise — brought out a 4 per cent bond due in 25 years (1983) at $100½. A thousand dollar obligation cost more than $1,000. Today this same bond can be bought for about $940.

Now, all of those dollar obligations are selling at discounts from face value of from 6 to 22 points—that means from $60 to $220 on each $1,000 obligation. They were sold to the public at a time when basic interest rates were lower. If held to maturity, they would show a profit to their holders.

And if the Federal Reserve Board in Washington should institute lower interest rates soon, all of these bonds would advance in price.

For stock speculators taking profits in ths market, these bonds are excellent vehicles of investment. For those persons with debts due in the future—like mortgages on houses—they should be accumulated.

For insurance-policy holders with large capital gains in stocks, these fixed-dollar-value obligations will guarantee premium payments over a period of years while the insurance contracts are in force.

Buy good bonds when they are bargains.

(Q) "I have a $10,000 profit in 200 U. S. Steel common. Should I take it, considering my financial position?"

C.F.

(A) Yes. Buy $10,000 face value of U. S. Steel 4 per cent bonds and with the $400 interest you will get, buy an insurance contract.

Pig Goes to Pokey

HILLIARD, Ohio (AP)—Police Chief Louis Riffle found a pig in the pokey, but he didn't buy it. Riffle reported finding the "middle-aged pig" in the village's one-cell jail when he opened his office. He learned volunteer firemen had put it there after discovering it running loose in front of the fire station. Mayor Gaymon Wright had the pig taken to a nearby farm and Chief Riffle had his jail deodorized.

Would Make Commitments Voluntary

Psychiatrist Against Mental Hospital Use for Criminals

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Anyone who commits a crime should be locked up in a penal institution, not a mental hospital, a controversial psychiatry professor contends.

"Mental hospitals often function as a penal institution in disguise," Dr. Thomas S. Szasz said.

Would Make It Voluntary

He advocates that commitments to all mental hospitals be put on a voluntary basis because more people will accept help if it is offered voluntarily.

He also urges that criminal features at mental hospitals — such as locked doors, fingerprinting and forced treatment—should be abolished.

Mental troubles, he said, are not illnesses, like ulcers and common colds. He said:

"If we call a person sick, who has nothing physically wrong with him, and then treat him as if he were physically ill, then that's the kind of role the people will play, like an actor or actress.

Believes All Responsible

"No one's life is free from anxieties, conflicts and tensions. Yet I believe everyone is responsible, even to committing murder.

"I do not believe that so-called mentally ill people are not responsible for what they do."

Szasz, 41, came to the United States from his native Hungary when he was 18. He expounds his views in a book, "the Myth of Mental Illness."

Szasz is a professor of psychiatry at the Upstate Medical Center at Syracuse University of the State University.

In an interview, Szasz noted that the National Health Education Committee listed nearly 18 million Americans as mentally ill, "more so-called mentally ill people than people with heart disease, cancer and arthritis. But who says so? How do you know?"

"All a psychiatrist has to do is say someone is 'sick' and everybody tends to believe it," he said. "But sick according to whom? What's normal?"

A Lot Debatable

In acknowledging criticism of his views by fellow psychiatrists, Szasz said:

"There is a lack of agreement in psychiatry about almost anything. Theories contradict each other, therapies differ, results are debated."

Szasz said that when a person is committed to a mental institution, his civil liberties should be guaranteed. He should have the right to make telephone calls, write letters and refuse treatments, such as electric shock and tranquilizers.

Szasz also urged an easing of the committment laws, particularly involving the hospitalization of drug addicts.

ROAD SAFETY

This time of year calls for some extra attention to the importance of road safety. More and more cars take to the highways now for a special holiday or a planned vacation. All too often, the journey ends in unforseen tragedy. The cause can be laid to more than one reason. Why not do your part. Drive carefully at all times, and remember to be courteous and cautious with both pedestrians and the other drivers.

Highway safety is everybody's job. Insurance is our business and we are in a position to help with your problems. Allan L. Hanstein, Inc., 41 Pearl Street, Kingston. FEderal 1-3864.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Infantile Envy Is Foe Of Warm Family Unity

Mr. R is very fond of accusing his wife of "spoiling" their children.

If she's altering a dress for their daughter, he'll shake his head in disapproval and later, in the privacy of their bedroom, say:

"What thanks will you get? None. Amy will wear that dress—and never give a thought to all the work you put into it to make it fit her."

If Mrs. R. gives half a pie to her married son to take home, he'll say, "Why can't Al's wife do his cooking for him?"

On holidays when Mrs. R cooks a big family dinner, he'll grumble to his children about how mama's always "doing for others" — and speak pityingly of her martyrdom in that "hot kitchen."

For Mr. R cannot ask Mrs. R to do anything for him. Rather than ask her to mend a shirt, he will wear it with a tear in it. He will refuse a serving of bakery cake rather than say, "I like the homemade kind and wish you'd make one." However, he does not put up with these deprivations in a good spirit but will wear the torn shirt and shove away the cake with a nervous irritation that bewildered his wife and alienates his children.

Mr. R's inability to ask Mrs. R to do anything for him derives from his secret conviction that she should know what he wants without being told. As a result, he lives in perpetual jealousy of the services she renders their children and expresses his envy by accusing her of "spoiling" them.

This is a self-impairing conviction for an adult to hold and is appropriate only for babies who have not developed the power of speech.

Yet many among us claim this infantile privilege.

We'll resent the graduation watch our husband has bought for our daughter because we feel he should know that we want a new watch, too. We'll resent our wife's inviting a son's playmate to lunch because she hasn't suggested entertaining our mother and sister for several months. Like the small child who expects mommy to anticipate all his wishes, we will feel abused when our marriage partner fails to anticipate them and gives to the children what we think he should know we want for ourselves.

Like Mr. R, we think our marriage partner should divine our wishes for new watches, movie excursions, increases in housekeeping money as readily as mommy used to know when we wanted a new pair of shoes.

Saugerties Boy Struck by Auto

A five-year-old Saugerties boy on his way to a Little League game was injured Saturday afternoon when struck by a car as he crossed Washington Avenue from behind a parked vehicle, Saugerties Village police reported.

Joseph Mosher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mosher of Finger Street was taken to Kingston Hospital by H & S ambulance, treated, X-rayed and released.

Police Chief Arthur W. Richter said the boy suffered abrasions of the right arm. Dr. Richard Wenger, called to the scene had the boy dispatched to the hospital for X-rays.

The driver of the car, Mrs. Edith Sperl of 83 Livingston Street was proceeding south on Washington Avenue when the five-year-old ran from behind a parked vehicle directly in the path of the Sperl car and was knocked to the pavement, police said.

Mrs. Mosher said her son was feeling much better at his home today. She said he was going to see a Little League game with some older boys and became separated from the group.

The mishap occurred at 12:45 p. m.

Ike, Nixon Will Talk Politics, World Problems

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon meet tonight for the first time since leaving office to help Pennsylvania Republicans kick off a campaign to regain the governorship and a Senate seat.

While the $100-a-plate fund-raising buffet dinner is billed as a testimonial to the two men, it will give Nixon a chance to confer with Eisenhower on Republican politics and world problems.

Nixon is expected to deliver a 30-minute speech, touching on party organization and rebuilding GOP strength in the big cities.

Eisenhower is scheduled to make only brief remarks. But his appearance will give George I. Bloom, Pennsylvania state Republican chairman, a chance to find out for certain whether, as speculation has it, Eisenhower might be interested in running next year for the Senate seat now held by Democrat Joseph S. Clark. David L. Lawrence, also a Democrat, now holds the governorship. His term expires next year and he cannot seek reelection under Pennsylvania law.

126,685 More Cars Registered Than During Year 1960

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Motor vehicle registrations during the first quarter of the year surpassed by 126,685 the 1960 total.

During the three months ended March 31, a total of 4,685,874 vehicles were registered in the state. In 1960, registration certificates were issued for 4,559,189 vehicles.

The largest increase, the Motor Vehicle Department reported Saturday, was in passenger vehicles and station wagons, 100,818. There were 13,014 more commercial vehicles and 10,119 more trailers registered, the department said.

Son to Take Over?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The ailing Imam Ahmed of Yemen, who ruled his backward Arabian kingdom with an iron hand, is reported by Yemeni sources to have stepped down in favor of his reform-minded son.

Informants said Crown Prince Mohammed Al-Badr, about 35, has taken over the government and the 70-year-old king has gone into retirement in a suburban residential palace outside the capital of Ta'izz.

19 Reported Killed

TOKYO (AP)—Nineteen persons were reported killed, 18 injured and 12 missing in the year's biggest downpour which has pounded south western Japan since Saturday.

More than 35,000 houses were flooded up to noon Monday in six prefectures in the Shikoku-Kinki area, 300 miles southwest of here. Rice fields suffered heavy damages.

State Official Says Welfare Will Be Higher

FERNDALE, N. Y. (AP)—New federal and state public relief programs will mean increased welfare spending by county and municipal welfare departments, the state social welfare commissioner said today.

Commissioner Raymond W. Houston, in an address prepared for delivery at a meeting of the New York Public Welfare Association here, spoke against the background of open rebellion against the rising cost of public welfare programs in the City of Newburgh.

Houston said the new programs "mean local public welfare departments will have to serve more people, increase their staffs and consequently spend more money."

The cost of most relief programs is shared equally by the federal, state and local governments.

Lists Examples

The new programs listed by Houston as examples were:

1-Medical assistance for the aged to provide for an extended group of people over 65 years old not previously eligible for such care.

2-A 14-month expanded program of aid to dependent children, extending eligibility to 60,000 persons not previously covered.

3-Establishment and operation of a state service for locating husbands and fathers who have deserted their families.

4-A set of specific procedures and tests aimed at preventing abuses of public welfare.

5-Authority given to local welfare departments to establish citizens' advisory committees to encourage citizen participation in the administration of public welfare.

Approve 13 Changes

At Newburgh, city officials have approved 13 changes in regulations covering welfare payments, to tighten administration of the city's welfare department.

The state has expressed concern that some of the changes may conflict with welfare laws, and that Newburgh's action could jeopardize federal support of welfare programs throughout the state.

But Newburgh, alarmed by the amount it spends on welfare each year, has vowed it will go to court, if need be, to establish its right to put the restriction into effect.

Who Will Mediate?

ROME (AP)—Italy and Austria have decided to seek outside mediation in their dispute over South Tyrol. But they still must agree on who will mediate.

A third round of foreign ministers' talks ended inconclusively Sunday in Zurich, Switzerland.

The long-smoldering dispute flared into an outbreak of violence last week that has taken three lives and sent 10,000 Italian troops into the picturesque Alpine region to preserve order.

Mrs. John Paul Remensnyder of Saugerties was hostess.

In her report, Mrs. Davenport noted that great strides had been made in conservation and the use of natural resources across the continent. Future hopes of the desert country seem to lie in the conversion of salt water to fresh, she said.

The New Paltz Reformed Church was the setting Saturday, June 24 at 1 p. m. of the wedding of Miss Joanne Misner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Misner of 18 Mohonk Avenue, New Paltz, and John Beecher, son of James R. Beecher of 921 Fassett Road, Elmira, and the late Mrs. Beecher.

She wore a yellow ballerina length gown of silk organza styled with a scooped neckline, abbreviated sleeves and bell shaped skirt with paniers of gathered silk. A matching silk bow secured her short veil and she carried a hand cascade of tangerine carnations and daisies.

Bridesmaids were Miss Mary Lou Misner of Monsey, a cousin of the bride and Miss Katherine Zimmerman of New Paltz. They were gowned in yellow silk organza and carried hand cascades of yellow carnations and daisies.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Misner wore a ciel blue silk organza ensemble with matching hat and veil and a pink cybidium corsage.

Best man was Jack Brewer of Elmira with Gene Knapp of Elmira and Harry Beecher of Stamford, Conn., a brother of the bridegroom, as ushers.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at Reggie's Inn, New Paltz.

For traveling Mrs. Beecher chose a navy blue dress with matching jacket, white accessories and a georgianna orchid corsage. The couple will make their home at 760 Stony Brook Road, Elmira, where Mr. Beecher is associated with the Linn S. Chapel Co.

WHEN BEING INTERVIEWED FOR A JOB

Q: I have just graduated college and intend to start looking for a job. As this will be my first experience along this line, I would very much appreciate any pointers you can give me as to how to conduct myself when being interviewed for a job.

A: First of all, be neat in your appearance. Clothes brushed, shoes shined, hair cut and neat. Nails must be clean. When you are asked a question, don't break in with your answer before your interviewer has finished the question. Don't be flippant or slangy. State your qualifications briefly and truthfully. Wait to be asked to sit down and let your manner be straightforward. Don't pretend to have experience when you don't, but say instead that you will do your best to learn. Tell a clear straight story and make it short. The important point is not to be nervous. Don't imagine the man who is granting you an interview is an ogre. Remember employers are human beings too.

Bride Throws Her Bouquet

Q: When does the bride throw her bouquet and does she throw it just to her wedding attendants or do all the single girls at the reception take part? Also, does she throw her garter to the ushers?

A: The bride throws her bouquet to her bridesmaids just before she leaves to dress for her wedding trip. If her attendants are married, she throws it to a group of single girl friends. The bride does not throw her garter to the ushers. To do so would be in extremely bad taste.

Inviting Man to Be Her Guest

Q: Is it considered proper, in the case of a young man and woman who have been going together for the past year, for her to act as hostess on occasion and pay for the evening's entertainment?

A: To pay for anything in his presence might be embarrassing to him, but it would be entirely proper to buy tickets to something beforehand and ask him to go with her as her guest.

Queen Fabiola Is Not Expecting Baby

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Belgian hopes for the birth of a child to King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola this fall were dashed Sunday. The royal court in a communique said the queen was ailing and not expecting a baby after all.

"Contrary to what was hoped, a happy event is not expected at the Laeken court in the near future," the communique said. It added that the illness was a slight indisposition "and she will be completely recovered in a few days."

The fliers are Francis J. Berard, Waterville, Maine; William Massey, Birmingham, Ala., and Lewis Stelljes of Boston.

Married Life Is Crazy, Says Beverly

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—"Married life is crazy," says Beverly Aadland.

The 18-year-old protege of the late Errol Flynn was wed Saturday to Maurice de Leon, 22, a Los Angeles draftsman.

She said Sunday it was impossible to compare the actor and her husband.

"You can't compare a person in the present with a person gone in the past," she declared. "I love Maurice for Maurice and I loved Errol for Errol."

De Leon, who earns $575 a month as a draftsman and industrial designer for the Los Angeles Board of Education, said he met Miss Aadland two years ago. She was traveling with Flynn at the time, and they began dating after the actor's death in the fall of 1959.

Eichmann Says He Is Able To Wash His Hands of Guilt

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann today likened his role in the Nazi slaughter of the Jews to that of Pontius Pilate and said he was able to wash his hands of any feeling of guilt.

The former Gestapo colonel in charge of "Jewish affairs" reached back into Christian history to describe his thoughts of almost 20 years ago when the decision was reached to exterminate the Jews "as the final solution to the problem."

All three Israeli judges leaned forward in rapt attention as Eichmann probed into his own ego. His normal manner of speaking, sharp and carefully enunciated in drill sergeant style, shifted to one of soft and earnest pleading.

The key of Eichmann's testimony opening the 11th week of his trial lay in the Wannsee conference of top level Nazi bureaucrats outside Berlin January 20, 1942.

It was there that Gestapo chief Reinhard Heydrich said the final solution was death for 10 million European Jews. Eichmann said he was unaware of this when he prepared the machinery for the meeting at Heydrich's behest.

Hitler's civil servants from various departments accepted the extermination idea "with boundless enthusiasm," Eichmann testified.

Heydrich, who had expected some opposition, "exulted at the success" of the meeting which required only an hour or so, said Eichmann.

Defense counsel Robert Servatius asked Eichmann about his own reaction.

The defendant replied: "Here I felt a certain solace and appeasement, considering I had done my utmost despite my relatively low rank of lieutenant colonel and I had thought of a 'final solution' which was not repellent or hideous but which was practical and feasible.

"I did my best to bring order into all the turmoil in deportations. My unflinching efforts could be seen in the Radom plan and later in the Madagascar plan (for shipping the Jews to the island of Madagascar). I could say to myself that in spite of my determination, I had to toe the line. What was done was not my doing. I had the feeling of Pontius Pilate. I felt I was not guilty. What was laid down was done by the elite, the popes of the regime."

Servatius informed the courts he would complete his defense early next week, with Wednesday as the latest target date. Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner calculates he needs four days for cross-examination. After that the prosecution and defense summations will close the books, probably by July 15. The court likely will require a month to six weeks to write the judgment.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Newburgh Signs, Carpenters to Talk Here, 7:30

The first break in the three-week old carpenter strike came Saturday when the Newburgh contractors association and the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters reached an agreement.

Terms of the agreement were not made public pending another meeting this evening when representatives of the other contractor associations and Council representatives will meet at Kirkland Hotel, here, at 7:30 o'clock.

The agreement reached with the Newburgh contractors is for a four-year term. Details of the agreement are expected to be made public following the meeting this evening.

One of Largest Units

The Newburgh contractor association is one of the largest in the district. Construction work at West Point lies within the Newburgh jurisdiction.

It is expected the carpenters in the Newburgh area will resume work under the agreement on Tuesday morning.

It was reported on good authority today that one of the other three remaining contractor associations would sign an agreement if no general agreement is reached at this evening's meeting.

George E. Yerry Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, today stated an agreement had been reached Saturday with the Newburgh contractor association but said terms could not be made public at this time.

Terms Satisfactory

Yerry stated that the terms had been "satisfactory" with the association and Council members.

Carpenters in the nine-county area covered by the Carpenters Council went on strike on June 1, following expiration of their contract on May 31. About 2,000 carpenters in the nine-county area are represented by the Hudson Valley District Council. Some jobs, including two school contracts in Kingston were picketed briefly, but pickets were withdrawn and other trades were allowed to continue work with an agreement that if any carpenter work was done on those jobs picketing would be resumed.

Brick Dispute Lasts

There was no change reported in the dispute between the Hudson River Brick Manufacturers and striking members of Brick Handlers' Local 1467. The last meeting was held Friday night without any agreement. The Brick Handlers' contract expired at midnight on June 15 and the workers refused to continue work after that time. Some 700 workers on six brickyards between Newburgh and Ravena were idled.

Thus far negotiations between the Brick Manufacturers and Union representatives have brought no results and the Friday evening meeting was recessed without date, subject to call by Federal and State conciliators.

Announces Terms

Speaking for the Hudson River Brick Manufacturers, Henry Clifton on Saturday announced the terms offered to the striking members of the Brick Handlers' Local 1467, at the Friday night meeting. The terms offered by the manufacturers were:

1. A general wage increase of 7½ cents per hour.
2. Increase to $20 per day for hospital rooms cost for employes and dependents.
3. Increase in compensation for surgical care to a maximum of $300 for employes and dependents.
4. Increase in life insurance coverage for employes to $3,000.
5. A new major medical plan providing for pay of above normal, medical costs for a maximum of $5,000 for employes and dependents.
6. A guaranteed 40-hour week under same conditions as previously applied to a 32 hour week.

The Union committee stated it would not call for a vote on the employers offer even though the same general terms had been accepted at an earlier meeting with the International Union of Operating Engineers.

The meeting, Mr. Clifton said, was subject to call of Federal and State Conciliators. No date was set for a new meeting.

YMCA Day Camp Opens for Season

YMCA Day Camp at Shokan opened today for its third year. Two bus loads of boys and girls left the YMCA this morning with Louis H. Schafer, camp director in charge.

The boys and girls upon reaching camp were divided into junior and senior camp groups according to ages. Each camp was divided into groups of eight with an adult leader in charge. The final morning activity was at the waterfront. The swimming check system, which is considered at camp to be the most imperative, was explained. Also campers are checked in groups every 15 minutes during a swimming period. They are checked 10 times each day, including the final check when campers get on the bus for their return home.

Schafer and Steve Orozco, camp directors have one of its best staffs. Russell Henze, who just graduated from State University College at Fredonia, where he specialized in music and Robert Lawrence, who just graduated from Dutchess College were most popular in camp last season. Both have been planning a program for the 1961 season. Messrs. Henze and Lawrence and the two camp directors gives the Day Camp four instructors in swimming for both the beginners and advanced swimming groups.

Parents desiring information concerning the 1961 camping program should phone the YMCA or stop in at the office on Broadway. The YMCA is a member agency of the Kingston Area Community Chest.

Unruly Calf Causes Mishap at Eddyville

A frisky calf in a truck caused the driver to lose control Sunday morning and the vehicle ran off the highway near Eddyville, struck a utility pole, and sending the operator to the hospital, Kingston state police reported.

The driver, Arthur Haber, 18, of Eddyville is in Benedictine Hospital today suffering from a lacerated eyelid and forehead.

According to the youth's mother, Mrs. Arthur L. Haber, her son was transporting the calf for Fritz Kammann of Eddyville. The calf in the back of the truck tried to jump out causing young Haber to lose control of the vehicle while driving west on Cutler Hill Road. The mishap occurred at 11:45 a. m.

Mein Kampf Makes Millions, Author Still Awaits Profits

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The documentary film "Mein Kampf" has made millions all over the world. But the man who made it has had no returns as yet.

He is Erwin Leiser, 38, a Swedish intellectual who began two years ago to put together a film account of the rise and fall of Adolf Hitler. The result startled the movie world and has affected social and political thinking.

"The film has been playing in 62 countries," reported Leiser, who is gratified by its success. But his profits have been nil so far.

Sees Court Action

"Under my contract, I am supposed to get an accounting of the profits every six months," he said. "Last December there were none. At the end of June I will get another report. If there are still no returns, I will have some interesting developments in the courts."

"Mein Kampf" has proved the sleeper of the movie season. It has had a fantastic success in Germany itself. When I was in Japan earlier this year, it was drawing large crowds.

The film has had a strange history in the United States. Producers William Perlberg and George Seaton saw "Mein Kampf" in Copenhagen and praised it highly to Paramount. They sent a print to New York and proposed an English narration by William Holden, who was also enthusiastic about it.

Paramount replied that American's wouldn't pay to see a recounting of Nazi horrors. Columbia snapped the film up for a reported $50,000. It is now expected to gross between $2 million and $3 million in the United States alone.

The man who made "Mein Kampf" is a stocky, balding man who became interested in the project as culture editor for a Swedish newspaper.

"I became acquainted with many persons who had access to the immense amount of footage about the Nazis," Leiser said. He found a producer to finance him and then began the great task of editing the film down to feature length. He served as director and writer.

Why did "Mein Kampf" prove so popular?

Appeals to Young

"I think it appeals greatly to young people," said Leiser. "They have read about these things in school, but they really can't comprehend them until they see them with their own eyes.

"What they see is real. These things cannot be faked."

There have been other documentaries of Nazi Germany, but they have not had the impact of "Mein Kampf." One reason is undoubtedly timing: The revival of interest in naziism spawned by the Eichmann trial. But credit must also be due Leiser's skill as a film maker. Amazingly, "Mein Kampf" was his first movie.

"I used some of the techniques I learned in making radio and TV documentaries in Sweden," he explained. "Mainly, I try to put nothing between the audience and the story. I want them to discover it for themselves."

Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MONTREAL (AP)—John Alexander Douglas McCurdy, 74, a pioneer in aviation whose interest in that field was sparked by a childhood meeting with Alexander Graham Bell, died Sunday. He was a former lieutenant governor of Nova Scotia. He was the first to pilot a flying boat from which he dropped oranges to prove bombing was practical. He flew a plane which sent and received the first wireless message.

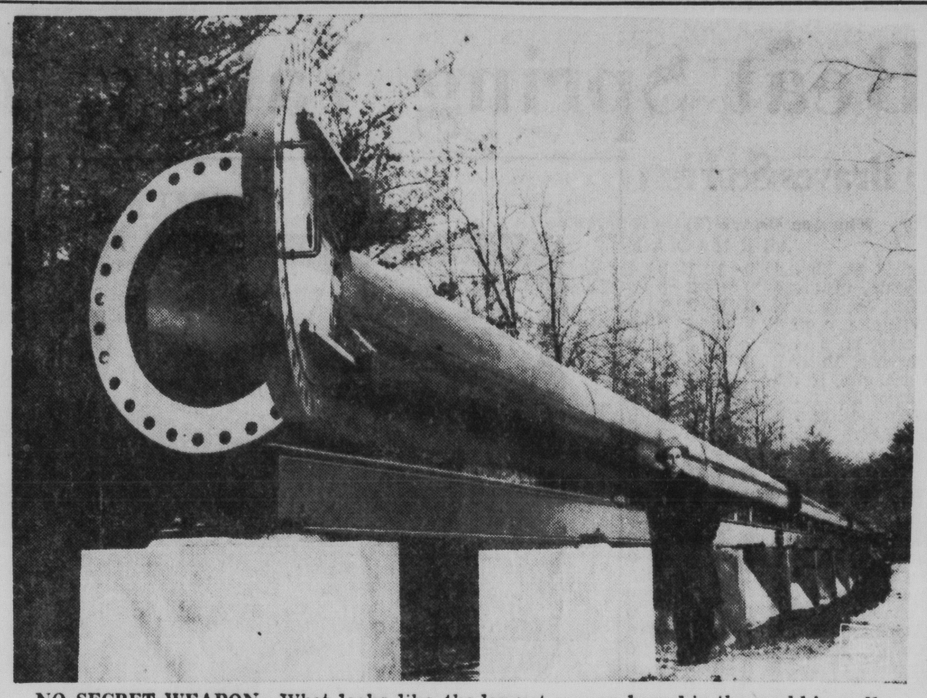

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Miriam A. Fuerguson, 86, twice governor of Texas and one of the nation's first women governors, died Sunday of a heart attack. Called "Ma" by friends and foes, both she and her late husband, James E. (Farmer Jim) were longtime Democratic political powers in Texas.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Dr. Walter L. Bierring, 92, retired Iowa state health director and former president of the died Saturday. A native of Davenport, Iowa, Dr. Bierring studied under Louis Pasteur, French professor who founded bacteriology.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Keith Spalding, 83, millionaire rancher, philanthropist and heir to the Spalding Sporting Goods Co., died Sunday. Spalding came to California in 1906 from Chicago, his birthplace.

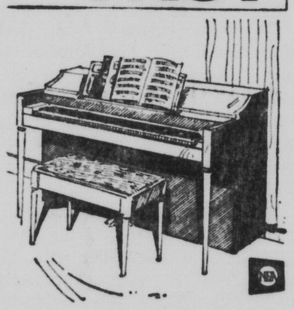

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nan Downing Hayden, 84, wife of Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., died Sunday. Mrs. Hayden, who was born in Wilmington, Calif., met the senator when they were students at Leland Stanford University. She had been an invalid 15 years.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Vanderbilt III, 47, millionaire sportsman, philanthropist and playboy, died Saturday. The son of the late Alfred Vanderbilt was found by a bellboy after an apparent leap from his 10th-floor hotel room. Vanderbilt, who served with distinction in the Navy during World War II, had come into $20 million at 21 and another $20 million at 35.

NO SECRET WEAPON—What looks like the longest cannon barrel in the world is really the Navy's new conical shocktube. Located at the U.S. Naval Ordnance Laboratory in Silver Spring, Md., it's 180 feet long with a diameter of six inches at one end and 30 inches at the other. A five-pound explosive set off at the small end can simulate the blastwaves produced by six World War II blockbusters. The tube is the forerunner of a 2,000-foot shocktube which will simulate the blast of an atomic bomb to make possible the study of nuclear blastwaves without actually firing a bomb. Standing by the tube is Naval lab physicist William S. Filler, who conceived and developed the device.

matter of FACT

While Stradivarius was making his famous violins, another Italian was developing the first piano. Cristofori, father of the piano, was proud that his instrument could play both loud and soft, in contrast with the tinkling harpsichord. To advertise its wide range he called it the pianoforte — Italian for "soft and strong." But poor Cristofori's "advertisement" backfired. Nowadays everybody calls it "piano," only the "soft" part of the name.

FREEMAN ADS BRING RESULTS

Braves Beat Spring Valley, 7-2, Lose to West Haverstraw

Winning Skein Stopped at Six; Corwin Fans 14

The Kingston Braves won a crucial victory from the Spring Valley Bengals, 7-2, with two late rallies for their sixth straight NY-NJ League victory, Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

But Sunday at West Haverstraw it was all butter fingers for substitute infielder, Hal Lewis, and the locals went down to defeat for the first time, 5 to 3. Lewis committed four bobbles and the Lumberman won with three unearned runs.

The locals remained in first place in the Eastern Division of the league with a 6 and 1 record, one game better than Spring Valley (2-2) in the loss column.

Bob Willis held a 2-0 lead over Al Corwin in a bristling pitching duel until the bottom of the seventh when Doug Holmquist tripled in three runs. The Braves continued their assault on reliefer Ed Mattot with four runs in the eighth to nail down the win.

At Haverstraw Sunday, Bob Bauer and Bob Schassler pitched shutout ball after the fourth inning and the Lumbermen rallied with three runs in the seventh to snap the Kingston skein.

Corwin Fans 14

Corwin permitted five hits, walked six and struck out 14 against Spring Valley. The Braves had only six blows off the two Spring Valley hurlers, with Willis striking out 12. Six errors, howesver, were the deciding factor.

Two slashing triples by Doug Holmquist, his fourth in three games, were the key blows in the two late rallies Saturday night. His seventh inning triple scored Charlie Pike and Johnny Giampola ahead of him and he crossed the plate when the second baseball bobbled the relay from the outfield.

In the eighth inning, two errors and a Wally Widholm scoring single loaded the bases and Holmquist promptly unloaded them a three base shot up his favorite right centerfield alley.

Best Braves news of the weekend was the batting resurgence of Wally Widholm, the hard hitting first sacker-catcher, who has been bogged down in a slump. Widholm slammed a homer and two singles at West Haverstraw and a pair of singles Saturday, giving him 5 for 9 for the weekend.

Frank Horan started Sunday but fell fielding a bunt on the wet infield in the third inning and was unable to continue. Norm Fahey relieved and took the loss.

Palmer's 271 Wins Tourney

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Somehow the idea of Arnold Palmer headed for practice sessions this week "to straighten out" his iron play is hard to picture.

It's like the major league's top pitcher using a day off to sharpen his control in the bullpen.

Palmer is richer by $5,000 and a Grand Rapids-made chest of drawers after a brilliant victory Sunday in the 58th Western Open golf tournament with a 13-under-par, 72-hole total of 271.

Two days earlier, while sharing the halfway lead, he estimated a total 270 would win the four-day even at Blythefield County Club, where par is 36-35—71.

He wants to sharpen his iron play before going overseas Saturday to enter the British Open — bypassing the Flint Open this week.

The transplanted Pennsylvanian now playing out of Miami, Fla., stood off the pressure challenge of Sam Snead, who was runnerup in the Western on a 273 total worth $2,800 and a "bachelor's chest."

Remaining prize money, plus some furniture items, was divided among 53 other top pros in amounts ranging from $1,505 to $100. Stan Leonard of Vancouver, B.C., who won the Western Open last year, finished with a total of 279 worth $870.

Tigers Split Doubleheader; Reds Widen Lead in NL Race

Lose Some Ground To Yankees, Who Beat Twins, 8-4

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit first baseman Norm Cash walloped three home runs Sunday but the Tigers lost ground in the American League pennant race when they were held to a split in their doubleheader with Cleveland.

New York's second-place Yankees narrowed Detroit's first place margin to 1½ games, defeating Minnesota 10-5. The Tigers, after winning the first game 6-3, were nipped in the ninth inning of the second game 4-3 by the Indians.

Chisox in Fifth

Chicago's red hot White Sox roared into a fifth-place tie with Baltimore, defeating Washington twice, 7-4 and 6-3. The double triumph extended the Sox' winning streak to 10 in a row and gave them 17 victories in their last 18 games. Baltimore downed Los Angeles 9-8 in 14 innings on Ron Hansen's home run.

Boston and Kansas City split. The Red Sox won the opener 7-4 and the A's took the second 3-2.

Cash drove in four runs in the opener, walloping a pair of two-run homers off loser Wynn Hawkins. His slugging enabled Jim Bunning to register his seventh victory. The veteran right-hander needed help in the eighth but did very well in a scuffle with Cleveland's Jimmy Piersall three innings earlier.

The Indians' temperamental outfielder became enraged when hit on the wrist by a Bunning pitch and charged out to the mound. Piersall, along with two teammates who came to his assistance, was ejected.

Cash's nightcap homer was not enough. The Indians snapped a tie in the ninth when Chuck Essegian sent a drive off the right field fence with one out and the bases loaded. Ironically, Essegian was not credited with a hit because Vic Power failed to touch second and was forced for the second out as the winning run scored.

Streak Is Snapped

The Indians snapped Detroit's five game winning streak and broke their own seven-game losing string.

Veterans Billy Pierce and Early Wynn pitched the victories for the White Sox whose spectacular three-week surge has lifted them from last place to a fifth-place tie with Baltimore, fifteen and a half games out June 11, the Sox now trail front-running Detroit by 9½ lengths. Nellie Fox, with three hits and two RBI, was the Sox batting star in the opener and Floyd Robinson, with four hits and 3 RBI, paced their hitters in the nightcap.

Catcher Ellie Howard drove in four Yankees runs with a home run and single and offset the torrid hitting of Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew. The Twins' strongboy clouted a home run and single to account for half his teams' runs off winner Bill Strafford. It was the sixth homer in six games for Killebrew who drove in 15 runs and hit .591 during the span.

Good Relief Job

Mike Fornieles pitched four scoreless innings to protect Don Schwall's sixth victory in seven decisions since the later joined the Red Sox six weeks ago. Red Sox outfielder Carroll Hardy had a double and triple, scored two runs and drove in one. Gene Stephens, a former Red Sox outfielder, smashed a two-run homer to give the A's the split and furnish Bob Shaw with his first Kansas City victory since he came from the White Sox two weeks ago.

Ronnie Hansen homered in the top of the 14th and Jack Fisher survived a bases loaded situation in the bottom of the inning to feature the Orioles marathon victory over the Angels which consumed four hours and 42 minutes and 16 pitchers.

Top Dodgers, 3-2, For 3 Game Edge; Giants Split Pair

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati widened its first place lead over Los Angeles to three games Sunday, defeating the Dodgers, 3-2. Joey Jay, with the help of Jim Brosnan in the eighth, notched his ninth triumph, making a three-run first inning holdup.

San Francisco's third-place Giants fell four games off the pace, splitting a doubleheader with St. Louis. Ray Sadeciki, 20-year-old southpaw, limited the Giants to two hits in the nightcap, winning 3-1 after the Giants had captured the opener 6-4 with a four-run rally in the ninth.

Spahn Is Beaten

Chicago's Cubs defeated Milwaukee 5-3 behind the hitting of George Altman and Billy Williams, who got seven of their team's 10 hits off loser Warren Spahn. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia divided a doubleheader. The Pirates won the opener 10-5 and the Phillies came back to take the second 4-3.

George Altman and Billy Williams slammed Warren Spahn for seven of the Cubs' 10 hits. Altman had a double, triple and homer and scored three runs. Williams had four singles and drove in two. Don Cardwell, with the help of Barney Schultz, who pitched hitless ball in 3 1-3 relief innings, won his sixth.

A Two-Hitter

Three St. Louis errors and singles by Jim Davenport and Willie Mays gave the Giants four runs in the ninth to overcome a 4-2 Card lead in the first game. Ray Sadecki, 20-year-old Redbird lefthander, permitted the Giants only two hits as he registered his sixth victory in the nightcap. Stan Musial's double featured a two-run rally in the second against loser Billy Loes. Mays' 18th homer in the ninth ruined Sadecki's shutout bid.

Homers decided the Philly-Pirate twin bill. Robert Clemente had two for Pittsburgh in the first game, his second igniting a four-run rally in the seventh inning. Pancho Herrera slammed a two-run homer in the seventh of the nightcap to snap a 2-2 tie.

Bucher Is Winner Of Sports Car Race

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP)—Even a stone-shattered windshield near the finish couldn't slow Robert Bucher Saturday as he lapped the field driving his German Porsche to victory in the Glen Classic Sports Car Race.

The 39-year-old business machine technician from Binghamton hit speeds of up to 125 mph through the straights and averaged 84.23 mph for the 76-mile race. The event opened the season at this picturesque 2.3-mile track overlooking Seneca Lake.

One driver was injured. Peter DeCosta of Philadelphia suffered several possible cracked ribs when his car spun off the track and slammed into a fallen utility pole.

Second place went to Norman Webb of Rochester, who averaged 81.89 mph in an Elva. Ben Moore of Bethlehem, Pa., was third in a Corvette, averaging 76.85 mph.

Rebel Harris Captures 4th Feature Event at Speedway

It was the Triple A all the way Sunday at Onteora Speedway where D. D. (Rebel) Harris of Poughkeepsie survived the wildest 25-lap feature in Onteora history to scramble to his fourth victory of the season.

The elements combined with some hair raising crackups, a miniature sandstorm and high winds to produce the most hectic main events ever seen at the Olive Bridge track.

There were no less than three spectacular crackups, involving five drivers, but no personal injuries were reported.

Adding to the sand laden confusion was Don Avery's fadeout with motor trouble on the third lap of the race.

Avery had won a stirring third beat duel with Harris and Stretch Van Steenburgh and fans were anticipating a rousing feature when all hell broke loose.

Russ Hyde of Beacon and Ed Yunker of Kerhonkson were involved in one crackup. Veteran Walt Schubert, Carl Cormiak and Johnny Grube locked horns in another dazzler. Midway in the race, John Falkowski of Albany tore up three fence rails on the last turn to complete the wreckage for the day.

With Avery out of the running early, the feature resolved into a three-car duel among Harris, who led for each of the 25 laps, Don Beesmer of Olive Bridge and Van Steenburgh. Beesmer hung in the runnerup slot for half of the race, when Van Steenburgh replaced him and at the finish it was Harris, Van Steenburgh, Beesmer, Bud Glass of West Hurley, Clayton Barringer of Krumville, Don Cronk, Carl Cormick and Dean Alexander in that order.

Barringer Is Winner

Russ Hyde won the opening 10-lap heat and Clayton Barringer crashed through to his first heat win in the second. Jimmy Grube of Newburgh won the consolation.

The summaries:

First heat, 10 laps—Russ Hyde, Ben Barringer, Bob Talmadge, Clarence Phillips, Dick Becker, John Falkowski, Dick Munson, Bob De Lease.

Second heat, 10 laps—Clayton Barringer, Stub Smith, John Van Der Mueler, Pete Keator, Ed Yunker, Dick Moore, Herb Gray, Bill Stokes, Dean Alexander.

Third heat, 10 laps — Don Avery, Rebel Harris, Stretch Van Steenburgh, Ernie Beesmer, Bud Glass, Joe Higgins, Walt Schubert.

Consolation, 10 laps — Jimmy Grube, Dick Becker, Dick Moore, Ben Barringer.

Feature, 25 laps—Rebel Harris, Stretch Van Steenburgh, Ernie Beesmer, Bud Glass, Clayton Barringer, Don Cronk, Carl Cormick, Dean Alexander.

Battle Joined Is Impressive At Belmont Park

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

How good is a 2-year-old colt named Battle Joined? And is he a horse to be reckoneed with when the 1962 Kentucky Derby rolls around next May?

For that matter, what about a bunch of other juveniles who have been grabbing the headlines from coast to coast? There are plenty of them all good.

Last fall, after Hail to Reason was injured and permanently retired, Eddie Arcaro said the filly Bowl of Flowers probably could beat any of the colts. Hail to Reason was a terrif colt, and Carry Back then came along and is the hero of the 3-year-olds to date with Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Flamingo and Florida Derby triumphs.

On Saturday at Belmont Park, two races before the $116,625 Coaching Club American Oaks, which Bowl of Flowers took by an easy 5½ lengths, Battle Joined strutted his stuff.

In June, one year ago, Brookmeade Stable's Bowl of Flowers ran 5½ furlongs in 1:04 1-5, and set a Belmont track record. Saturday, Battle Joined went out in a race at the same distance, merely galloped in the stretch and won by 10 lengths in record-equaling time.

This is a bay son of Armageddon, and if Jockey Manuel Ycaza had been pressed, Bowl of Flowers' record would have been obliterated. Battle Joined in owned by Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, who won a Kentucky Derby with Dark Star, only horse ever to beat Native Dancer.

There are 11 races which will be worth more than $100,000 for the juveniles between now and the end of November. And there are possible meetings between the top ones that will make management start hand-rubbing with anticipation.

At Belmont Park six youngsters meet today in the $28,900 National Stallion stakes. Two outstanding 2-year-olds entered are C.T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord, who won the Tyro Stakes at Monmouth in an easy gallop, and Adele L. Rand's Green Ticket, a six-length winner in both of his starts.

Connie Mack League

Smith's Get 4-1 Win; Ferraro and Nolan Star

Mike Ferraro and John Nolan, two of the outstanding baseball players in the area, staged a brilliant pitching duel Saturday night at Saugerties as the Smith's stopped the Nolan's, 4-1, in a nine inning Connie Mack league contest.

Ferraro won his own game with a two-run double in the ninth frame and he scored the fourth run moments later on an infield out. That nullified a nifty relief effort by Nolan.

The former Saugerties High ace came in to pitch in the second inning and he struck out a total of 20 batters during his tenure on the hill. Since he only recorded 24 outs you can see what kind of a job he did.

Jim Curley started the ninth by reaching first on an error and Henry Smith was safe on a fielders choice. Then Ferraro stroked the only hit off Nolan, a double.

Ferraro, the Kingston High star, struck out 15 during his nine innings of hurling. He was touched for singles by Frank Allen and Al Giannotti. Henry Smith had the other hit for his club, a triple.

Saratoga Raceway Features Annual Grand Circuit Week

SARATOGA SPRINGS—Grand Circuit week at Saratoga Raceway gets under way tonight with the fourth leg of the 24-class early closing trot series. With 20 named for the race, two ten-horse fields resulted. They go before Ambrose Sculley's starting gate as the fifth and seventh dashes, with the event named in honor of the New York Newspaper Editors.

Top division of the event finds an extremely closely matched field slated to compete for the winner's share of the $3,000-divided purse. Each of the ten probable starters has recorded a Raceway finish of third already this season. Four have posted wins, as well.

Fastest of the wins was posted by Argo Can, which sped around the oval in 2:05 4/5, with driver Charlie King in the sulky. For this highly regarded son of Florican, a high-priced winter purchase, it was the first win in three Spa trips.

In the same race, Madam's Son, owned by A. Raymond Hall, of Gouveneur, also was a "wake-up" trotter, finishing a good third, and then taking place money on official placings following a lapped on break at the wire.

Deviltry, Victory Sue, and Golden Echo are the others which have found their way to the Saratoga winners' circle already this year. The latter two are Canton, N. Y.-owned, by Mrs. Dennis Woods, and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Howard, respectively.

Baseball Owners Meet This Week

CHICAGO (AP) —Owners of American and National League baseball teams begin their meetings today with two problems uppermost: National League expansion and skyrocketing bonuses to young potential big-leaguers.

The Monday National League session will bring a report from a five-member committee of general managers on how to fit the two new 1962 members — New York and Houston — into a 10-team circuit on an equitable basis.

Current feeling is that the National will use the same general approach the American League employed in adding a Los Angeles team and a new Washington team.

Each American League club placed 15 players on a draft list, with seven subject to claim by each of the two new teams at a fixed price of $75,000 apiece.

Commissioner Ford Frick says he is working on the problem of bonus signings. Payment ceilings and stiff fines for violations, Frick says, may be needed to curtail bonus offers of $100,000 or more to teen-agers who may never come close to making the big leagues.

Johnson, Machen Set For Big Bout Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Harold Johnson and Eddie Machen, two men who want to fight Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight title, meet Saturday at Atlantic City's Convention Hall.

Johnson, the National Boxing Association's light heavy champ, will not be risking his title in this venture in the heavier class against Machen, the No. 2 heavyweight challenger from Portland, Ore.

The 10-round match will be carried on network (ABC) television, starting at 9 p.m., (EST).

Johnson stopped his last two opponents in title fights, Jesse Bowdry in Miami Beach and Von Clay in Philadelphia. Machen stopped Mike DeJohn after losing a decision to Sonny Liston.

Alejandro Lavorante, the Argentine heavyweight who knocked out Zora Folley in a major upset, gets back to work Thursday in San Francisco. His opponent will be Monroe Ratliff of Los Angeles.

The world's flyweight title will be up for grabs Tuesday at Tokyo where Pone Kingpetch of Thailand will defend against Mitsunori of Japan.

Seki, a 19-year-old southpaw, has a reputation as a puncher with 10 knockouts in his 21-2-1 record Kingpetch's record is 26-4. The champ is a heavy favorite to keep the title he took from Pascual Perez in 1960.

Canadian boxing continues to concentrate on heavyweights with George Chuvalo of Toronto due to meet Willie Besman off of Germany and New York in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens Tuesday.

The two were to have fought last summer but an injury to Besmanoff forced a cancellation.

Jose Torres continues his campaign for a middleweight match with Paul Pender, who holds a share of the title, when he boxes Ike White of Philadelphia in Boston Tuesday.

35 Club Tops Vet Nine, 16-3

Sickler's 35 Club overwhelmed The Vets, 16-3, in a Kingston Babe Ruth league game Saturday. The winners broke things wide open with a big 10-run surge in the second inning.

Paul Natale slugged a double and two singles to pace an eight hit attack. Jack Sickler singled twice while Richie Hart had a double.

Gene Rios went the distance and picked up the win. He allowed only two hits.

Locals Win Twice Against Syracuse

After walloping the Legion, 12-3, Vogel's Shoes of Syracuse, one of top Babe Ruth league clubs in the state, dropped a pair to the Knights of Columbus of Kingston, 6-1, and 8-0, over the weekend at Dietz Stadium.

The Syracuse club went to work on the Legion early. It tallied five runs in the third frame to break a 1-1 tie and then added two in the sixth and four more in the seventh.

The locals had only two hits, a homer by John Schabot and Paul Gruner's single.

Don Horton and Ronnie Thomas pitched a couple of neat games to stop Vogel's for the Knights. Horton allowed only five hits and Thomas collected three safeties for the K of C in the Saturday contest.

Yesterday, in a game called after 4½ innings because of rain, Thomas was touched for a lone single while his mates had four hits in the 8-0 rout.

His Second Title

Bogle Wins Over Kowal In HRGA Finals, 2 and 1

William Bogle defeated Hank Kowal, 2 and 1, in an all-Dutchess Country Club finals of the Hudson River Golf Association tournament Sunday at Wiltwyck Country Club.

It was the second title for Bogle, who first won the crown in 1955. Kowal has won the title four times.

Bogle birdied the 9th hole to get the match even with 2-over-par 38's on the front nine. He took the 10th hole to lead for the first time. Kowal squared the match on the 11th. A par on the 16th put Bogle ahead, 1 up, and he cinched the match and title when Kowal topped his second shot on the par-5 seventeenth hole.

Kowal advanced to the finals by scoring a 4 and 2 victory over Tom Hopper of Dutchess, while Bogle was eliminating Jay Agnew of Powelton, 1 up, in 20 holes.

In first round matches of the Beaten 8 in the championship flight, the fabled Ray Billows defeated the defending champion Bill Robischon of Powelton, 2 up, and Jerry Cariffe of Beacon eliminated Larry McGinnis, Dutchess, 3 and 2.

Cosenza Finalist

Only seven Wiltwyck players competed in the tournament and the best showing was made by George Cosenza, who lost to B. Ormsby of Dutchess, 1 up, in the finals of the first flight. Cosenza gained the finals by defeating Harvey Bostic, a clubmate, 1 up with the help of six handicap strokes. Bostic had been low Wiltwyck qualifier with a 78, but could not be contacted to be notified he was in the championship flight.

Other final results:

Third Flight—Jim Peelor Sr., Dutchess, defeated Jay Nickolich, Powelton, 1 up in 21 holes; Beaten 4—Ed Phelan, D, defeated Andy Petruski, Wiltwyck, 4 and 2.

Fourth Flight—Colonel Gregory, West Point, defeated Bill Howland, Rockland, 4 and 3; Beaten Four—Dick Hall, D, won from Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., Wiltwyck, 4 and 3.

Fifth Flight — B. Schubert, Powelton, defeated D. Perkins, Dutchess, 3 and 2. Beaten Four: Winner, M. Wells, Rockland.

Sixth Flight—P. Stevenson, Dutchess, defeated D. Komyathy, D, 5 and 4. Beaten Four: winner, W. Stauderman, Dutchess.

Seventh Flight—B. Stauderman, Dutchess, defeated J. Severino, Dutchess, 1 up. Beaten Four: Winner, J. DeMeo, Powelton.

Eighth Flight—Gene Krieger, Dutchess, defeated C. Costello, Dutchess, 1 up. Beaten Four: winner, P. Toner, Dutchess.

Ninth Flight — R. Russell, Dutchess, defeated E. Hickey, West Point, 2 up.

Tenth Flight — C. Botsford, D, won from R. Moltenby, Powelton, 5 and 4.

Major League Stars

Batting—Norm Cash, Tigers — The Detroit first baseman crashed three home runs as the Tigers split a doubleheader with Cleveland. He hit a pair of two-run homers in a 6-3 first game triumph and added another in the second game, won by Cleveland 4-3.

Pitching—Ray Sadecki, Cardinals — The 20-year-old southpaw limited San Francisco to two hits, winning the nightcap of a doubleheader 3-1. The Giants won the opener 6-4. Sadecki lost his shutout in the ninth when Willie Mays slammed his 18th homer.

Jensen, Hansen Stock Car Winners

Hoppy Jensen, of Wolcott, Conn., was the winner of the feature race at Rhinebeck Speedway on Saturday. On Friday night at Arlington, the veteran Hal McCarthy of Georgetown, Conn., slammed his way into the winners circle.

Dick Hansen of Red Hook led the Rhinebeck feature at the start and he kept his lead until the 13th lap. Jensen took over at that point and was never headed. Carl Fink came on fast at the end to take second with Ben Stone, John VanLeuvan, Carleton Hughes, Harry Brazee, Willie Boo, Harry Tripp and Bill Sunderland following the runnerup.

Gordy Hall of Kingston changed tires during the evening but he still won the sedan feature. Ike Houghtaling of Coxsackie and Jay Leonie of Kingston trailed.

McCarty and Bob Riley of Poughkeepsie staged a good duel at Arlington and they came across the wire in that order. Ray Anderson of Newburgh was third and Hoppy Jensen took fourth.

The sedan main event went to Jim Ketcham of Fishkill, followed by Dick Becker and Gordy Hall.

Piersall Goes On a Rampage In Detroit Game

CLEVELAND (AP) — The reformation this season in the behavior of Cleveland's Jim Piersall has been given a setback by the sting of a pitched ball on his right wrist.

It was the old Jim Piersall—emotional, fiery, irritating umpires and hamming it up for fans and a national television audience—who touched off a near donnybrook in the Indians' opener with Detroit Sunday.

The result was that Piersall, who was ousted from eight games last year, got thumbed from the field for the first time this year.

Piersall dashed to the mound to get pitcher Jim Bunning after he was nicked on the wrist with a pitch. Soon both dugouts were empty as players milled in a wild scramble.

"That guy (Bunning) has hit me six or seven times," declared Piersall later as he sat out the second game with a tender wrist. "I'm tired of it. He'd better stop throwing at people or somebody's going to get him."

No Intent

Bunning disclaimed any intent of aiming to hit Piersall, explaining:

"You don't think I'd be throwing at anyone with us leading by two runs and two guys on base. That wouldn't make sense."

Piersall threw a feeble left hook and followed with a right. Both missed as Bunning, wanting no part of a fight, ducked away. Then came an exchange of kicks. These were more effective. Both participants had shin scratches.

Piersall was such a problem last season the club gave him a week to "rest up" at home in Boston. His teammates called a meeting to deal with the problem and even Joe Cronin, American League president, called in the high-strung centerfielder for a "dutch uncle" lecture. But Piersall went his merry way.

Manager Jimmie Dykes put his thumb on Piersall this season and said all the problems with the umpires were over. Piersall played baseball and is having one of his greatest seasons, fielding brilliantly and hitting at a .346 clip.

Dean was recalled to Washington last week for consultation on the stalled Geneva talks. He appeared Sunday on a television news panel program NBC—Meet the Press.

Newburgh Determined to Rid Self welfare on a steady influx of outsiders, principally from southern states. They believe the increase in welfare cases is related to an ethnic shift in city population.

City relief rolls show that, during the period from 1950 to 1960, the white population declined by 13.6 per cent. During the same decade, the number of non-whites increased 151.4 per cent.

Situation Changes

In 1950 almost two-thirds of the welfare recipients were white. In 1960 more than two-thirds were Negro.

A committee of three citizens appointed by the City Council last November to survey the welfare problem said the increasing Negro population was the result of an influx of migratory workers and their families, relatives of migratory workers who follow and a possibly more than accidental movement from South to North.

Leave After Apples Picked

The local office of the State Labor Department disagrees with some of the findings. If by migratory workers the committee means fruit-pickers who come North during the apple-harvesting season to pick fruit in orchards north of the city, a department spokesman said, then it is wrong. It's records show that no worker hired through its office during the last two years has stayed in the community past the apple season.

Area orchard-growers who hire the fruit pickers back the department.

Known as Haven

Whatever the cause for the influx, nearly everyone here agrees with the committee's finding that New York State, if not Newburgh itself, is known in southern communities as a haven for those who would emigrate.

To change that impression as far as Newburgh is concerned, City Manager Joseph McD. Mitchell has taken several drastic steps since becoming city administrator in October.

In a surprise move in May, Mitchell ordered recipients of welfare checks to come to police headquarters to obtain them. Checks to the aged and infirm were delivered by police officers.

The purpose of the order, according to Mitchell, was to verify that the recipients actually existed, lived in the city and were qualified to receive welfare aid.

In all, 250 persons went to police headquarters to obtain their checks. All except 10 were interviewed briefly by police officers. Eighty-six checks were delivered by patrolmen. Persons in the City Home or in the infirmary or on child welfare received their checks through the mail as usual.

Checks Returned

As a result, one check was returned to the welfare department because the person to whom it was issued never appeared, four others were returned to the department because of changed circumstances of the families involved.

Mitchell's muster order brought severe criticism from local ministers and the State Welfare Department. But the cries were mild, compared with the furor set off June 20 when the city manager announced 13 new welfare regulations. Among them are rules to cut off payment to mothers of illegitimate children if they should have any more, require able-bodied men on relief to work for the city 40 hours a week, and convert cash payments, where possible, to vouchers for food, clothing, rent and the like.

Effective July 15

The regulations are scheduled to become effective July 15.

Officials of the State Welfare Department were quick to express strong disapproval. They said many violated the state Social Welfare Law and the Federal Social Security Act.

Newburgh City officials said they would go to court, if the state steps in.

Meantime, members of the Orange County Board of Supervisors are deliberating the city's request to have the county take over its welfare program. Such an action, if taken before July 15, could save face for both city and state officials.

But the outlook is that any move in that direction probably would not occur for many months.

Boy Is Found Safe, Snug in Camping Area

PINKHAM NOTCH, N.H. (AP) —While more than 100 men and a helicopter searched a White Mountain wilderness, missing Harold Daudelin Jr. 12, was found safe and snug Sunday in a camping area at the base of Mount Adams.

Daudelin, of Rochester, N.H., was one of 22 youngsters in a church group who planned to hike to a camp near the top of the 5,798-foot peak over the weekend. He disappeared about 8:30 a.m. Saturday during a violent thunderstorm.

A U. S. Forest Service official found the boy at Dolly Copp Cabins about 2 p. m. Sunday. He was unharmed except for minor scratches and insect bites.

States Reach Agreements On Their Income Tax Laws

CHICAGO (AP)—A key figure in the nation's ever-broadening state income tax picture these days is the fellow who earns his paycheck in a neighboring state.

He has been the subject of heated debate in the legislative chambers of several states that collect income taxes.

The big issue he poses is — which state gets to keep his income tax dollars, the state where he lives or the state where he works?

Thirty-six states and the District of Columbia now impose income taxes. Commerce Clearing House, a private agency that reports on tax laws, says many of the states have satisfactory agreements with neighboring states and others are working toward a solution.

For instance: When West Virginia passed an income tax law recently it was able to work out reciprocal agreements with neighboring Kentucky and Maryland, both of which already had income tax laws.

All three states have directed firms hiring nonresidents to reduce the nonresidents' taxes in the amount the employee is taxed in his home state.

But such harmony is not easy to come by when a great many more employes commute to one state than to the other. For example, approximately 150,000 New Jersey residents flock to New York jobs each morning compared with 50,000 or so New Yorkers who work in New Jersey.

New Jersey had no income tax, but New York has—and Jerseyites who worked there were required to pay it, about $50 million a year total.

Written into the New York tax law is a provision that nonresidents may deduct their home state's income tax from the amount imposed by New York.

New Jersey Law

Faced with the need to raise money for commuter transportation services, the New Jersey Legislature took a close look at this provision and adopted a new law.

From now on, Jerseyites who work in New York (and only they) must pay a New Jersey income tax in the same amount imposed on them by New York. In effect, they would simply begin paying their entire New York tax to New Jersey.

For its part, New Jersey will begin withholding for New York the income tax of the New Yorkers working in Jersey—about $10 million a year which the New Yorkers theoretically had been required to pay to their home state but which heretofore had not been withheld from their Jersey paychecks.

Noting that the effect of this action would be to give New Jersey $50 million in exchange for $10 million, New York officials are anything but pleased. They point out the Jersey tax may be unconstitutionally discriminatory because it doesn't apply to all the state's residents. They anticipate a court test.

Other States Involved

Wisconsin and Minnesota also are involved in a tax controversy. It started when Minnesota adopted a withholding tax which Wisconsin said voided an old agreement that neither would tax the other's residents.

Negotiations were started to reach a reciprocal agreement but they collapsed when a Wisconsin legislative committee contended Minnesota stood to gain a half-million dollars a year because more Wisconsin residents are employed in Minnesota than vice versa.

The Wisconsin Assembly is studying a bill that would allow Wisconsin to tax the incomes of Minnesotans working there and distribute the money proportionately to Wisconsin communities whose residents work in Minnesota and are taxed there.

Thirty one of the 37 states which impose some form of income taxes allow their commuting residents credits for taxes imposed on their income is another states.

No such credits are allowed, however, In Alaska, Indiana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Tennessee and Wisconsin.

Open Space Flight Center to Anyone

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—The United States will openly take a step in space next Saturday where the Soviet Union practices secrecy.

One of the nation's top security areas—the Marshall Space Flight Center—will be opened to anyone who wants to take a look.

The Saturn rocket is on the list of special attractions, and any Soviets who happen to be around can drop in with the American tourists.

Why We Say--

ENGLAND: An eavesdropper is one who listens in on someone's conversation. The name goes back to a time in England when it was the law that there had to be enough room between houses so that the eaves of the roof could drip water on the owner's property. With houses loosely built, anyone standing in these spaces could listen in on what was going on in the house.

Eileen Schwenk Becomes Nun to Work at Missions

Thirteen young women from the Archdiocese of New York including a Kingston girl took part in a profession ceremony at the Maryknoll Sisters Motherhouse, Ossining, on June 24. Maryknoll Bishop John W. Comber presided and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Henry J. Lenahan, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes, New York City, preached.

Eileen Schwenk, St. Joseph's parish, Kingston, was one of 62 young women to receive the habit of the missionary community. She is a daughter of former Alderman-at-Large and Mrs. John J. Schwenk, 85 Dunneman Avenue, and graduated from Kingston High, and from Salve Regina College, Newport, R. I., with a BS in nursing. She was school nurse in Kingston City Schools. Her name in religion is Sister Marie Veronica.

Other New Yorkers were Sisters Thomas Michael, M. Francis Bernadette, Kieran Marie, and Ann de Lourdes, who pronounced first vows. These Sisters are now eligible for assignment to any of the Maryknoll Sisters 117 houses around the world.

In addition New Yorkers who received the habit include: Delores Barbeau, Barbara Cody, Maryann Dowling, Linda Montano, Noreen O'Connor, Dorothy Scanelli, Mary Valverde, and Eileen Zgardowski.

The Archdiocese of New York has given Maryknoll 107 professed Sisters.

The average American family is expected to spend $385 on home improvement in 1961. Manufacturers of housing equipment, furniture, and furnishings used $22 million worth of national newspaper advertising last year to inform the public of their products.

Consumer Survey Is Due Here

To Ask Families About Purchases

Seven local residents have been under special training for a survey in the city of consumer expenditures due to start June 30 and continue over the next four to six weeks, the U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics, announced today.

One of 66 locality surveys scheduled to continue into next year, it will be conducted "in connection with revision of the consumer price index, sometimes referred to as the cost of living index."

Canvass Announced

It is part of a program designed to modernize and improve the government's official measure of changes in prices of goods and services that consumers buy.

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy was recently notified that the group is to canvass in the city.

Families will be asked "to give information in considerable detail about the goods and services they buy, the prices they pay, how often they shop for food," and other information required to calculate the consumer price index.

All in Confidence

Those to be interviewed will be notified and information obtained will be held in confidence. All selected for the survey are asked to cooperate to the fullest extent because the index is an important economic factor in decisions made by government, business, professions, and labor groups, and has "a direct bearing on the living costs of all Americans." The last comprehensive survey of its type was made 10 years ago.

Third of City Budget Goes for Relief

Newburgh Determined to Rid Self Of Reputation as Welfare Resort

(Editors: Officials of the city of Newburgh, alarmed at the size of public welfare expenditures, have determined to cut the cost even at the risk of losing federal and state aid. State officials have expressed fear Newburgh's action might jeopardize federal aid to the entire state. The situation is backgrounded in this Associated Press membership enterprise story.)

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP)—This city nestled in the Hudson Highlands is determined to rid itself of its reputation as a welfare resort.

But the State Department of Social Welfare has expressed alarm over the measures Newburgh proposes to accomplish its aim. State officials say such action could jeopardize payment of federal funds to every community in the state—a total of about $150 million each year.

Plans Complete Control

What Newburgh proposes is to shun state and federal welfare regulations—and funds if necessary—to take complete control of its welfare program.

The picture of this city of 31,000 cutting itself from the apron strings of the federal and state governments has brought expressions of admiration from other state communities. But mixed with these expressions are words of concern. Under terms of the Social Security Act, as interpreted by some officials of the State Welfare Department, the federal government requires that, before granting aid to a state, all its welfare districts must meet the same standards.

NAACP Asks Probe

Also, the local branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People demanded Sunday night that the city's welfare regulations be investigated by federal and state authorities. Gloster B. Current of New York, national director of branches for the NAACP, made the demand at an emergency meeting of the local chapter.

Telegrams, expressing opposition to the new welfare program, sent to Gov. Rockefeller, Sens. Jacob Javits and Kenneth Keating, Abraham Ribicoff, secretary of health, education and welfare, and City Manager Joseph Mitchell.

Behind Newburgh's action are figures that show there had been an increase in welfare costs to the city every year for the last 10, even though the city has lost population and taxpayers during that period.

Third of Budget for Relief

The welfare budget has grown larger than the combined police and fire department budgets—a total of $983,085. Nearly one-third of the city's 1960 budget of $3,134,385 was spent for relief.

Today one in every 10 residents receives welfare aid of some sort. City officials blame the disproportionate number of persons on

Business Good, Bad Depending on Status

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Business in New York State is better or worse, depending on whether you sell cars, own a department store, or stand in an unemployment insurance line.

Generally, however, business is recovering—slowly, an Associated Press survey indicated.

Employment in New York State rose in May for the third consecutive month to a total of 7,265,000. There was also a rise in unemployment, attributed to an influx of job-seekers into the labor market. Total unemployment at mid-May was estimated at 490,000 or 5,000 above the mid-April figure.

The level of employment in May however, was 56,000 lower than in May, 1960.

Turning Into Sales

Where a year ago the public was not buying more than it needed, and sometimes not even that, window shopping has begun turning into sales. There have been, however, no drastic changes in the business climate of 1961. And the general outlook for the remainder of the year is one of large hopes for small gains.

In New York City, for example, Macy's reports that sales in May show a lifting of the recession. Better weather and signs of a strengthening economy are boosting sales, a Macy spokesman said.

Others Do Business

Other retailers in New York City also say customers have begun buying again.

The New York-Greater Long Island-Westchester automobile Association reports sales of new and used cars are down.

In Buffalo and Syracuse, businessmen talk of a fine spring recovery and a bright outlook for the remainder of the year. But in Elmira a retailer commented:

"We're all cautious. The seller's mood is cautious—there's no indication here to make us optimistic about great prospects. ...our present situation isn't alarming anymore, but there's no reason yet to jump for joy."

Reason for Optimism

Why are they more optimistic in Buffalo, where 9.1 per cent of the city's 510,700-man work force was idle in May?"

For one thing, the steel industry, the rock of the local economy, reports a fine spring recovery. The Erie County Auto Dealers Association reports new car sales in the first quarter of 1961 were off only 1 per cent from the first quarter of 1960. Also, the February unemployment total was 12.1 per cent of the work force.

Picks Up in Syracuse

In Syracuse, the electrical machine industry — communications and electronic equipment — has picked up and increased employment.

Syracuse unemployment fell from 8,750 in mid-march to 6,295 in mid-May.

In Albany, where unemployment began dropping in March, savings are up, borrowing down, and the mood "cautious optimism."

Unemployment in State Seen Due to Influx of Job-Seekers

NEW YORK (AP)—New York State's employment rose last month to a total of 7,265,000, but there was also a rise in unemployment, estimated in mid-May at 490,000.

In announcing the figures Sunday, State Industrial Commissioner M.P. Catherwood attributed the unemployment rise of 5,000 over the mid-April figure to an influx of job-seekers into the labor market.

He noted that an employment pickup in March and April as well as May had restored 155,000 jobs—although the level of employment this May remained 56,000 lower than in May 1960.

Employment rose in every major industry between April and May, with construction, trade and the service industries showing the greatest gains. A 5,700-job rise in manufacturing was concentrated in the durable goods segment, led by the metals and transportation equipment industries.

Each of the state's major labor market areas reflected the improved employment picture, with the greatest percentage of month-to-month job gain—2.6 per cent—reported in Buffalo.

Unemployment and unemployment rates, while rising in New York City and Albany-Schenectady - Troy and remaining unchanged in Westchester County, declined in all other areas of the state

Identical Low Bids Rejected, Sent for Probe

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Identical low bids have been rejected by the state on contracts for laboratory supplies and equipment, sheet steel and crackers, the Office of General Services says.

The office, in a report to Gov. Rockefeller, listed 15 items, ranging from yeast to metal castings, on which identical bids currently were being received.

Also listed were seven commodities on which the practice of identical bidding had been terminated.

Gen. Cortland V. R. Schuyler, head of the state's purchase-and-supply operation, said in a letter to Rockefeller Sunday that he recently directed that "any instance where identical bids were submitted to this office, with no single low bid being received, all bids are to be rejected. The identical bids are to be referred to the attorney general."

Schuyler said the first bids rejected were on three items in a contract for liquid chlorine, submitted July 7.

Identical bids currently were being received, he said, on certain laboratory equipment and supplies, sheet steel and crackers.

"Awards have not been made on these items," he said.

Schuyler listed these other commodities on which identical bids currently were being submitted:

Drafting tables, certain electrical supplies and equipment, engineers' measuring tapes, insecticides, certain metals and castings, rock salt, tires and tubes, tracing cloth and paper, typewriters, weed killers and yeast.

Identical bidding has been discontinued, Schuyler said, on contracts for tranquilizing drugs, liquid chlorine, anhydrous ammonia, polio vaccine, antibiotics, insulin, and dental equipment.

Support Is Pledged On Berlin

Governors of Two Parties Back JFK

HONOLULU (AP) — Governors of both political parties pledged strong support today to President Kennedy in his dealing with the Soviets on Berlin and other crisis areas.

But Kennedy's domestic policies came in for sharp criticism from some Republicans and a Democrat who was one of his early supporters for the 1960 presidential nomination, Gov. John Patterson of Alabama.

Patterson kicked up some excitement on the outskirts of the 53rd annual Governors' Conference by blasting what he called the "childish" handling of the "Freedom Riders" bus controversy by the President's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy.

Asks Halt of Blasts

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York—who might be Kennedy's Republican opponent for the presidency in 1964—called for a moratorium on political criticism of the administration's international moves.

Rockefeller told a news conference Sunday that Kennedy obviously faces a great many problems "more complex than they looked from outside," the presidency. He said it was too early to make any judgments.

Notes Complex Problems

"The problems are so complex, so serious, they have such an effect on human dignity and liberty around the world I feel all of us, regardless of party, should stand behind him to support the defense of freedom with whatever steps are necessary," Rockefeller said.

Rockefeller's attitude contrasted with criticisms voiced by for-

Kingston Savings Bank to Increase Rate of Interest

Kingston Savings Bank has announced its intention to increase its rate of interest-dividends to 3¾ per cent a year on all funds on deposit for two years or longer, effective with the quarter beginning July 1.

Lloyd R. LeFever, president, said the bank petitioned the New York State Banking Department on behalf of its depositors for this, the highest dividend rate any bank is permitted to pay.

The extra quarter of one per cent was approved by Kingston Savings Bank's trustees to encourage long-term savers. Savings on deposits less than two years will receive the current rate of 3½ per cent a year.

Interest-dividends are allowed on all regular savings and school savings accounts from date of deposit and are compounded and credited four times a year.

Revolt in Barcelona, Governor Is Seized

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) —Occasion of previous uprisings Troops based in Barcelona revolted today against President Romulo Betancourt. The Interior Ministry said the rebels had seized the town's radio station station and announced they had captured the Anzoategui state governor, Gen. Rafael Solorzano.

Loyal troops and navy men were dispatched to Barcelona, Anzoategui's capital and commercial center near the Caribbean coast, to quell the uprising.

A related attempt at rebellion at La Guaira, the seaport for Caracas, was reported quickly crushed.

Betancourt called on the garrison of Barcelona, reported to number 350 officers and men, to surrender or face an attack by loyal forces.

Barcelona is a Caribbean port of about 26,000 population some 135 miles east of Caracas, the capital.

Rebellion Localized

The government said the rebellion was localized at Barcelona and that the Betancourt regime had the backing of all other members of the armed forces.

At La Guaira a sublieutenant of the national guard, the Federal Police, was reported to have led a detachment that tried to seize the electric power plant supplying Caracas. But loyal army forces drove off the rebels.

Outside Barcelona the country was reported quiet. Traffic was detoured two blocks away from the Miraflores presidential palace. The only military guard on duty there was a detachment of steel-helmeted soldiers. On the

Summer Movie Plan Not Favored By Kingston P-TA

The Kingston Parent-Teacher Association Council does not endorse the summer vacation movie program at the Community Theatre, it was announced today by Mrs. Thomas Maines, president of the Council.

In a statement today Mrs. Maines said that last year "there were pictures shown that many parents felt were not appropriate for young children."

She pointed out that the Council took such action also because it was felt that an endorsement of the movie program would be against Parent-Teacher Association non-commercial policy.

She charged that the local theater is "using our principals, teachers and office personnel, paid by you, the taxpayer, to sell tickets in the schools," listing this as another reason the Council is "so much against this program."

Perhaps also, she said, "a subconscious but deep-seated reason for such violent objection on the part of many parents is that parents do not want their children to become habitual movie-

Health And Safety Are Considered

Emergency Board To Check Facts

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today invoked the Taft-Hartley Act in an effort to halt the strike of maritime unions.

In an executive order, the President said the strike will, if permitted to continue, imperil the national health and safety.

At the same time, Kennedy set up a three-member emergency board to consider facts and circumstances of the dispute between sea-going unions and ship operators.

Friday Is Deadline

Kennedy set a deadline of Friday for the board to make its report.

The board, under Taft-Hartley law, will make no recommendations, but will merely report on the issues of the dispute.

Kennedy, unless the strike is settled in the meantime, presumably will then seek an injunction to halt the strike for an 80-day cooling off period.

The first step of the injunctive machinery is to ask for a temporary restraining order. Under the law, the federal judge who gets the application must grant the temporary restraining order.

Members of Board

Kennedy named David L. Cole as chairman of the emergency board.

Cole is former head of the federal mediation and conciliation service.

Other members are Samuel I. Roseman of New York and Prof. James J. Healy of the Harvard Business School.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg told reporters the board is expected to act very promptly.

Goldberg had given the President a report on a weekend survey of the strike's impact.

In a statement accompanying his executive order, Kennedy said the strike already has resulted in serious interruptions in the movement of food, oil and other commodities.

Notes Cargoes Delayed

"The supply lifelines to the state of Hawaii have been cut," Kennedy said. "There have been delays in the shipment of military cargoes."

Kennedy took note of the suggestion of some union leaders that they are willing to ease the strike to permit the movement of military supplies and essential commercial cargoes.

"These suggestions appear, on first impression, more tactical than substantial," Kennedy said. "I request the board of inquiry to consider these suggestions however, and to include findings of fact regarding them in the report the board will submit to me."

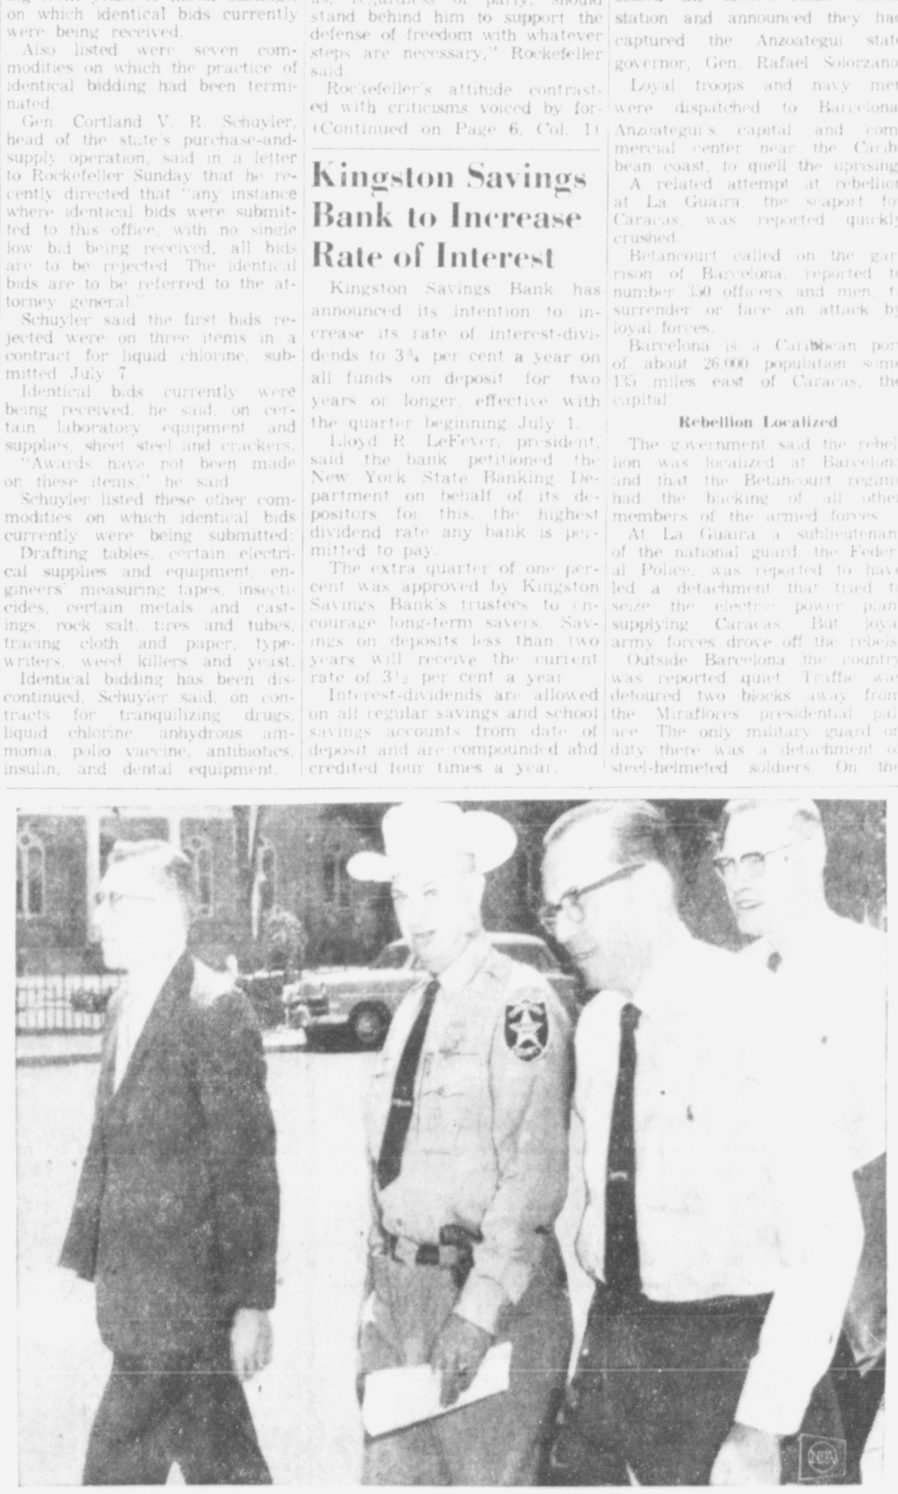

He's for Bargaining

Kennedy said that he was anxious that the dispute be settled through collective bargaining.

He urged that the unions and the ship owners involved to continue their bargaining and use the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, as well as the Emergency Board of Inquiry, in an effort to settle the dispute.

The action today does not bar

Police Hunt Woman After Boy, 3, Is Found Drowned

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Police pushed a round-the-clock search today for a slender, raincoat-clad brunette who they believe drowned a three-year-old boy by dropping him off a bridge after binding his hands and feet with her stockings.

The body of blond, blue-eyed Andrew Ashley was found near the shore of an artificial lake in 300-acre Delaware Park. The boy had apparently been dead since Friday afternoon, when he was reported missing.

More than 300 policemen and volunteers checked hundreds of North Side homes and police and Army guardsmen fanned through miles of wooded parkland in a two-day search for the youngster.

A neighbor said he last saw Andrew walking Friday with a tall, dark-haired woman. Police believe she was the same woman who left two other North Side youngsters bound and gagged next to railroad tracks recently. Both were found unharmed.

"We're dealing with a woman maniac," warned Mayor Frank Sedita.

Many North Side families weren't letting their smaller children outside. Some refused to talk to reporters.

All police leaves were canceled in the 57-man Colvin Street police station in the area of the slaying. Authorities elsewhere scanned newly compiled lists of people released recently from nearby mental hospitals.

The boy was found clad only in a tee shirt and undershorts but the Erie County medical examiner's office said he had not been sexually molested. A dishtowel was drawn tightly around his

Britain, Soviet Plan On Saving Laos Talk

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

GENEVA (AP) — The cochairmen of the international conference on Laos met today to determine how to keep the conference alive until Laotian leaders settle their internal disputes.

A British spokesman said the pace of the meetings might be slowed down to three a week until the three princes of Laos send a unified delegation to Geneva. Britain and the Soviet Union are the cochairmen.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, the neutralist leader who is virtually certain to become the next premier of Laos, predicted Sunday night that the Laotian crisis would end soon and a national coalition government would be formed.

The Geneva conference itself has degenerated, in public at least, into a forum for exchanging charges.

The Chinese Communists today accused the International Control Commission of interfering in Laotian domestic affairs. Canada's representative said the commission needed more equipment to travel in Laos and check on cease-fire violations. He accused the Communists of blocking requests for planes and other equipment.

Souvanna predicted a coalition government would be formed in Laos by July 20 but some American officials here said Souvanna appeared overconfident.

Souvanna told newsmen Sunday he will hold another meeting next month with the other two Laotian princes — pro-Western Boun Oum, premier of the royal Laotian government, and pro-Communist Souphanouvong of the Pathet Lao. He said they will draft a joint government proposal for presentation to King Savang Vathana, the ruler of the strategic jungle kingdom.

Souvanna added: "I could easily go to the king myself but this would be presumptuous. Any decision will be a joint one."

The three political princes at a meeting last week in Zurich agreed to ask the king to designate their future government "in the interest of perfect neutrality." But they did not go into details or make any specific nomination for premier.

Speaking with newsmen at a cocktail party in a Geneva hotel, Souvanna clearly indicated that he expects to head the new coalition regime. He said his military forces hold the upper hand.

"Our troops are everywhere," he said. "If I want to, I could march on Vientiane and Luang Prabang tomorrow."

Vientiane is the administrative Laotian capital and Luang Prabang the royal seat. Both are held by pro-Western forces of the Boun Oum government. The 2,000 or so troops reportedly loyal to Souvanna Phouma are far outnumbered by the 10,000 or more Pathet Lao guerrillas who, while recognizing Souvanna as premier, pay their real allegiance to Souphanouvong. Both forces are outnumbered by the American-equipped, American-trained royal army of 23,000 but these troops have shown almost no will to fight.

Laos remains under an uneasy truce with the international truce teams sent to police the proclaimed cease-fire stymied in Vientiane.

Reject Kassem's Claim on Kuwait

LONDON (AP) — Britain and Kuwait rejected today Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's move to annex the rich Persian Gulf oil sheikdom, Kuwait.

Britain also reaffirmed a pledge to go to the aid of the ruler, Sheik Abdullar Al-salim As'sabah if asked.

But qualified diplomats reported that the ruler made no request for immediate help in talks at his palace today with Britain's representative, John Richmond.

The sheik and the British agreed instead they would try to resist Kassem's takeover move calmly and quietly.

Both hope Kassem will be persuaded to modify his stand. Both are anxious to avert a major new Middle-East crisis that could upset the stability of the sheikdom that supplies 40 per cent of Britain's oil.

Local Criterions Corps, First at Firemen's Parade

The Criterions, comprising the recently merged units of Colonial Cavaliers of Port Ewen and Newburgh Ambassadors, were awarded the first prize trophy as the top musical marching unit in the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association convention parade at Hudson Falls Saturday afternoon.

More than 60 musical organizations participated. It was reportedly the largest parade ever to march in that city.

The newly combined corps to be known as the Criterions, has over 100 playing members, 69 of which are used in contests.

The Criterions represent Town of Esopus Post 1298, American Legion, and John T. Kenny Post of Newburgh.

The corps director is Spencer Myers of Kingston.

Corps advisors are Albert Macholdt of Kingston; Donald Newcomb of Newburgh, Walter Broughton of Highland, and George Garrison of Newburgh.

Other leaders are John Amarello, drum major; Joseph Genero of Brooklyn, bugle instructor; John Friesing of Newark, N. J., drum instructor, and Vincent Ratford of Brattleboro, Vt., drill instructor.

The Port Ewen corps, most active of all corps in this area and undoubtedly the most widely-known unit of the Hudson Valley area, will appear in the "Tournament o. Drums" a competition sponsored by the "Grey Knights" American Legion Drum Corps of Rochester, Saturday at Aquinas Stadium, Rochester.

On the following weekend, the Port Ewen corps will appear in the "Pageant of Drums" competition to be held at MacArthur Stadium, Syracuse, July 8. This event is sponsored by the "Brigadiers" Drum Corps of Syracuse.

These appearances will be preliminaries for the local unit after which it will appear for an exhibition at the Dietz Memorial Stadium, Kingston, on July 15.

The event, known as the "Pageant of Champions" will be sponsored by the Port Ewen Group and will feature in competition the "Caballeros," National American Legion champions 1961-62; the "Skyliners," four-time National American Legion champions; the "Brigadiers," New York State American Legion champions and National American Polish War Veterans champions; the "Hurricanes," Connecticut American Legion champions; and the "Sunrisers," Long Island DC Association champs.

Longest U. S. presidential inaugural address was delivered by William Henry Harrison and consisted of 8,500 words.

Hospital, Doctors and Nurse Are Sued by High Falls Man

Michael Burke, a former resident of High Falls, has brought an action for negligence and malpractice in Supreme Court against the Kingston Hospital, two doctors and a nurse to recover damages which he claims arise out of his confinement and treatment at the hospital back in March 1958.

Burke, admitted to the hospital on March 27, 1958, suffering from a peptic ulcer, alleges through the use of an improperly sterilized instrument used in treatment, he developed an infection of the arm and is now permanently scarred from the resulting operation. Burke is represented by Alfred Julian of New York City and Philip Korn of Kerhonkson.

Denies Negligence

The Kingston Hospital, represented by Donald H. McCann, denies negligence and alleges it is an institution which offers its facilities to the public and that it is equipped with the proper facilities according to standard practices and denies any responsibility.

Dr. David S. Gerbarg, who was one of the attending physicians, is represented by Joseph Balsamo, and Dr. Glenn Van Gaasbeek, surgeon, who was called in on the case, is represented by Donald Fager. Mrs. Elizabeth O'Leary, a private nurse who was in attendance on Burke, is represented by Howard C. St. John.

Charges Faulty Sterilization

It is alleged by counsel that Mr. Burke was admitted to the hospital in March 1958, in a very serious condition with ulcers. He was treated for a time and then left the hospital but later, in April of 1958, returned to the hospital for an infection of the arm. He alleges faulty sterilization is responsible for the arm condition. As a result of an operation on the arm, he now has severe scars on his arm.

The action was taken up today for trial before a jury and Justice William Deckelman in Supreme Court.

Robert Schnitzer, administrator at the hospital, was the first witness called to produce the hospital records. They were voluminous and a recess was taken shortly before noon to permit counsel for defense to examine the records.

Social Security Expansion Comes Up in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another of President Kennedy's major bills, a proposal to expand Social Security benefits, comes up for debate in the Senate today.

The Senate is expected to clear the House-passed measure handily, but not until after a flurry of oratory over a Republican proposal to write in a health insurance program for old persons.

The House, meanwhile, will debate Kennedy's request for another $5-billion increase in the national debt limit now standing at $293 billion.

Tuesday the House takes up the biggest appropriations measure of the session, the $42,711,105,000 Defense Department bill.

Both branches hope to clean up a big batch of major bills by Thursday so members can get away for a long Fourth of July holiday weekend.

Rush Money Bill

In addition to Social Security, the Senate will act on a rush money bill carrying funds for the U.S. share of the U.N. Congo operation, a Commerce Department appropriations measure and the debt limit bill.

Both House and Senate must clear the highway financing bill containing $11.56 billion in revenues over the next 11 years to keep the Interstate system on schedule.

The 4 cent federal gas tax will drop to 3 cents on Saturday if this measure is not signed into law by that time; it continues the 4 cent rate and imposes new tire and truck levies. The compromise version of the bill already has been worked out.

Changes in Law

The Social Security bill up for consideration in the Senate lowers to age 62 the retirement age for men, increases the minimum Social Security benefit, raises the monthly payments to widows of retired workers, and makes other changes in the law.

This is one of the items on Kennedy's 16-point legislative program submitted to Congress in February. So far nine have been sent to him for signature.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. has announced he will raise the issue of medical care for old persons in the Social Security debate by offering his $750-million annual federal grant plan.

This is expected to meet solid Democratic opposition. A similar Javits proposal was beaten 67-28 last year.

The New York senator proposes a system of federal grants to help pay for three types of optional health insurance plans for persons over 55 with incomes below $3,000 for an individual, $4,500 for a couple.

The steamer Sultana caught fire and sank near West Memphis, Ark., on an April night in 1865, carrying 1,457 persons to death.

Three Area Fires During Weekend

Three fires were reported in the area during the weekend, one of which destroyed a two-story frame residence on the Fox Hollow road, Shandaken.

A fire from a stove pipe damaged the former James C. Vosburgh house in Shady Saturday evening, and a blaze in an automobile at the Route 28 traffic circle Sunday afternoon was extinguished by the Spring Lake Fire Company.

The fire which heavily damaged a residence in Shandaken was of undetermined origin.

It occurred during the early morning hours Sunday. The Shandaken and Phoenicia fire companies responded, with the first call coming at 3:20 a. m.

The second floor was occupied by William Hummell, owner of the home.

Occupying the first floor, but not at home Sunday night when the blaze was discovered, were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rotella and their daughter.

Volunteer firemen were at the scene for several hours, returning to their stations about 7 a. m.

Houses nearby were protected from heat and flame. The Hummell residence had about five rooms on the first floor, and several upstairs.

Shady Home Damaged

Woodstock Fire Company No. 3 responded about 9 p. m. Saturday to the former Vosburgh house, now reportedly owned by a couple from South Carolina.

Fire reportedly started from a stove pipe connected to a wood range near the kitchen wall.

Flames burned the wall and studding and mounted into the upper section of the cottage, then began to spread. Firemen removed the upper section of the wall and a portion of the roof, stopping the progress of the blaze.

A booster hose and a 1½-inch hose stream were used. Quick response by the fire company (Lake Hill-Shady-Willow) reportedly prevented a more serious fire. Firemen cleaned up the kitchen before leaving. Woodstock Company No. 1 sent a pumper and emergency truck.

Roy Van Wagener, captain of the No. 3 company, was in charge at the scene.

Automobile Blaze

At 3:30 p. m. Sunday a 1955 sedan operated by Samuel Paul, 53, of Forest Hills, L. I., burst into flames.

The blaze reportedly resulted from a short circuit in the motor. The Spring Lake Fire Company responded and extinguished the blaze.

Traveling with Paul at the time were his two sons, 16 and 13 years of age, it was reported by Kingston state police.

Faces Brakes Charge

John E. Cooney, 52, of PO Box 331, Hurley, was charged with operating a vehicle with inadequate brakes after a mishap involving a gasoline pump at Broadway and Franklin Street Saturday night. Restriction Not Permitted in Notice of Sale

Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said Sunday that he has asked the referee in a mortgage foreclosure proceeding in Dutchess County to have removed from the notice of sale a restriction to the effect that the premises "shall not be sold . . . to anyone not of the Caucasian race."

Notice of the sale, published in a newspaper (The Harlem Valley Times) over the past several weeks, relates to a dwelling located in the Town of Amenia and is a part of the Lake Amenia development in Dutchess County. The foreclosure was brought by the First National Bank of Amenia against Richard T. Baribeault.

The notice followed a judgment of foreclosure and sale.

Attorney General Lefkowitz called the attention to the official referee, who was named to conduct the sale by the Supreme Court, Dutchess County, that the United States Supreme Court in a decision in 1948, had ruled that such restrictive covenants in deeds may not be enforced by the courts.

Plan for Downtown

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)A four-point program for preventing the decline of downtown areas was outlined here by Victor Gruen of Detroit, an architect and authority on city planning. It included: (1) Restoration of accessibility to downtown with new and improved public and private transportation carriers; (2) Freeing of downtown areas from congestion by private automobiles, particularly through construction of loop roads surrounding the areas; (3) Middle-income housing in downtown areas, and (4) more downtown conveniences such as arcades, colonnades, covered streets and rest benches.

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP—Peggy Ann Starkman, Kingston High School senior holds scholarship grant of Singer Sewing Machine Company presented by James K. Able, (right) general agent of the company. Witnessing the presentation are the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Starkman of Boice Lane. The grant is based on National Merit ratings and given to a student who aspires to teach home economics. (Freeman photo)

Kingston Senior Wins Singer Grant

Peggy Ann Starkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Starkman of Boice's Lane, is one of five young women throughout the nation who will enter college this fall on Singer Sewing Machine Company merit scholarships to prepare to become high school or college teachers of home economics, it was announced today by J. K. Able, general agent of the company.

The cash amount of the scholarship ranges from $250 to $1,500 per year for the four college years and is calculated by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation according to a formula based on the student's financial circumstances.

Where a scholarship winner attends a privately supported college, the Singer Company will provide a supplementary cost-of-education grant to the college, on a graduated basis, to help cover that portion of the cost of a college education not covered by tuition.

Miss Starkman is in the senior class at Kingston High School where she is a member of the school band and orchestra, a member of the yearbook staff and Prisma girls' service organization.

Miss Starkman plans to attend Cornell University next September.

National Merit Scholarship examinations for high school juniors are conducted in March of each year. Girls who wish to be considered for a Singer Company merit scholarship are invited to consult with their high school principal early in their junior year to arrange to take the National Merit qualifying tests.

Those who became finalists as a result of their high test scores may then indicate that they plan to teach home economics in high school or college after graduation from college. It is from this latter group of finalists — future teachers of home economics — that the five best will be picked each year as winners of Singer Company merit scholarships.

NEW U.N. JOB PLAN

A committee report on dividing up United Nations jobs among member states is a further indication of how that international body is changing. If the concept recommended in this report is approved, the influence of the United States is going to dwindle even further.

Under the present system, the 1,300 professional jobs in the United Nations are allocated to countries on the basis of their share in financial support of the U.N. This gives the United States, far and away the heaviest contributor according to the formula now in operation, a preponderance of the jobs. This has naturally brought complaints, many of them from the Soviet Union.

The committee of experts has recommended that henceforth jobs be allocated mainly on the basis of population. This would greatly favor such populous but poor nations as India, even though some jobs would continue to be allocated on the basis of a nation's share of the U.N. assessments. If Communist China were ever admitted to the U.N. — and its eventual admission seems more and more likely as more nations balk at keeping the question off the agenda—it would automatically be assigned a large number of jobs under the proposed arrangement.

The danger signals, so far as the United States is concerned, are obvious. Less obvious, though perhaps no less important, is the possibility that there may be some advantages for the United States in having the U.N. jobs spread around. When other nations are more deeply involved in the workings of the U.N. machinery, they may be less inclined to drop monkey wrenches into it. Still, the conclusion is inescapable that if the new proposals are adopted the United States is bound to have less of a hand in the inner workings of the United Nations than it now has.

The head of the "American Republic Army," charged with conspiracy in the microwave tower bombings, says his outfit advocates political overthrow of the U. S. Apparently he figures politics should be explosive stuff.

To hear a lot of commencement speakers tell it, the graduates are all going to become the leaders of tomorrow. Which may result in a shortage of followers.

SAFETY AND SANITY

It wasn't too many years ago when fireworks were a real problem in this country. Kids were losing fingers, hands and eyes during the supposedly happy days of their summer vacations.

Rallying under the battle cry, "Have a safe and sane Fourth of July," parents, educators, civic leaders and elective officials finally curbed the fireworks problem.

But the need for a safe and sane Fourth has not diminished. Motorists are literally driving themselves to death over the long Fourth of July weekends, and drownings have surpassed traffic deaths in some states as the leading cause of death over the holiday period.

The National Safety Council, pinpointing these holiday accident problems, makes two suggestions which we think make a lot of sense.

One is pretty simple. Learn to swim. That means everybody learn to swim. Can you think of a better way to avoid drowning?

The second suggestion is to install and use seat belts. Seat belts may not prevent an auto accident, but they can be worth your life if you should have a collision.

Seat belts and swimming lessons—two very sane keys to Fourth of July safety.

Howard Pyle, NSC president, says these are ways we can "Free ourselves from the tyranny of accidents." This is a good thought for Independence Day.

Problem for psychologists: What makes a man groan about cutting the grass, but then fertilize it so he'll have more to cut before long?

'These Days'

AN ARGUMENT

The world is a-welter with great events and big men stalk the universe like fabled giants, But every once in a while, someone picks a private fight which in principle is as significant as the battles of the great. For when all is said and done, what concerns us most deeply is the freedom of man. Twice we have gone to war about that and while we have not altogether won our way, we also have not lost. We do survive in our peculiar manner and if some despair, there are enough who are hopeful.

This little private fight that I converse about herewith deals with a machine that is used instead of postage stamps. Alongside the stamped part, there can be an advertisement of sorts. The manufacturer of the machine does not sell this instrument but leases it; thus the proprietary interest remains with him, although it is difficult to see that he assumes any responsibility for what is said. Thus, when the advertisement is used to encourage the sale of government bonds, no one can sue the manufacturer of the machine if the bonds go down.

However, the Post Office does not like the impression that it endorses certain advertisements, or so the manufacturers believe.

Along comes a textile manufacturer in Tennessee who wants to convince the American people that this is a republic not a democracy. He wants that stamped on all envelopes with a slogan thereanent. Personally, I cannot get excited about slogans on envelopes because I never look at envelopes. However, if a free man wants to do it, why stop him? Suppose he wants to say, "Hip, hip, hooray!" What then?

The manufacturer, however, views the matter differently. He says:

"The objections from the public to editorial postmark ads stems almost entirely from the fact that a great many people are under the misapprehension that they have been printed, sponsored, or authorized by the Government. This is not a question of opinion, but an established fact. This misapprehension can never be wholly overcome as long as the Government itself uses its own postmarks over adhesive stamps almost constantly for editorial slogans and messages."

The theory of the writer of this statement is that the government can do no wrong but that the citizen must be careful. The textile manufacturer has a sense of humor and dislikes being involved in controversy, So he has ordered a plate to read:

"We pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands."

This cannot be controversial because it is recited by children in schools, by their mothers in women's clubs, by their fathers in service clubs. It is a slogan for universal application.

However, the stamping machine manufacturer got out of it by this paragraph:

"At the present time, the policy which we follow in the furnishing of the advertising plates is being reviewed and modified. Temporarily, therefore, we are only furnishing plates which have to do with a specific commercial product or service."

I wonder what would happen if someone wanted a plate reading, "Our Father, Who art in Heaven," or maybe the Preamble to the Constitution or a stanza of the Beatitudes. These can be very controversial subjects, particularly since the United States Supreme Court has ruled God out of Maryland which was founded so that men might worshop God in the Catholic fashion as Pennsylvania was founded to give the Quakers a place where they might keep their silences without their ears clipped off for heresy.

In a statement, the meter manufacturer says:

"As a matter of policy, the Post Office never uses its cancellations for political or controversial propaganda of any kind. Experience has shown that any ads or slogans of this nature are considered by the public to be highly improper for use with postmarks whether they be with meter stamps or in stamp cancellations."

It always astonishes me how various people know what ads or slogans the public likes or dislikes. That yardstick is hardly a measure of any kind, because the public does not speak up. If they did, it would be a sorry day for many. How many of the American people look at a slogan on an envelope and say:

"Forsooth, this is indeed controversial. Let us shoot the controverts."

More likely, one tears the envelope and throws it away, gazing upon contents thereof with hope or misery. How seriously can one take himself in these hot days!

Tracking Down Allergies Which Distress Children

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Some of the allergic disturbances of childhood are easily recognized. When the sensitizing substance (allergen) is something present only on special occasions, like strawberries or pollen, it's not too difficult to follow a clue. When the effects of the allergen are easily visible, like an attack of hives or an infantile eczema, the nature of the disturbance is strongly suggested by its character.

But when the sensitizing substance is just one of many ingredients of many basic foods acceptable to the child, the clue is more difficult to follow. Such is the situation that prevails in the case of allergic disturbances due to milk, eggs, chocolate and wheat, the most common of the food allergens.

And when these common food allergens produce signs that are vague, the problems of diagnosis and relief or cure are almost impossible of solution.

To illustrate these important points in child health, a group of specialists made a four-year study of food allergies in childhood. Almost without exception, the youngsters suffered ill-defined disturbances. These included easy fatigue, irritability, skin pallor, circles under the eyes, stuffy noses, rebellious behavior, unruliness, lack of interest in school work and in play, sleepiness, crying spells, frequent bellyaches or headaches, excessive perspiration and aches or pains in legs or back.

Parents were apt to report that the child "wasn't herself" or that he or she was "moody" so that they never knew what to expect from hour to hour or day to day.

Now in the case of sensitivity to milk, eggs, chocolate or wheat, it takes a Sherlock Holmes to locate the criminal. First of all, it's not easy to prepare a diet for a youngster and exclude the most suspect of the allergens. Secondly, it's equally difficult to police the child and make sure he doesn't sneak in a candy bar or an ice cream cone or some other goody that contains the suspected allergen.

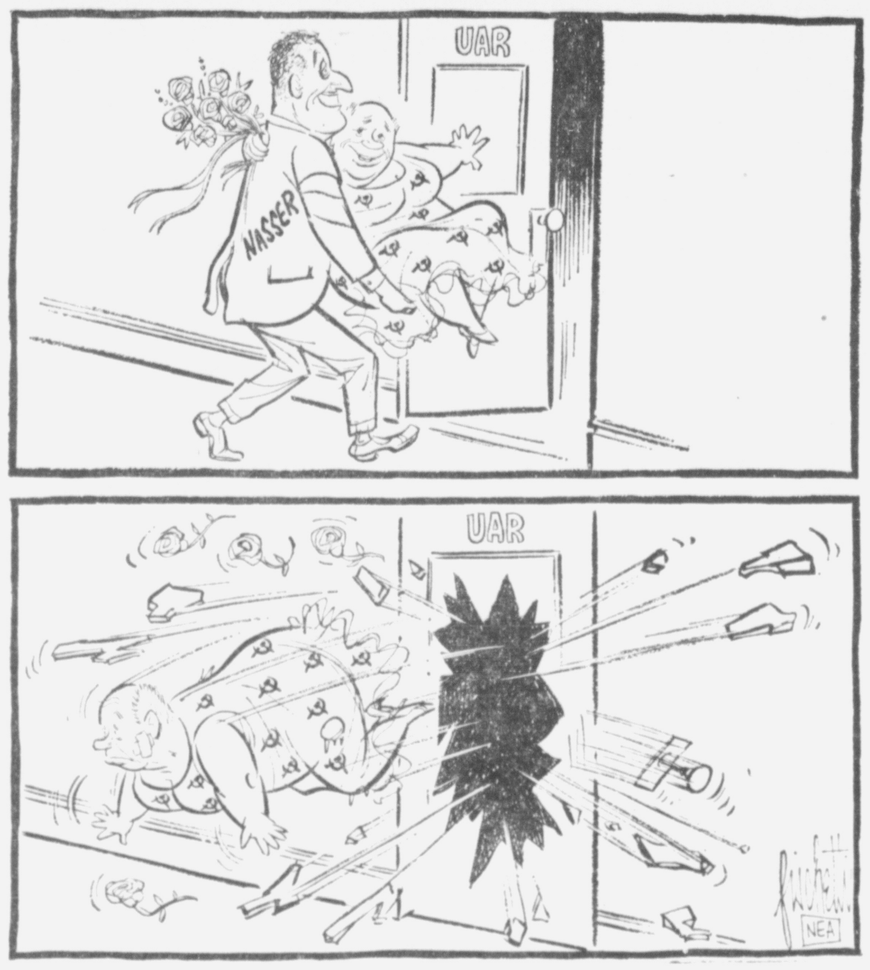

Nor does it do any good to blame the trouble on a lack of vitamins, emotional instability, anemia, parental neglect or juvenile delinquency.

What has to be done is the type of domestic detective work I've emphasized so very often. The intelligent and conscientious parent must keep a list of every morsel of food or drink that passes the child's lips and, besides the list, entries describing the youngster's reactions and responses. It's easiest to begin with chocolate, then eggs, then wheat, then milk.

When and if the elimination diet provides a definite clue, the next step is to add the suspected allergen so as to deliberately reproduce the distress. To make doubly sure, repeat both parts of the experiment at least twice.

That accomplished, treatment is a cinch. No vitamins, iron pills, psychotherapy, tranquilizers or pep-up pills. Just omission of the proved allergen. And, if that's successful, outside observers such as the child's teacher may be led to remark, "Why, I don't know what's come over him. He just doesn't seem like the same child."

Over the Threshold

Washington News

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The American people may be well advised not to kid themselves that the Berlin situation can be handled without risk of war. But some questions are being raised here on whether Russian Chairman Nikita Khrushchev means everything he says about it.

Analysis of the Khrushchev memorandum reveals a few fuzzzy areas. It is not considered an ultimatum. It was not handed to President Kennedy personally. A Russian aide gave it to an American aide at the end of the talks in the Russian Embassy in Vienna on Sunday, June 4.

THE MEMORANDUM ITSELF DOES NOT SAY the German problem must be settled within six months. But Khrushchev said this personally to Kennedy and repeated it in his broadcast to the Russian people after he returned to Moscow.

In section three of Khrushchev's memo he says, ". . . the Soviet government advocates the immediate conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany." In section six he says, "The Soviet government proposes that a peace conference be called without delay." Then he proposes an interim solution for a definite time.

This would allow for peace talks between East and West Germany. The memo says, "The Soviet government regards a period of not exceeding six months as adequate for such talks."

A PREVAILING OPINION IN WASHINGTON is that talks between East and West Germany would be impossible to arrange and would settle nothing if they could be arranged, for the two governments have no common political beliefs.

Khrushchev therefore specifies that if the Democratic and Communist republics cannot agree, ". . . measures will be taken for the conclusion of a peace treaty with both German states or with one of them, at the discretion of the countries concerned."

This is taken to mean that Russia would make a separate peace treaty with Communist Germany, along the lines Khrushchev has outlined since a speech he made at the Polish Embassy in Moscow, Oct. 10, 1958.

He said then that six months was ample time to get going. But he did not mention his plan to make Berlin a free city. He added that in a speech delivered later.

When Khrushchev first made this suggestion, it is now believed that he thought the United States, Britain and France would accept his plan as a face-saving way to get their troops out of Berlin without a military defeat.

KHRUSHCHEV WAS apparently taken aback by Western opposition to this idea. He did not realize the enormous symbolism of Berlin to the West. He therefore babied his plan along for 2½ years. The question is why he chose this moment for a showdown, completing a cycle by returning to the original six-months' time limit.

The answer to this question is still speculative. For no one really knows, not even the experts.

One theory is that the Russians now believe that political as well as military strength is shifting in their favor. This would give them a balance of power and enable them to force a major humiliation on the West over Berlin.

Another theory is that Khrushchev may be doing this as a test, believing that the United States will not fight. Khrushchev himself is apparently ready to risk a world war over Berlin. His expressions of intent must be taken seriously.

SO, WITHOUT PROVOKING a war, the problem of the U. S. and its allied powers is to convince the world they are in Berlin by right and will stay there until the prospects for a unified free German people can be realized, fighting to maintain these conditions if necessary.

At any rate, the world seems headed for the greatest confrontation at the brink since the end of World War 2.

Freedom Riders Seen Echo Of 'Courts Are Too Slow'

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Time was when public opinion in America decried the "lynching" of Negroes and denounced those white mobsters who said, "the courts are too slow" and "we can't wait for the courts—he's guilty, anyhow."

In recent weeks dozens of "Freedom Riders" have been going to Alabama and Mississippi for the express purpose of conducting so-called "non-violent" demonstrations that have frequently produced violence. The cry of the demonstrators is: "We have waited long enough for the courts to act."

As a result of these regrettable activities, the United States Information Agency has just reported to the Education and Labor Committee of the House of Representatives at a hearing in New York that reaction to the violence in Alabama was so sharp abroad that it outweighed attempts by "well-informed journalists" to put the events into perspective.

'Bad Practice'

The information agency said that the "world-wide headlines and news stories presented a stark picture," but the "Voice of America" broadcasts "have resulted in a more perceptive reaction to the deplorable recent episodes than was true a few years ago—say at the time when Little Rock was in the headlines."

Perhaps the most significant comment was transmitted to the hearing by Edward R. Murrow, head of the U.S.I.A., who declared: "We cannot make good news out of bad practice."

"It is "bad practice," of course, when the Republican administration sends in Federal troops or the Democratic administration sends in Federal marshals to do that which the states primarily are empowered to do by the Federal Constitution — namely, to handle police cases inside a state. The moment the Federal authorities assume the right arbitrarily to pass judgment on the efficiency of local government—something not authorized by the Federal Constitution—it becomes a news story of world-wide importance.

For, in effect, it is a confession that Federal court procedures are considered too slow to satisfy the mob spirit. Racial disturbances have gone on for years in different parts of the country—including the north—but unless the President of the United States or the Attorney General by sensational intervention gives these disturbances international news value, many of the incidents do not even make the front pages at home.

Discord Elsewhere

The United States Information Agency's latest report assesses the Alabama and Mississippi incidents "in terms of their impact on the American image abroad." But who and what makes the "American image"? How can any fair assessment be made by peoples in those countries which are themselves permitting riot tactics? The Murrow report gives a summary of reactions in different areas of the world—Africa, the Far East, Western Europe and Latin America, as well as in the Soviet Union and Communist China. But in almost every territory mentioned it would appear that there are "people in glass houses throwing stones."

For in Africa scarcely a week passes without riots or disorders, many of them resulting in loss of life in the newly created states.

Who can serve as critic in France where over the week end the Premier had to resort to nation-wide radio to stem the mounting anger of French peasants who, as one dispatch puts it, "are blocking roads and storming official buildings to call attention to the sorry state of French agriculture"?

In Great Britian, there are demands in parliament for a quota on Negro immigrants — a form of segregation.

In Latin America, demonstrations have occurred in the last few days against an official representative of the United States government — Adlai Stevenson, Ambassador to the United Nations. He says the demonstrations against him were Communist-inspired.

Few Immune

Few countries today are immune from artificially contrived demonstrations which are deliberately initiated to stir up trouble, and perhaps these hurt a nation's "image" before the world.

It is, to be sure hard to offset the effect abroad of dispatches that exaggerate troubles inside the United States, but it should not be as difficult as the U. S. Information Agency claims it is to give the true story of what the "Freedom Riders" did with or without the encouragement of the Kennedy administration to stir up friction and bad feeling that inevitably resulted in violence.

The Federal courts could have dealt with the problem of waiting-room "integration," and the Interstate Commerce Commission could long ago have given them the legal basis. But the originators of the "Freedom Rides" thought they could get better publicity by demonstrations, persumably because they felt that "the courts are too slow."

Needed at Home

It is here at home that an information agency effort is needed, especially among those impassioned individual who think the answer to every ill is an executive order by the President," to be issued without waiting for the courts.

For just a few days ago the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro leader who has been in the forefront of the so-called "non-violence" movement in the South, declared that he intends to demand of the President that he put an end, by executive order, to segregation throughout the United States. He says this is needed to prevent Negroes' bitterness from rising to "an explosive point." Apparently he doesn't want to wait for the "slow processes of the courts."

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Certain foods and aromas bring back pleasant memories to me. I remember when my father used to take me to Kingston Point Park during the hot summer days, I used to beg for red birch beer soda. It was a nickle in these days. I also wanted nickle Cracker-Jacks. Both of these items my father had in the store, but only down at Kingston Point did I have a desire for them.

When we were down at 46 Broadway, Bessie Avenet had a grocery store at 57 Broadway. It was a very special grocery, for she used to make many of the food items herself, or cut them in small portions. In this very hot weather, she would have 2-cent watermelon slices, icy cold, and so delicious. Someone would walk down the street eating one, and then all the neighbors would run over for them. I remember my father used to send me over for two slices. Mrs. Avenet must have known how to buy good sweet, juicy watermelons, for I seem to remember it with pleasure, although so long ago.

She made her own pickles, relishes, and had various smoked and pickled fish, that she was known for. Those were the days before frozen foods, and one ate foods in season. I remember, that whatever you bought in Bessie Avenet's was good.

Mrs. Barney Avenet, was a widow with two daughters, Ruthie and Sadye, with whom I used to play jacks on their blue stone steps. Not long ago, Ruth visited here, with her son, then just graduated from law school. He had the same pleasant smiling personality and dark eyes, of his mother and grandmother. They are relatives of Hilly Goldman, owner of Thieves Market on Route 9W.

Broadway in Rondout was a special part of town for me, and I guess for many others who visit here once in a while and ask about everything. They may modernize it, but it takes many years to give it character and personality. There was S. E. Eighmey's dry goods store, corner Mill Street and Broadway, where you could buy many imported items besides the ones made in this country. They trimmed hats for you, with flowers or ribbons you could pick out. You could buy all sorts of ribbons, buttons, and other notions, and each saleslady took a sympathetic interest in the customer's problem.

I see at the time, the Post Office was at 31 Broadway. Joseph Block had their dry goods store at 36 Broadway. Remember Dr. Arthur M. and C. B. Cragin, father and son dentists, in the Max Greenwald store building at 39 Broadway, corner Abeel Street. Dr. Samuel Stern, the optician was across the street at 42 Broadway. Michael J. Dippold had their place at 44 Broadway, we were next door. Then came Joe McTague's candy and tobacco store.

In those days, Edward Weber family had a big butcher shop across the street, corner Broadway and Abeel Street. They sold to all estates and private families in this section. They had the finest cuts of meat, and I remember when they received ice for their mammoth ice-box, thousands of pounds came down a big chute nearly all day.

I wonder how many remember Casper Michel's saloon, his barber shop, and also Michel's Hall at 53 Broadway. Many social events took place in Michel's hall. A. M. Safran's clothing and loan shop at 58 Broadway with its antique jewelry, guns, watches always interested us.

While associated with the radio industry he created such famous shows as Showboat with Lanny Ross; Town Hall Tonight with Fred Allen; Palmolive Beauty Box; Atwater Kent Hour and many others.

He is married to the former Betty Ghear, a beauty contest winner and Earl Carroll Vanities star who won the title of Miss Brooklyn in 1939. They have two children, Sally and Bruce.

Purchase of a ticket entitles one to observe the contest as well as swim for the day.

Health for All

Leave 'Em Alone

Whatever happened to the beauty spot? Time was, that women without a dark mole or two, painted them on. Now you don't see artificial moles. And people with natural ones have become unduly worried about them. There's a fear they may become cancerous.

Mostly a mole should be left alone. It should be removed only if it is very unsightly or if it is in a spot where it is constantly irritated. However, if a mole suddenly starts to spread, becomes darker, or gets lumpy, then you should let your doctor have a look at it. It may have become that one in a million.

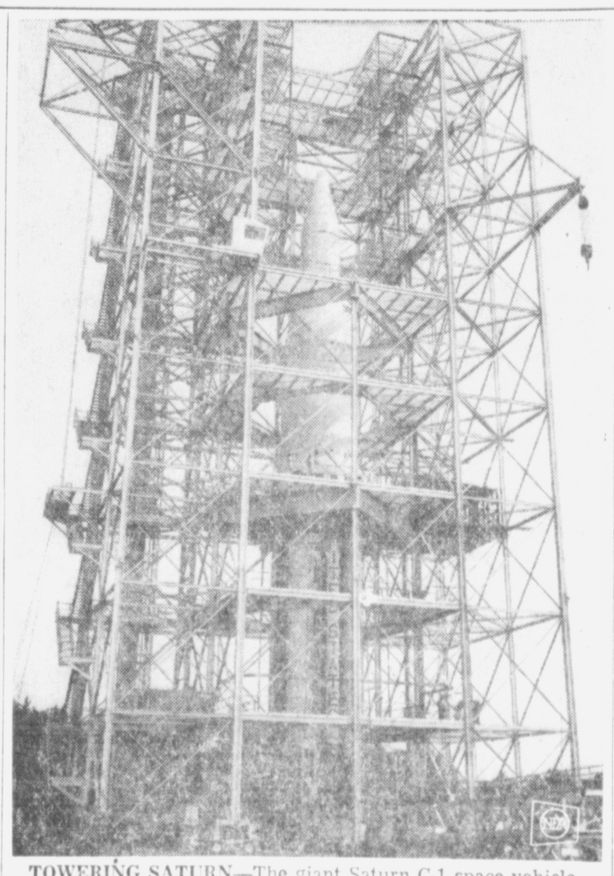

Moles are easily removed and they don't recur. Don't worry unduly about a mole, but don't take any chances either.

NEW YORK (AP) — Makers of women's suits approve wholeheartedly of the First Lady. She is one—if only one—of the reasons they see a revival this year in the popularity of the garments which had their last big vogue in 1952-54.

The President's wife frequently is photographed wearing a suit—and many women have noted it, sales personnel say. Men probably have noted it, too, and if they haven't given it a second thought they may when the first of the month bills come in this fall.

Suits to Take Over

Garment makers are always a confident lot when it comes to sales predictions. But backing them up are a number of retailers who report suit buying is up by 5 to 20 per cent. And some fashion experts agree that suits will have a bigger share of ladies' wardrobes this fall and next spring.

New York's garment district reports sadly than since 1954 a new generation has come along with a deplorably stunted interest in suits.

Was it because suits are long lasting and after the buying splurge in the early 50's closets seemed crowded with these basic garments? Was it the flight to the suburbs with emphasis on casual living? Was it the late 50's rush to spend for homes, autos and appliances that left little over for suits?

Well, the suit makers say, hopefully, that the end of the late, mild recession has coincided with the end of holding back on the buying of suits.

Have Disposable Income

More women now have the disposable income needed for suit purchases. Also many families now have paid for their major appliances and can upgrade their clothing budgets.

There's a growing population of college girls, young matrons and career women, all classed by garment makers as prime prospects for suits. The industry is especially aiming at the younger girls who have jobs now and can afford suits.

The Chicago Cloak & Suit manufacturers group says it is bullish about suit prospects for the first time in several years. The Chicago Fashion Guild says optimism is fed by the upward trend of the economy as well as by good sales results with store buyers.

Suit Sales Ahead

The Federal Reserve report on department store sales shows suit sales in March ahead in all areas, with New York and Richmond districts having the biggest gains.

Individual stores report sales gains tallied in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Cleveland, Chicago, Chattanooga and New York.

Women's desire to dress right and to wear suits, Her typical afternoon garb is the suit. This has given terrific impetus to suit demand."

A New York fashion authority gives credit to what she calls the young look, citing the closer body fit and longer jacket. She terms the range of colors and of fabric weights as the best in a decade.

Alvin Handmacher, president of Handmacher Vogel, agrees that an important boost to the business is being given by the variety available this year—velvet suits, cotton suits, knit suits, the soft look, the tailored look, the fur trimmed.

See 20 PC Rise

He also holds that many suburbanites are returning to big cities, where the casual look isn't the vogue. And the suburbs are getting citified, too.

David Zelinka of Zelinka-Matlick thinks retail sales should rise 20 per cent this fall with the right retail promotion.

Archie Davidow of Davidow Suits Inc. says sales are running five per cent ahead of last year and the outlook is good.

Burt Kwait, divisional manager of Felix Lilienthal, says the budget coat and suit market is bullish. He cites the flare silhouette in magenta, harvest gold, emerald green, turquoise, wild rice and Baltic blue.

But don't underestimate the news photographer.

"Whatever your politics," says Handmacher, "you will have to admit that Mrs. Kennedy has helped increase the American woman's desire to dress right and to wear suits. Her typical after-

Play Can Lose, But Can't Win

By OSWALD JACOBY

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The "nothing play" is a play that can lose, but can't win. It is the exact opposite of the "100 per cent play" that can win but can't lose.

West leads three rounds of hearts against South's four spade contract. South ruffs the third lead and if he wants to try a nothing play he simply runs off four trump leads and hopes that the clubs will break or that whichever opponent holds four clubs will have discarded one.

This isn't a real nothing play because it can work; clubs have been known to break 3-3. Also, there is no 100 per cent play at South's disposal, but he has a much better play than the one just mentioned.

South should draw two rounds of trumps and then lead out his ace, king and queen of clubs. The way the cards lie, East who holds four clubs and three trumps will be unable to keep South from ruffing out his last club and making his contract.

If the clubs happened to break 3-3, South would simply pull the last trump. If the man with two trumps held the four clubs South would not have been able to make his contract on any line of play.

Henry Ulrich Is Named to Office By Valley Vols

A Kingston man has been elected to an office in the Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association which concluded a four-day convention Saturday in Hudson Falls, Washington County.

Henry Ulrich of 156 Prospect Street was named Hudson Valley county vice president, a liason office between the county and the Hudson Valley Association.

Each of the 16 counties which make up the association are represented by a county vice president.

Support Pledged

mer Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee, and Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a potential bidder for the 1964 party prize.

To Take More Doing

In recent speeches Nixon has contended that the Kennedy administration has tended to "talk big and act timidly." Goldwater has said that it will "take a lot more doing than is being done" to win the cold war.

Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, California Democrat, said he believes the people are supporting Kennedy in the international field despite the Cuban invasion fiasco and the difficulties over Laos. He said he doesn't think this is the time for political criticism in that area.

Fear Public Not Awake

Brown and Gov. Steve McNichols of Colorado, the conference chairman, said in separate interviews, however, they fear the public is not sufficiently awake to the danger that faces the country if Soviet Premier Khrushchev should decide to force a Berlin showdown.

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, scheduled for a major speech at the annual state dinner Tuesday night, has been emphasizing the seriousness of the international situation.

Johnson arrived on the scene Sunday night to take the place of President Kennedy, who canceled out of his scheduled appearance before the governors last week.

Police Hunt

throat but death was ruled due to drowning.

Police had only descriptions of a woman provided by the neighbor and two five-year-old youngsters left tied beside railroad tracks recently in similar cases.

One of the youngsters, Richard Edgington, told police a woman lured him from playmates with candy Thursday and took him for a walk through the nearby city zoo before tying him up.

At one point, the youngster said, the woman threatened to drown him.

Police said she is apparently about 35.

When Andrew's mother learned that her son was dead she cried repeatedly:

"Who killed my baby? Who killed my baby?"

Later she thanked police and volunteer searchers.

Bumper Crop of Babies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation continues to have a bumper crop of babies.

More were born during the first four months of 1961 than ever before during the comparable period, the Public Health Service estimated today.

The total reached an estimated 1,382,000 registered births during the four months. The old record was 1,362,000 in 1959. Last year there was a drop to 1,340,000.

President Invokes Taft-Hartley Act

the unions from continuing the strike.

Restrainer Comes First

Under the Taft-Hartley Act, the 80-day cooling-off period does not begin to run until a restraining order is actually issued.

Kennedy said in his statement that he favored more flexible procedures for dealing with labor disputes such as the maritime strike.

He said Goldberg had sought, in the course of this dispute, to develop such procedures, but has been unable to obtain the consent of all parties. Goldberg had suggested the creation of a commission to study the dispute and make recommendations, rather than have it go through Taft-Hartley procedures.

Modifications Needed

Kennedy said the dispute "Presents new evidence of the imperative need for modifications in the present law."

The strike, now in its eleventh day, involves virtually all American shipping companies and 70,000 men.

The striking unions are the National Maritime Union, Seafarers International Union, National Marine Engineers, International Organizations of Masters, Mates and Pilots, the American Radio association, the Radio Officers Union, and the Staff Officers Association.

150 Ships Idled

An estimated 150 ships, including passenger liners, are tied up on the East, Gulf and West coasts. Strike losses have run to many millions of dollars a day and from Hawaii have come reports of dwindling food supplies and a piling up of exports.

Even if Kennedy decides to invoke the Taft-Hartley emergency provisions it would take a week or so before a strike-ending court injunction could be obtained.

In this period, a fact-finding panel appointed by Kennedy would review the dispute quickly and submit a report without recommendations.

Once this report is at the White House, Kennedy could tell the Justice Department to go after an injunction which would force the strikers back to work. The court order directs bargaining to resume, aided by the Federal Mediation Service, during the 80-day cooling off period.

Although Goldberg, former counsel for the Steelworkers Union, is not sympathetic to use of Taft-Hartley, he said over the weekend the law will be enforced if national health or safety is endangered.

'Plain Duty,' Goldberg

"Whether we like it or not this is our plain duty," Goldberg said.

Kennedy himself voted against the law while in Congress.

When former President Dwight D. Eisenhower used Taft-Hartley in the 1959 steel strike, Kennedy called use of the law "the most one-sided, unfortunate and unfair action in this administration's history."

Joseph Curran, head of the National Maritime Union, one of the six unions on strike, said Saturday that a Taft-Hartley injunction might only lead to a worse strike after the 80-day period.

Negotiations between the unions and the American Merchant Marine Institute, representing the ship owners, have been in a stalemate. The key issue in the strike is a union demand for bargaining rights among crews of American-owned ships flying foreign flags.

8 Blimps Done

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy handed down today a death sentence for its blimp fleet.

It announced that eight of its 10 active airships would be deflated and placed in storage by Nov. 30. The two others will be kept in service until a year from now for research and development work.

The decision was made because of a shortage of funds and personnel "combined with the increasing capability of helicopters and fixed-wing aircraft to perform all necessary anti-submarine and airborne early warning functions," the announcement said.

Mailman's Small Sum Best in High Priced Issue

Q) "I am a 32-year-old letter carrier with $300 to invest. I can also from time to time raise additional sums to build a portfolio over the years. I want to start with either Sears, Roebuck or lower-priced Montgomery Ward, and later work into other quality situations. Which of these two stocks would be better for my first growth purchase?" — R. J.

A) This is a question where the obvious answer is also the correct answer. There is no doubt in my mind that Sears, Roebuck (NYSE) would be a much stronger holding for you.

Sears is a top quality stock, representing an aggressively managed company with an expanding credit business and a valuable insurance subsidiary. The shares have more than tripled in price over the last decade and recently sold at record levels. Continued growth seems assured.

Montgomery Ward (NYSE), on the other hand, has been a disappointing stock for years. Earnings have been falling almost without letup since 1950, and last August the dividend was trimmed to 25 cents quarterly. Some recovery may develop when the company's expansion and promotion programs are further along, but I would avoid the stock for the present.

For later additions to your investment program, I suggest you consider such strong issues as General Foods (NYSE), Winn-Dixie (NYSE) and Georgia Pacific (NYSE).

Q) "I received some Laclede Gas stock from an estate, but I live too far away to know anything about the company first-hand. Is this a worthwhile holding?"—H. M.

A) "Laclede Gas (NYSE) supplies natural gas in the St. Louis area — one of the largest and most diversified manufacturing centers in the country. Growth of the company has been good, and the shares have acted well. Periodic dividend increases can be expected. I advise you to hold your shares for income plus gradual appreciation.

Po'keepsie Man Is Held on Charge Of Having Pistol

Local police Saturday arrested Ben Taylor, 23, of 185 Union Street, Poughkeepsie, for alleged illegal possession of a .32 calibre pistol, which under reported circumstances is listed as a dangerous weapon.

It is charged that the pistol was found in a 1955 Cadillac car driven by Taylor. Police said he had driven a woman to Kingston for treatment of an eye injury, and the car was parked near the hospital when the pistol was found.

A state police investigation of a reported altercation in the southern part of the county led to discovery of the pistol, after police were notified that Taylor possessed one. The arrest was by Detective Albert Hutton.

City Court hearing today was put over to Tuesday morning to permit time for further investigation of the charge. Bail, fixed at $1,000, was not immediately posted.

Business Good

April and May but would have been better with improved weather, they said.

In Rochester, unemployment rolls list 5,830 as of this month, compared with 6,831 in the corresponding period last year. Both Rochester Products and Delco Divisions of General Motors Corp. are recalling many of the workers laid off since last fall. Businessmen are optimistic.

Perhaps the business picture in New York State was best described by an executive vice president of the Jamestown Chamber of Commerce, when he said:

"I had coffee with a druggist, a hardware merchant, a furniture buyer, and a barber. They all said business was good and seems to be getting better. But individual replies vary. Sometimes it all seems to be getting better. But individual replies vary. Sometimes it all seems as muddy as the coffee we were drinking."

Jan Vermeer was not a prolific painter, doing only about 35 or 40 pictures.

new law can take away your savings account unless...

This is the law: Any savings account that hasn't had a deposit, withdrawal or interest posted for 10 years will be declared "abandoned property." And, by November 10th, it must be turned over to the State of New York.

This is all you do: If you or your children have a "forgotten" account, just bring in your passbook or mail it to your bank right away! Your interest dividends will be brought up to date and your money will be safe.

P.S. The law applies to accounts in any kind of bank or savings institution. But think how rich you'll feel if you discover yours is in a Savings Bank. Because Savings Banks pay the highest interest dividends of any bank in the state!

Sees U. S. Railroads Dying Under Taxes, Regulations

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—An Eastern railroad official warned today that the nation's railroads were faced with death or nationalization unless the government ended its discriminative public transportation policies.

David I. Mackie, chairman of the Eastern Railroad Presidents Conference, called for a "Magna Carta" for railroads, which would grant them "greater equality of competitive opportunity" and free them from "destructive taxation" and "stifling regulation."

He said a "helter-skelter" federal transportation program was responsible for decline of the railroads, and long-range governmental planning was needed.

Mackie made his observations in a speech prepared for delivery at the annual meeting here of the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors. The two-day meeting was attended by approximately 50 editors.

Must See Ahead

He called "socialization" of the railroads a "potential dilemma," which could be averted through "farsightedness."

Socialization has been a term that railroad officials have avoided using, even in making the direst predictions on the future of the railroads.

The federal government, he said, has expended through various agencies $181 billion for construction, operation and maintenance of air, highway and waterway transportation facilities without considering the overall transportation problem, nor considering the affects on railroads.

"It is necessary," he said, "that we immediately create governmental machinery capable of long-range planning, evaluation of need for proposed new transport facilities, fixation of appropriate and equitable user charges and appraisal of impact upon affected modes of transportation."

Too Much Regulation

Railroads, Mackie said, cannot compete equally with other modes of transportation because it is fully regulated by the government, while two-thirds of highway and nine-tenths of inland waterway freight movements are free of regulation.

Loopholes in federal regulations had increased the competitive disparity, he said.

Also included in today's program at the meeting was a panel discussion on newspaper public relations. The panel members included Vincent S. Jones, executive editor of Gannett Newspapers; Oxie Reichler, editor of the Yonkers Herald-Statesman; J. Leonard Gorman, editor of the Syracuse Post-Standard; and Dean Wesley C. Clark of the Syracuse University School of Journalism.

2 Truck Drivers Held for Jury in Area Girl's Death

NEWTON, N.J. (AP)—Two men charged with manslaughter in the May 18th death of a Port Jervis, N.Y. teen-age girl are being held for grand jury action.

Robert H. Gibbs, 21, and David R. Power, 25, both truck drivers, will go before the Sussex County grand jury this Tuesday for the death of Miss Joan Ann Tufano. They waived examination at arraignment Friday.

Miss Tufano was found dead May 18, lying along Route 206 near Hainesville, N.J. Police reported she died of a fractured skull.

The two men, arrested the same afternoon, claimed the girl fell from a moving truck cab by accident when she attempted to change seating positions in the pick-up truck.

The men said the trio had been drinking together and that they became frightened and fled from the scene.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Wayne and Frank Shuster, using their own imaginative material, are a superior comedy team. But, unless they were satirizing TV, they would never have written for themselves the tired trivia that constituted the first episode of their new series.

"Holiday Lodge," which premiered on CBS Sunday night as Jack Benny's summer replacement, has the Canadian comics at a plush lake resort.

The plot was that old mistaken-identity device—a convention of morticians pretending to be florists. When they arrive at Holiday Lodge, acting exactly like TV's idea of the heads of a crime syndicate, our heroes believe it is a convention of gangsters.

Well, you can imagine the fun and puns in that situation. Anyway, the laugh track accompanying the picture was one long loud howl.

I'll bet some of the mail CBS gets from outraged funeral directors will be more entertaining than the first show.

After all of David Susskind's criticism of TV during his testimony the Federal Communications Commission hearing last week, it will be interesting to see how much business—if any—his independent packaging agency, Talent Associates, is able to line up for the three major networks next season.

Susskind has made a hobby of sounding off about the low state of TV programming over the years, but he has never had such a good forum before. He made the most of it.

Actually, Susskind has not had a particularly successful season this year. His "Family Classics" series, which started out as two-part shows on successive nights, dwindled down to one-hour shows. "Way out," the off-beat series launched recently, will not last the summer, and NBC is quietly stewing about his forthcoming "Great Ghost Story" summer series, due to start early next month, but still very much in the planning stage.

Recommended tonight: "Peter Gunn," ABC, 10:30-11 (EDT) — singer Jane Morgan makes her debut on the show as a dramatic actress.

BOND BARGAINS

This article is an open letter to many readers of this column who, recognizing the high prices of "blue chip" common stocks, have asked for a list of prime bonds selling at attractive discounts from face value. The obligations mentioned here are those of five topsnotch corporations whose credit rating is high.

The enterprises are: American Telephone and Telegraph, Consolidated Edison, New York Telephone, Standard Oil of New Jersey and United States Steel. These leading corporations can borrow money as cheaply as any representative business in America.

In 1945, American Telephone offered at 100 a 35-year maturity 2¾ per cent bond. Conservative investors quickly bought the issue. Today this bond that cost 100 cents on the dollar 16 years ago can be bought for 78 cents on the dollar. It is a very high-grade obligation, instantly marketable, and the yield, considering its quality, is splendid.

In 1947, Consolidated Edison, furnishing light, heat and power to New York City, offered a 25-year 3 per cent bond at 100. Just now this bond can be bought for about 89—$890 for a $1,000 obligation.

In 1948, New York Telephone Company brought out a 3 per cent bond due in 1981 at 100. Today this high-grade obligation can be purchased at a large discount from its face value. It is selling for about 81 — down 19 points from its original price.

In 1946, Standard Oil of New Jersey—the largest oil enterprise in the world—offered a 2⅝ per cent bond at 98. Today it can be bought for 84. Its quality is very high.

In 1958, United States Steel Corporation—the world's leading industrial enterprise — brought out a 4 per cent bond due in 25 years (1983) at $100½. A thousand dollar obligation cost more than $1,000. Today this same bond can be bought for about $940.

Now, all of those dollar obligations are selling at discounts from face value of from 6 to 22 points—that means from $60 to $220 on each $1,000 obligation. They were sold to the public at a time when basic interest rates were lower. If held to maturity, they would show a profit to their holders.

And if the Federal Reserve Board in Washington should institute lower interest rates soon, all of these bonds would advance in price.

For stock speculators taking profits in ths market, these bonds are excellent vehicles of investment. For those persons with debts due in the future—like mortgages on houses—they should be accumulated.

For insurance-policy holders with large capital gains in stocks, these fixed-dollar-value obligations will guarantee premium payments over a period of years while the insurance contracts are in force.

Buy good bonds when they are bargains.

(A) Yes. Buy $10,000 face value of U. S. Steel 4 per cent bonds and with the $400 interest you will get, buy an insurance contract.

Pig Goes to Pokey

HILLIARD, Ohio (AP)—Police Chief Louis Riffle found a pig in the pokey, but he didn't buy it. Riffle reported finding the "middle-aged pig" in the village's one-cell jail when he opened his office. He learned volunteer firemen had put it there after discovering it running loose in front of the fire station. Mayor Gaymon Wright had the pig taken to a nearby farm and Chief Riffle had his jail deodorized.

Would Make Commitments Voluntary

Psychiatrist Against Mental Hospital Use for Criminals

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Anyone who commits a crime should be locked up in a penal institution, not a mental hospital, a controversial psychiatry professor contends.

"Mental hospitals often function as a penal institution in disguise," Dr. Thomas S. Szasz said.

Would Make It Voluntary

He advocates that commitments to all mental hospitals be put on a voluntary basis because more people will accept help if it is offered voluntarily.

He also urges that criminal features at mental hospitals — such as locked doors, fingerprinting and forced treatment—should be abolished.

Mental troubles, he said, are not illnesses like ulcers and common colds. He said:

"If we call a person sick, who has nothing physically wrong with him, and then treat him as if he were physically ill, then that's the kind of role the people will play, like an actor or actress."

Believes All Responsible

"No one's life is free from anxieties, conflicts and tensions. Yet I believe everyone is responsible, even to committing murder.

"I do not believe that so-called mentally ill people are not responsible for what they do."

Szasz, 41, came to the United States from his native Hungary when he was 18. He expounds his views in a book, "the Myth of Mental Illness."

Szasz is a professor of psychiatry at the Upstate Medical Center at Syracuse University of the State University.

In an interview, Szasz noted that the National Health Education Committee listed nearly 18 million Americans as mentally ill, "more so-called mentally ill people than people with heart disease, cancer and arthritis. But who says so? How do you know?"

"All a psychiatrist has to do is say someone is 'sick' and everybody tends to believe it," he said. "But sick according to whom? What's normal?"

A Lot Debatable

In acknowledging criticism of his views by fellow psychiatrists, Szasz said:

"There is a lack of agreement in psychiatry about almost anything. Theories contradict each other, therapies differ, results are debated."

Szasz said that when a person is committed to a mental institution, his civil liberties should be guaranteed. He should have the right to make telephone calls, write letters and refuse treatments, such as electric shock and tranquilizers.

Szasz also urged an easing of the committment laws, particularly involving the hospitalization of drug addicts.

All too often, the journey ends in unforseen tragedy. The cause can be laid to more than one reason. Why not do your part. Drive carefully at all times, and remember to be courteous and cautious with both pedestrians and the other drivers.

The Mature Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Infantile Envy Is Foe Of Warm Family Unity

Mr. R is very fond of accusing his wife of "spoiling" their children.

If she's altering a dress for their daughter, he'll shake his head in disapproval and later, in the privacy of their bedroom, say:

"What thanks will you get? None. Amy will wear that dress—and never give a thought to all the work you put into it to make it fit her."

If Mrs. R. gives half a pie to her married son to take home, he'll say, "Why can't Al's wife do his cooking for him?"

On holidays when Mrs. R cooks a big family dinner, he'll grumble to his children about how mama's always "doing for others" — and speak pityingly of her martyrdom in that "hot kitchen."

For Mr. R cannot ask Mrs. R to do anything for him. Rather than ask her to mend a shirt, he will wear it with a tear in it. He will refuse a serving of bakery cake rather than say, "I like the homemade kind and wish you'd make one." However, he does not put up with these deprivations in a good spirit but will wear the torn shirt and shove away the cake with a nervous irritation that bewildered his wife and alienates his children.

Mr. R's inability to ask Mrs. R to do anything for him derives from his secret conviction that she should know what he wants without being told. As a result, he lives in perpetual jealousy of the services she renders their children and expresses his envy by accusing her of "spoiling" them.

This is a self-impairing conviction for an adult to hold and is appropriate only for babies who have not developed the power of speech.

Yet many among us claim this infantile privilege.

We'll resent the graduation watch our husband has bought for our daughter because we feel he should know that we want a new watch, too. We'll resent our wife's inviting a son's playmate to lunch because she hasn't suggested entertaining our mother and sister for several months. Like the small child who expects mommy to anticipate all his wishes, we will feel abused when our marriage partner fails to anticipate them and gives to the children what we think he should know we want for ourselves.

Like Mr. R, we think our marriage partner should divine our wishes for new watches, movie excursions, increases in housekeeping money as readily as mommy used to know when we wanted a new pair of shoes.

Saugerties Boy Struck by Auto

A five-year-old Saugerties boy on his way to a Little League game was injured Saturday afternoon when struck by a car as he crossed Washington Avenue from behind a parked vehicle, Saugerties Village police reported.

Joseph Mosher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mosher of Finger Street was taken to Kingston Hospital by H & S ambulance, treated, X-rayed and released.

Police Chief Arthur W. Richter said the boy suffered abrasions of the right arm. Dr. Richard Wenger, called to the scene had the boy dispatched to the hospital for X-rays.

The driver of the car, Mrs. Edith Sperl of 83 Livingston Street was proceeding south on Washington Avenue when the five-year-old ran from behind a parked vehicle directly in the path of the Sperl car and was knocked to the pavement, police said.

Mrs. Mosher said her son was feeling much better at his home today. She said he was going to see a Little League game with some older boys and became separated from the group.

The mishap occurred at 12:45 p. m.

Ike, Nixon Will Talk Politics, World Problems

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon meet tonight for the first time since leaving office to help Pennsylvania Republicans kick off a campaign to regain the governorship and a Senate seat.

While the $100-a-plate fund-raising buffet dinner is billed as a testimonial to the two men, it will give Nixon a chance to confer with Eisenhower on Republican politics and world problems.

Nixon is expected to deliver a 30-minute speech, touching on party organization and rebuilding GOP strength in the big cities.

Eisenhower is scheduled to make only brief remarks. But his appearance will give George I. Bloom, Pennsylvania state Republican chairman, a chance to find out for certain whether, as speculation has it, Eisenhower might be interested in running next year for the Senate seat now held by Democrat Joseph S. Clark. David L. Lawrence, also a Democrat, now holds the governorship. His term expires next year and he cannot seek reelection under Pennsylvania law.

Son to Take Over?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The ailing Imam Ahmed of Yemen, who ruled his backward Arabian kingdom with an iron hand, is reported by Yemeni sources to have stepped down in favor of his reform-minded son.

Informants said Crown Prince Mohammed Al-Badr, about 35, has taken over the government and the 70-year-old king has gone into retirement in a suburban residential palace outside the capital of Ta'izz.

State Official Says Welfare Will Be Higher

FERNDALE, N. Y. (AP)—New federal and state public relief programs will mean increased welfare spending by county and municipal welfare departments, the state social welfare commissioner said today.

Commissioner Raymond W. Houston, in an address prepared for delivery at a meeting of the New York Public Welfare Association here, spoke against the background of open rebellion against the rising cost of public welfare programs in the City of Newburgh.

Houston said the new programs "mean local public welfare departments will have to serve more people, increase their staffs and consequently spend more money."

The cost of most relief programs is shared equally by the federal, state and local governments.

Lists Examples

The new programs listed by Houston as examples were:

1-Medical assistance for the aged to provide for an extended group of people over 65 years old not previously eligible for such care.

2-A 14-month expanded program of aid to dependent children, extending eligibility to 60,000 persons not previously covered.

3-Establishment and operation of a state service for locating husbands and fathers who have deserted their families.

4-A set of specific procedures and tests aimed at preventing abuses of public welfare.

5-Authority given to local welfare departments to establish citizens' advisory committees to encourage citizen participation in the administration of public welfare.

Approve 13 Changes

At Newburgh, city officials have approved 13 changes in regulations covering welfare payments, to tighten administration of the city's welfare department. The state has expressed concern that some of the changes may conflict with welfare laws, and that Newburgh's action could jeopardize federal support of welfare programs throughout the state.

But Newburgh, alarmed by the amount it spends on welfare each year, has vowed it will go to court, if need be, to establish its right to put the restriction into effect.

Who Will Mediate?

ROME (AP)—Italy and Austria have decided to seek outside mediation in their dispute over South Tyrol. But they still must agree on who will mediate.

A third round of foreign ministers' talks ended inconclusively Sunday in Zurich, Switzerland.

The long-smoldering dispute flared into an outbreak of violence last week that has taken three lives and sent 10,000 Italian troops into the picturesque Alpine region to preserve order.

WHEN BEING INTERVIEWED FOR A JOB

Q: I have just graduated college and intend to start looking for a job. As this will be my first experience along this line, I would very much appreciate any pointers you can give me as to how to conduct myself when being interviewed for a job.

A: First of all, be neat in your appearance. Clothes brushed, shoes shined, hair cut and neat. Nails must be clean. When you are asked a question, don't break in with your answer before your interviewer has finished the question. Don't be flippant or slangy. State your qualifications briefly and truthfully. Wait to be asked to sit down and let your manner be straightforward. Don't pretend to have experience when you don't, but say instead that you will do your best to learn. Tell a clear straight story and make it short. The important point is not to be nervous. Don't imagine the man who is granting you an interview is an ogre. Remember employers are human beings too.

Bride Throws Her Bouquet

Q: When does the bride throw her bouquet and does she throw it just to her wedding attendants or do all the single girls at the reception take part? Also, does she throw her garter to the ushers?

A: The bride throws her bouquet to her bridesmaids just before she leaves to dress for her wedding trip. If her attendants are married, she throws it to a group of single girl friends. The bride does not throw her garter to the ushers. To do so would be in extremely bad taste.

Inviting Man to Be Her Guest

Q: Is it considered proper, in the case of a young man and woman who have been going together for the past year, for her to act as hostess on occasion and pay for the evening's entertainment?

A: To pay for anything in his presence might be embarrassing to him, but it would be entirely proper to buy tickets to something beforehand and ask him to go with her as her guest.

Dr. Grover Will Head Rotary Club

DR. M. M. GROVER JR.

The meeting of the Kingston Rotary Club Wednesday, June 28 will be marked by the designation of Dr. Milton M. Grover Jr. M. D. as president. The Kingston club is the oldest unit in the 721st District of Rotary International. He will be inducted as the 46th president.

Married Life Is Crazy, Says Beverly

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Married life is crazy, says Beverly Aadland.

The 20-year-old actress, who was linked romantically with Errol Flynn before the late actor married Patricia Wymore, filed suit for divorce today in Los Angeles Superior Court.

She said Smedley was jealous of her friendship with Flynn and refused to accompany her to Las Vegas.

Miss Aadland was married to Smedley in Las Vegas on June 10, 1960. She said she was in Las Vegas with Flynn when she received word of Flynn's death.

Miss Aadland, who was 15 when she was introduced to Flynn by Mrs. Florence Pritchett, Hollywood agent, said she was traveling with Flynn at the time, and they became friends before the actor's death on the Fall of 1959.

Eichmann Says He Is Able To Wash His Hands of Guilt

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann today likened his role in the Nazi slaughter of the Jews to that of Pontius Pilate and said he was able to wash his hands of any feeling of guilt.

The former Gestapo colonel in charge of "Jewish affairs" reached back into Christian history to describe his thoughts of almost 20 years ago when the decision was reached to exterminate the Jews as the final solution to the problem.

As three Israeli judges leaned forward in rapt attention as Eichmann probed into his own ego. His measured manner of speaking, in good, careful enunciated in a pleasant style, shifted to one of assault and earnest pleading.

The 15th day of Eichmann's testimony opening the 11th week of his trial by an Israeli court for his role as one of the Nazis' foremost executioners, began January 20.

It was there that Gestapo chief Reinhard Heydrich said the final solution to the Jewish problem would require the deportation of 11 million Jews. Eichmann said the invasion of the Soviet Union was in progress when he received the order from Heydrich's behest.

Eichmann testified that high Nazi officials, including Heydrich, who had expected a quick victory, recanted at the meeting which received only an hour or so, said Eichmann.

Defense counsel Robert Servatius asked Eichmann about his reaction.

The defendant replied: "Here I felt a certain solace and appeasement, considering I had done my utmost despite my relatively low rank of lieutenant colonel and I had thought of a 'final solution' which was not repellent or hideous but which was practical and feasible.

"I did my best to bring order into all the turmoil in deportations. My unflinching efforts could be seen in the Radom plan and later in the Madagascar plan (for shipping the Jews to the island of Madagascar). I could say to myself that in spite of my determination I had to toe the line. What was done was not my doing. I had the duties of Pontius Pilate. I felt I was not guilty. What was laid down was done by the elite, the pillars of the regime."

Servatius informed the court he would conclude his defense early next week with Wednesday as the latest target date. Attorney Gen. Gideon Hausner said that he needs four days for cross-examination. After that the prosecution and defense summations will close the books pending delivery by the three judges of their verdict.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Newburgh Signs, Carpenters to Talk Here, 7:30

The first break in the three-week old carpenter strike came Saturday when the Newburgh contractors association and the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters reached an agreement.

Terms of the agreement were not made public pending another meeting this evening when representatives of the other contractor associations and Council representatives will meet at Kirkland Hotel, here, at 7:30 o'clock.

The agreement reached with the Newburgh contractors is for a four-year term. Details of the agreement are expected to be made public following the meeting this evening.

One of Largest Units

The Newburgh contractor association is one of the largest in the district. Construction work at West Point lies within the Newburgh jurisdiction.

It is expected the carpenters in the Newburgh area will resume work under the agreement on Tuesday morning.

It was reported on good authority today that one of the other three remaining contractor associations would sign an agreement if no general agreement is reached at this evening's meeting.

George E. Yerry Jr., president of the Hudson Valley District Council of Carpenters, today stated an agreement had been reached Saturday with the Newburgh contractor association but said terms could not be made public at this time.

Terms Satisfactory

Yerry stated that the terms had been "satisfactory" with the association and Council members.

Carpenters in the nine-county area covered by the Carpenters Council went on strike on June 1, following expiration of their contract on May 31. About 2,000 carpenters in the nine-county area are represented by the Hudson Valley District Council. Some jobs, including two school contracts in Kingston were picketed briefly, but pickets were withdrawn and other trades were allowed to continue work with an agreement that if any carpenter work was done on those jobs picketing would be resumed.

Brick Dispute Lasts

There was no change reported in the dispute between the Hudson River Brick Manufacturers and striking members of Brick Handlers' Local 1467. The last meeting was held Friday night without any agreement. The Brick Handlers' contract expired at midnight on June 15 and the workers refused to continue work after that time. Some 700 workers on six brickyards between Newburgh and Ravena were idled.

Thus far negotiations between the Brick Manufacturers and Union representatives have brought no results and the Friday evening meeting was recessed without date, subject to call by Federal and State conciliators.

Announces Terms

Speaking for the Hudson River Brick Manufacturers, Henry Clifton on Saturday announced the terms offered to the striking members of the Brick Handlers' Local 1467, at the Friday night meeting. The terms offered by the manufacturers were:

1. A general wage increase of 7½ cents per hour.
2. Increase to $20 per day for hospital rooms cost for employes and dependents.
3. Increase in compensation for surgical care to a maximum of $300 for employes and dependents.
4. Increase in life insurance coverage for employes to $3,000.
5. A new major medical plan providing for pay of above normal, medical costs for a maximum of $5,000 for employes and dependents.
6. A guaranteed 40-hour week under same conditions as previously applied to a 32 hour week.

The Union committee stated it would not call for a vote on the employers offer even though the same general terms had been accepted at an earlier meeting with the International Union of Operating Engineers.

The meeting, Mr. Clifton said, was subject to call of Federal and State Conciliators. No date was set for a new meeting.

YMCA Day Camp Opens for Season

YMCA Day Camp at Shokan opened today for its third year. Two bus loads of boys and girls left the YMCA this morning with Louis H. Schafer, camp director in charge.

The boys and girls upon reaching camp were divided into junior and senior camp groups according to ages. Each camp was divided into groups of eight with an adult leader in charge. The final morning activity was at the waterfront. The swimming check system, which is considered at camp to be the most imperative, was explained. Also campers are checked in groups every 15 minutes during a swimming period. They are checked 10 times each day, including the final check when campers get on the bus for their return home.

Schafer and Steve Orozco, camp directors have one of its best staffs. Russell Henze, who just graduated from State University College at Fredonia, where he specialized in music and Robert Lawrence, who just graduated from Dutchess College were most popular in camp last season. Both have been planning a program for the 1961 season. Messrs. Henze and Lawrence and the two camp directors gives the Day Camp four instructors in swimming for both the beginners and advanced swimming groups.

Parents desiring information concerning the 1961 camping program should phone the YMCA or stop in at the office on Broadway. The YMCA is a member agency of the Kingston Area Community Chest.

Unruly Calf Causes Mishap at Eddyville

A frisky calf in a truck caused the driver to lose control Sunday morning and the vehicle ran off the highway near Eddyville, struck a utility pole, and sending the operator to the hospital, Kingston state police reported.

The driver, Arthur Haber, 18, of Eddyville is in Benedictine Hospital today suffering from a lacerated eyelid and forehead.

According to the youth's mother, Mrs. Arthur L. Haber, her son was transporting the calf for Fritz Kammann of Eddyville. The calf in the back of the truck tried to jump out causing young Haber to lose control of the vehicle while driving west on Cutler Hill Road. The mishap occurred at 11:45 a. m.

Mein Kampf Makes Millions, Author Still Awaits Profits

AP Movie-TV Writer

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The documentary film "Mein Kampf" has made millions all over the world. But the man who made it has had no returns as yet.

He is Erwin Leiser, 38, a Swedish intellectual who began two years ago to put together a film account of the rise and fall of Adolf Hitler. The result startled the movie world and has affected social and political thinking.

"The film has been playing in 62 countries," reported Leiser, who is gratified by its success. But his profits have been nil so far.

Sees Court Action

"Under my contract, I am supposed to get an accounting of the profits every six months," he said. "Last December there were none. At the end of June I will get another report. If there are still no returns, I will have some interesting developments in the courts."

"Mein Kampf" has proved the sleeper of the movie season. It has had a fantastic success in Germany itself. When I was in Japan earlier this year, it was drawing large crowds.

The film has had a strange history in the United States. Producers William Perlberg and George Seaton saw "Mein Kampf" in Copenhagen and praised it highly to Paramount. They sent a print to New York and proposed an English narration by William Holden, who was also enthusiastic about it.

Paramount replied that American's wouldn't pay to see a recounting of Nazi horrors. Columbia snapped the film up for a reported $50,000. It is now expected to gross between $2 million and $3 million in the United States alone.

The man who made "Mein Kampf" is a stocky, balding man who became interested in the project as culture editor for a Swedish newspaper.

"I became acquainted with many persons who had access to the immense amount of footage about the Nazis," Leiser said. He found a producer to finance him and then began the great task of editing the film down to feature length. He served as director and writer.

Why did "Mein Kampf" prove so popular?

Appeals to Young

"I think it appeals greatly to young people," said Leiser. "They have read about these things in school, but they really can't comprehend them until they see them with their own eyes.

"What they see is real. These things cannot be faked."

There have been other documentaries of Nazi Germany, but they have not had the impact of "Mein Kampf." One reason is undoubtedly timing: The revival of interest in nazism spawned by the Eichmann trial. But credit must also be due Leiser's skill as a film maker. Amazingly, "Mein Kampf" was his first movie.

"I used some of the techniques I learned in making radio and TV documentaries in Sweden," he explained. "Mainly, I try to put nothing between the audience and the story. I want them to discover it for themselves."

Deaths

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MONTREAL (AP)—John Alexander Douglas McCurdy, 74, a pioneer in aviation whose interest in that field was sparked by a childhood meeting with Alexander Graham Bell, died Sunday. He was a former lieutenant governor of Nova Scotia. He was the first to pilot a flying boat from which he dropped oranges to prove bombing was practical. He flew a plane which sent and received the first wireless message.

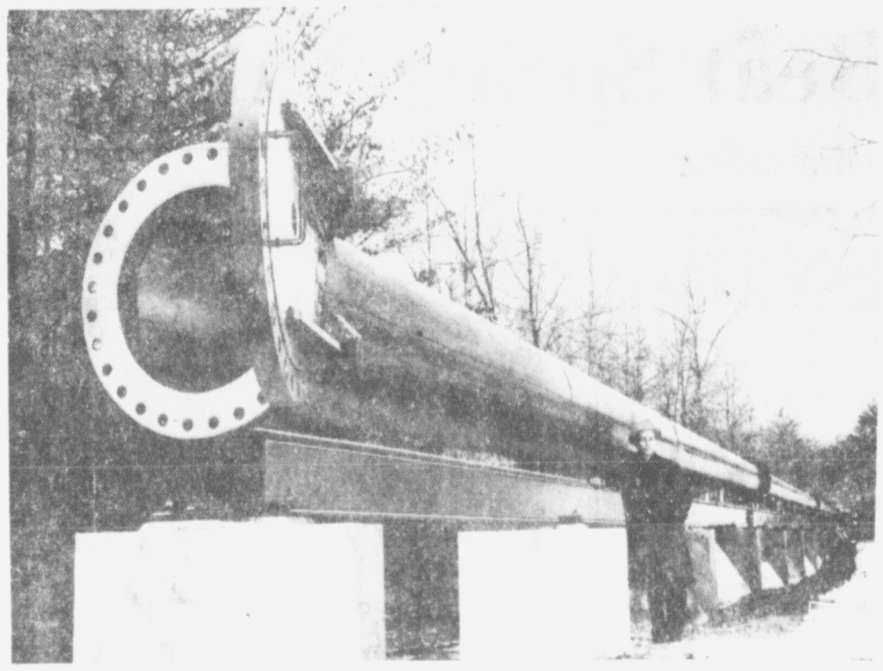

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Miriam A. Fuerguson, 86, twice governor of Texas and one of the nation's first women governors, died Sunday of a heart attack. Called "Ma" by friends and foes, both she and her late husband, James E. (Farmer Jim) were longtime Democratic political powers in Texas.

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Dr. Walter L. Bierring, 92, retired Iowa state health director and former president of the died Saturday. A native of Davenport, Iowa, Dr. Bierring studied under Louis Pasteur, French professor who founded bacteriology.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Keith Spalding, 83, millionaire rancher, philanthropist and heir to the Spalding Sporting Goods Co., died Sunday. Spalding came to California in 1906 from Chicago, his birthplace.

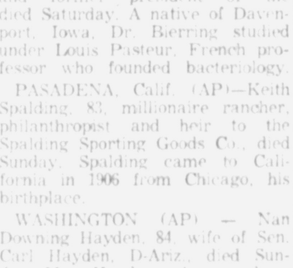

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nan Downing Hayden, 84, wife of Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., died Sunday. Mrs. Hayden, who was born in Wilmington, Calif., met the senator when they were students at Leland Stanford University. She had been an invalid 15 years.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — George Vanderbilt III, 47, millionaire sportsman, philanthropist and playboy, died Saturday. The son of the late Alfred Vanderbilt was found by a bellboy after an apparent leap from his 10th-floor hotel room. Vanderbilt, who served with distinction in the Navy during World War II, had come into $20 million at 21 and another $20 million at 35.

NO SECRET WEAPON—What looks like the longest cannon barrel in the world is really the Navy's new conical shocktube. Located at the U.S. Naval Ordnance Laboratory in Silver Spring, Md., it's 180 feet long with a diameter of six inches at one end and 30 inches at the other. A five-pound explosive set off at the small end can simulate the blast-waves produced by six World War II blockbusters. The tube is the forerunner of a 2,000-foot shocktube which will simulate the blast of an atomic bomb to make possible the study of nuclear blastwaves without actually firing a bomb. Standing by the tube is Naval lab physicist William S. Filler, who conceived and developed the device.

matter of FACT

While Stradivarius was making his famous violins, another Italian was developing the first piano. Cristofori, father of the piano, was proud that his instrument could play both loud and soft, in contrast with the tinkling harpsichord. To advertise its wide range he called it the pianoforte — Italian for "soft and strong." But poor Cristofori's "advertisement" backfired. Nowadays everybody calls it "piano," only the "soft" part of the name.

Braves Beat Spring Valley, 7-2, Lose to West Haverstraw

Winning Skein Stopped at Six; Corwin Fans 14

The Kingston Braves won a crucial victory from the Spring Valley Bengals, 7-2, with two late rallies for their sixth straight NY-NJ League victory, Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

But Sunday at West Haverstraw it was all butter fingers for substitute infielder Hal Lewis and the locals went down to defeat for the first time, 5 to 3. Lewis committed four bobbles and the Lumberman won with three unearned runs.

The locals remained in first place in the Eastern Division of the league with a 6 and 1 record, one game better than Spring Valley (2-2) in the loss column.

Bob Willis held a 2-0 lead over Al Corwin in a bristling pitching duel until the bottom of the seventh when Doug Holmquist tripled in three runs. The Braves continued their assault on reliefer Ed Mattot with four runs in the eighth to nail down the win.

At Haverstraw Sunday, Bob Bauer and Bob Schassler pitched shutout ball after the fourth inning and the Lumbermen rallied with three runs in the seventh to snap the Kingston skein.

Corwin Fans 14

Corwin permitted five hits, walked six and struck out 14 against Spring Valley. The Braves had only six blows off the two Spring Valley hurlers, with Willis striking out 12. Six errors, however, were the deciding factor.

Two slashing triples by Doug Holmquist, his fourth in three games, were the key blows in the two late rallies Saturday night. His seventh inning triple scored Charlie Pike and Johnny Giampola ahead of him and he crossed the plate when the second baseball bobbled the relay from the outfield.

In the eighth inning, two errors and a Wally Widholm scoring single loaded the bases and Holmquist promptly unloaded them a three base shot up his favorite right centerfield alley.

Best Braves news of the weekend was the batting resurgence of Wally Widholm, the hard hitting first sacker-catcher, who has been bogged down in a slump. Widholm slammed a homer and two singles at West Haverstraw and a pair of singles Saturday, giving him 5 for 9 for the weekend.

Frank Horan started Sunday but fell fielding a bunt on the wet infield in the third inning and was unable to continue. Norm Fahey relieved and took the loss.

Palmer's 271 Wins Tourney

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—Somehow the idea of Arnold Palmer headed for practice sessions this week "to straighten out" his iron play is hard to picture.

It's like the major league's top pitcher using a day off to sharpen his control in the bullpen.

Palmer is richer by $5,000 and a Grand Rapids-made chest of drawers after a brilliant victory Sunday in the 58th Western Open golf tournament with a 13-under-par, 72-hole total of 271.

Two days earlier, while sharing the halfway lead, he estimated a total 270 would win the four-day event at Blythefield County Club, where par is 36-35—71.

He wants to sharpen his iron play before going overseas Saturday to enter the British Open — bypassing the Flint Open this week.

The transplanted Pennsylvanian, now playing out of Miami, Fla., stood off the pressure challenge in the Western on a 272 total worth $2,800 and a "bachelor's chest."

Remaining prize money, plus some furniture items, was divided among 55 other top pros in amounts ranging from $2,565 to $100. Tigers Split Doubleheader; Reds Widen Lead in NL Race

Lose Some Ground To Yankees, Who Beat Twins, 8-4

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit first baseman Norm Cash walloped three home runs Sunday but the Tigers lost ground in the American League pennant race when they were held to a split in their doubleheader with Cleveland.

New York's second-place Yankees narrowed Detroit's first place margin to 1½ games, defeating Minnesota 10-5. The Tigers, after winning the first game 6-3, were nipped in the ninth inning of the second game 4-3 by the Indians.

Chisox in Fifth

Chicago's red hot White Sox roared into a fifth-place tie with Baltimore, defeating Washington twice, 7-4 and 6-3. The double triumph extended the Sox' winning streak to 10 in a row and gave them 17 victories in their last 18 games. Baltimore downed Los Angeles 9-8 in 14 innings on Ron Hansen's home run.

Boston and Kansas City split. The Red Sox won the opener 7-4 and the A's took the second 3-2.

Cash drove in four runs in the opener, walloping a pair of two-run homers off loser Wynn Hawkins. His slugging enabled Jim Bunning to register his seventh victory. The veteran right-hander needed help in the eighth but did very well in a scuffle with Cleveland's Jimmy Piersall three innings earlier.

The Indians' temperamental outfielder became enraged when hit on the wrist by a Bunning pitch and charged out to the mound. Piersall, along with two teammates who came to his assistance, was ejected.

Cash's nightcap homer was not enough. The Indians snapped a tie in the ninth when Chuck Essegian sent a drive off the right field foul pole with one out and the bases loaded. Ironically, Essegian was not credited with a hit because Vic Power failed to touch second and was forced for the second out as the winning run scored.

Streak Is Snapped

The Indians snapped Detroit's five game winning streak and broke their own seven-game losing string.

Veterans Billy Pierce and Early Wynn pitched the victories for the White Sox whose spectacular three-week surge has lifted them from last place to a fifth-place tie with Baltimore, fifteen and a half games out June 11, the Sox now trail front-running Detroit by 9½ lengths. Nellie Fox, with three hits and two RBI, was the Sox batting star in the opener and Floyd Robinson, with four hits and 3 RBI, paced their hitters in the nightcap.

Catcher Ellie Howard drove in four Yankees runs with a home run and single and offset the torrid hitting of Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew. The Twins' strongboy clouted a home run and single to account for half his teams' runs off winner Bill Strafford. It was the sixth homer in six games for Killebrew who drove in 15 runs and hit .591 during the span.

Good Relief Job

Mike Fornieles pitched four scoreless innings to protect Don Schwall's sixth victory in seven decisions since the later joined the Red Sox six weeks ago. Red Sox outfielder Carroll Hardy had a double and triple, scored two runs and drove in one. Gene Stephens, a former Red Sox outfielder, smashed a two-run homer to give the A's the split and furnish Bob Shaw with his first Kansas City victory since he came from the White Sox two weeks ago.

Ronnie Hansen homered in the top of the 14th and Jack Fisher survived a bases loaded situation in the bottom of the inning to feature the Orioles marathon victory over the Angels which consumed four hours and 42 minutes and 16 pitchers.

Top Dodgers, 3-2, For 3 Game Edge; Giants Split Pair

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cincinnati widened its first place lead over Los Angeles to three games Sunday, defeating the Dodgers, 3-2, Joey Jay, with the help of Jim Brosnan in the eighth, notched his ninth triumph, making a three-run first inning holdup.

San Francisco's third-place Giants fell four games off the pace, splitting a doubleheader with St. Louis. Ray Sadecki, 20-year-old southpaw, limited the Giants to two hits in the nightcap, winning 3-1 after the Giants had captured the opener 6-4 with a four-run rally in the ninth.

Spahn Is Beaten

Chicago's Cubs defeated Milwaukee 5-3 behind the hitting of George Altman and Billy Williams, who got seven of their team's 10 hits off loser Warren Spahn. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia divided a doubleheader. The Pirates won the opener 10-5 and the Phillies came back to take the second 4-3.

George Altman and Billy Williams slammed Warren Spahn for seven of the Cubs' 10 hits. Altman had a double, triple and homer and scored three runs. Williams had four singles and drove in two. Don Cardwell, with the help of Barney Schultz, who pitched hitless ball in 3 1-3 relief innings, won his sixth.

A Two-Hitter

Three St. Louis errors and singles by Jim Davenport and Willie Mays gave the Giants four runs in the ninth to overcome a 4-2 Card lead in the first game. Ray Sadecki, 20-year-old Redbird lefthander, permitted the Giants only two hits as he registered his sixth victory in the nightcap. Stan Musial's double featured a two-run rally in the second against loser Billy Loes. Mays' 18th homer in the ninth ruined Sadecki's shutout bid.

Homers decided the Philly-Pirate twin bill. Robert Clemente had two for Pittsburgh in the first game, his second igniting a four-run rally in the seventh inning. Pancho Herrera slammed a two-run homer in the seventh of the nightcap to snap a 2-2 tie.

Bucher Is Winner Of Sports Car Race

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (AP)—Even a stone-shattered windshield near the finish couldn't slow Robert Bucher Saturday as he lapped the field driving his German Porsche to victory in the Glen Classic Sports Car Race.

The 39-year-old business machine technician from Binghamton hit speeds of up to 125 mph through the straights and averaged 84.23 mph for the 76-mile race. The event opened the season at this picturesque 2.3-mile track overlooking Seneca Lake.

One driver was injured. Peter DeCosta of Philadelphia suffered several possible cracked ribs when his car spun off the track and slammed into a fallen utility pole.

Second place went to Norman Webb of Rochester, who averaged 81.89 mph in an Elva. Ben Moore of Bethlehem, Pa., was third in a Corvette, averaging 76.85 mph.

Rebel Harris Captures 4th Feature Event at Speedway

It was the Triple A all the way Sunday at Onteora Speedway where D. D. (Rebel) Harris of Poughkeepsie survived the wildest 25-lap feature in Onteora history to scramble to his fourth victory of the season.

The elements combined with some hair raising crackups, a miniature sandstorm and high winds to produce the most hectic main events ever seen at the Olive Bridge track.

There were no less than three spectacular crackups, involving five drivers, but no personal injuries were reported.

Adding to the sand laden confusion was Don Avery's fadeout with motor trouble on the third lap of the race.

Avery had won a stirring third heat duel with Harris and Stretch Van Steenburgh and fans were anticipating a rousing feature when all hell broke loose.

Russ Hyde of Beacon and Ed Yunker of Kerhonkson were involved in one crackup. Veteran Walt Schubert, Carl Cormiak and Johnny Grube locked horns in another dazzler. Midway in the race, John Falkowski of Albany tore up three fence rails on the last turn to complete the wreckage for the day.

With Avery out of the running early, the feature resolved into a three-car duel among Harris, who led for each of the 25 laps, Don Beesmer of Olive Bridge and Van Steenburgh. Beesmer hung in the runnerup slot for half of the race, when Van Steenburgh replaced him and at the finish it was Harris, Van Steenburgh, Beesmer, Bud Glass of West Hurley, Clayton Barringer of Krumville, Don Cronk, Carl Cormick and Dean Alexander in that order.

Barringer Is Winner

Russ Hyde won the opening 10-lap heat and Clayton Barringer crashed through to his first heat win in the second. Jimmy Grube of Newburgh won the consolation.

The summaries:

First heat, 10 laps—Russ Hyde, Ben Barringer, Bob Talmadge, Clarence Phillips, Dick Becker, John Falkowski, Dick Munson, Bob De Lease.

Second heat, 10 laps—Clayton Barringer, Stub Smith, John Van Der Mueler, Pete Keator, Ed Yunker, Dick Moore, Herb Gray, Bill Stokes, Dean Alexander.

Third heat, 10 laps — Don Avery, Rebel Harris, Stretch Van Steenburgh, Ernie Beesmer, Bud Glass, Joe Higgins, Walt Schubert.

Consolation, 10 laps — Jimmy Grube, Dick Becker, Dick Moore, Ben Barringer.

Feature, 25 laps—Rebel Harris, Stretch Van Steenburgh, Ernie Beesmer, Bud Glass, Clayton Barringer, Don Cronk, Carl Cormick, Dean Alexander.

Battle Joined Is Impressive At Belmont Park

By JOHN CHANDLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

How good is a 2-year-old colt named Battle Joined? And is he a horse to be reckoned with when the 1962 Kentucky Derby rolls around next May?

For that matter, what about a bunch of other juveniles who have been grabbing the headlines from coast to coast? There are plenty of them all good.

Last fall, after Hail to Reason was injured and permanently retired, Eddie Arcaro said the filly Bowl of Flowers probably could beat any of the colts. Hail to Reason was a terrif colt, and Carry Back then came along and is the hero of the 3-year-olds to date with Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Flamingo and Florida Derby triumphs.

On Saturday at Belmont Park, two races before the $116,625 Coaching Club American Oaks, which Bowl of Flowers took by an easy 5½ lengths, Battle Joined strutted his stuff.

In June, one year ago, Brookmeade Stable's Bowl of Flowers ran 5½ furlongs in 1:04 1-5, and set a Belmont track record. Saturday, Battle Joined went out in a race at the same distance, merely galloped in the stretch and won by 10 lengths in record-equaling time.

This is a bay son of Armageddon, and if Jockey Manuel Ycaza had been pressed, Bowl of Flowers' record would have been obliterated. Battle Joined in owned by Capt. Harry F. Guggenheim, who won a Kentucky Derby with Dark Star, only horse ever to beat Native Dancer.

There are 11 races which will be worth more than $100,000 for the juveniles between now and the end of November. And there are possible meetings between the top ones that will make management start hand-rubbing with anticipation.

At Belmont Park six youngsters meet today in the $28,900 National Stallion stakes. Two outstanding 2-year-olds entered are C.T. Chenery's Sir Gaylord, who won the Tyro Stakes at Monmouth in an easy gallop, and Adele L. Rand's Green Ticket, a six-length winner in both of his starts.

Smith's Get 4-1 Win; Ferraro and Nolan Star

Mike Ferraro and John Nolan, two of the outstanding baseball players in the area, staged a brilliant pitching duel Saturday night at Saugerties as the Smith's stopped the Nolan's, 4-1, in a nine inning Connie Mack league contest.

Ferraro won his own game with a two-run double in the ninth frame and he scored the fourth run moments later on an infield out. That nullified a nifty relief effort by Nolan.

The former Saugerties High ace came in to pitch in the second inning and he struck out a total of 20 batters during his tenure on the hill. Since he only recorded 24 outs you can see what kind of a job he did.

Jim Curley started the ninth by reaching first on an error and Henry Smith was safe on a fielders choice. Then Ferraro stroked the only hit off Nolan, a double.

Ferraro, the Kingston High star, struck out 15 during his nine innings of hurling. He was touched for singles by Frank Allen and Al Giannotti. Henry Smith had the other hit for his club, a triple.

Saratoga Raceway Features Annual Grand Circuit Week

SARATOGA SPRINGS—Grand Circuit week at Saratoga Raceway gets under way tonight with the fourth leg of the 24-class early closing trot series. With 20 named for the race, two ten-horse fields resulted. They go before Ambrose Sculley's starting gate as the fifth and seventh dashes, with the event named in honor of the New York Newspaper Editors.

Top division of the event finds an extremely closely matched field slated to compete for the winner's share of the $3,000-divided purse. Each of the ten probable starters has recorded a Raceway finish of third already this season. Four have posted wins, as well.

Fastest of the wins was posted by Argo Can, which sped around the oval in 2:05 4/5, with driver Charlie King in the sulky. For this highly regarded son of Florican, a high-priced winter purchase, it was the first win in three Spa trips.

In the same race, Madam's Son, owned by A. Raymond Hall, of Gouverneur, also was a "wake-up" trotter, finishing a good third, and then taking place money on official placings following a lapped on break at the wire.

Devility, Victory Sue, and Golden Echo are the others which have found their way to the Saratoga winners' circle already this year. The latter two are Canton, N. Y.-owned, by Mrs. Dennis Woods, and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Howard, respectively.

Baseball Owners Meet This Week

CHICAGO (AP) —Owners of American and National League baseball teams begin their meetings today with two problems uppermost: National League expansion and skyrocketing bonuses to young potential big-leaguers.

The Monday National League session will bring a report from a five-member committee of general managers on how to fit the two new 1962 members — New York and Houston — into a 10-team circuit on an equitable basis.

Current feeling is that the National will use the same general approach the American League employed in adding a Los Angeles team and a new Washington team.

Each American League club placed 15 players on a draft list, with seven subject to claim by each of the two new teams at a fixed price of $75,000 apiece.

Commissioner Ford Frick says he is working on the problem of bonus signings. Payment ceilings and stiff fines for violations, Frick says, may be needed to curtail bonus offers of $100,000 or more to teen-agers who may never come close to making the big leagues.

Johnson, Machen Set For Big Bout Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Harold Johnson and Eddie Machen, two men who want to fight Floyd Patterson for the heavyweight title, meet Saturday at Atlantic City's Convention Hall.

Johnson, the National Boxing Association's light heavy champ, will not be risking his title in this venture in the heavier class against Machen, the No. 2 heavyweight challenger from Portland, Ore.

The 10-round match will be carried on network (ABC) television, starting at 9 p.m., (EST).

Johnson stopped his last two opponents in title fights, Jesse Bowdry in Miami Beach and Von Clay in Philadelphia. Machen stopped Mike DeJohn after losing a decision to Sonny Liston.

Alejandro Lavorante, the Argentine heavyweight who knocked out Zora Folley in a major upset, gets back to work Thursday in San Francisco. His opponent will be Monroe Ratliff of Los Angeles.

The world's flyweight title will be up for grabs Tuesday at Tokyo where Pone Kingpetch of Thailand will defend against Mitsunori of Japan.

Seki, a 19-year-old southpaw, has a reputation as a puncher with 10 knockouts in his 21-2-1 record. Kingpetch's record is 26-4. The champ is a heavy favorite to keep the title he took from Pascual Perez in 1960.

Canadian boxing continues to concentrate on heavyweights with George Chuvalo of Toronto due to meet Willie Besman off of Germany and New York in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens Tuesday.

The two were to have fought last summer but an injury to Besmanoff forced a cancellation.

Jose Torres continues his campaign for a middleweight match with Paul Pender, who holds a share of the title, when he boxes Ike White of Philadelphia in Boston Tuesday.

35 Club Tops Vet Nine, 16-3

Sickler's 35 Club overwhelmed The Vets, 16-3, in a Kingston Babe Ruth league game Saturday. The winners broke things wide open with a big 10-run surge in the second inning.

Paul Natale slugged a double and two singles to pace an eight hit attack. Jack Sickler singled twice while Richie Hart had a double.

Gene Rios went the distance and picked up the win. He allowed only two hits.

Locals Win Twice Against Syracuse

After walloping the Legion, 12-3, Vogel's Shoes of Syracuse, one of top Babe Ruth league clubs in the state, dropped a pair to the Knights of Columbus of Kingston, 6-1, and 8-0, over the weekend at Dietz Stadium.

The Syracuse club went to work on the Legion early. It tallied five runs in the third frame to break a 1-1 tie and then added two in the sixth and four more in the seventh.

The locals had only two hits, a homer by John Schabot and Paul Gruner's single.

Don Horton and Ronnie Thomas pitched a couple of neat games to stop Vogel's for the Knights. Horton allowed only five hits and Thomas collected three safeties for the K of C in the Saturday contest.

Yesterday, in a game called after 4½ innings because of rain, Thomas was touched for a lone single while his mates had four hits in the 8-0 rout.

His Second Title

Bogle Wins Over Kowal In HRGA Finals, 2 and 1

William Bogle defeated Hank Kowal, 2 and 1, in an all-Dutchess Country Club finals of the Hudson River Golf Association tournament Sunday at Wiltwyck Country Club.

It was the second title for Bogle, who first won the crown in 1955. Kowal has won the title four times.

Bogle birdied the 9th hole to get the match even with 2-over-par 38's on the front nine. He took the 10th hole to lead for the first time. Kowal squared the match on the 11th. A par on the 16th put Bogle ahead, 1 up, and he cinched the match and title when Kowal topped his second shot on the par-5 seventeenth hole.

Kowal advanced to the finals by scoring a 4 and 2 victory over Tom Hopper of Dutchess, while Bogle was eliminating Jay Agnew of Powelton, 1 up, in 20 holes.

In first round matches of the championship flight, the fabled Ray Billows defeated the defending champion Bill Robischon of Powelton, 2 up, and Jerry Cariffe of Beacon eliminated Larry McGinnis, Dutchess, 3 and 2.

Cosenza Finalist

Only seven Wiltwyck players competed in the tournament and the best showing was made by George Cosenza, who lost to B. Ormsby of Dutchess, 1 up, in the finals of the first flight. Cosenza gained the finals by defeating Harvey Bostic, a clubmate, 1 up with the help of six handicap strokes. Bostic had been low Wiltwyck qualifier with a 78, but could not be contacted to be notified he was in the championship flight.

Other final results:

Third Flight—Jim Peelor Sr., Dutchess, defeated Jay Nickolich, Powelton, 1 up in 21 holes; Beaten 4—Ed Phelan, D, defeated Andy Petruski, Wiltwyck, 4 and 2.

Fourth Flight—Colonel Gregory, West Point, defeated Bill Howland, Rockland, 4 and 3; Beaten Four—Dick Hall, D, won from Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., Wiltwyck, 4 and 3.

Fifth Flight — B. Schubert, Powelton, defeated D. Perkins, Dutchess, 3 and 2. Beaten Four: Winner, M. Wells, Rockland.

Sixth Flight—P. Stevenson, Dutchess, defeated D. Komyathy, D, 5 and 4. Beaten Four: winner, W. Stauderman, Dutchess.

Seventh Flight—B. Stauderman, Dutchess, defeated J. Severino, Dutchess, 1 up. Beaten Four: Winner, J. DeMeo, Powelton.

Eighth Flight—Gene Krieger, Dutchess, defeated C. Costello, Dutchess, 1 up. Beaten Four: winner, P. Toner, Dutchess.

Ninth Flight — R. Russell, Dutchess, defeated E. Hickey, West Point, 2 up.

Tenth Flight — C. Botsford, D, won from R. Moltenby, Powelton, 5 and 4.

Major League Stars

Batting—Norm Cash, Tigers — The Detroit first baseman crashed three home runs as the Tigers split a doubleheader with Cleveland. He hit a pair of two-run homers in a 6-3 first game triumph and added another in the second game, won by Cleveland 4-3.

Pitching—Ray Sadecki, Cardinals — The 20-year-old southpaw limited San Francisco to two hits, winning the nightcap of a doubleheader 3-1. The Giants won the opener 6-4. Sadecki lost his shutout in the ninth when Willie Mays slammed his 18th homer.

Jensen, Hansen Stock Car Winners

Hoppy Jensen, of Wolcott, Conn., was the winner of the feature race at Rhinebeck Speedway on Saturday. On Friday night at Arlington, the veteran Hal McCarthy of Georgetown, Conn., slammed his way into the winners circle.

Dick Hansen of Red Hook led the Rhinebeck feature at the start and he kept his lead until the 13th lap. Jensen took over at that point and was never headed. Carl Fink came on fast at the end to take second with Ben Stone, John VanLeuvan, Carleton Hughes, Harry Brazee, Willie Boo, Harry Tripp and Bill Sunderland following the runnerup.

Gordy Hall of Kingston changed tires during the evening but he still won the sedan feature. Ike Houghtaling of Coxsackie and Jay Leonie of Kingston trailed.

McCarty and Bob Riley of Poughkeepsie staged a good duel at Arlington and they came across the wire in that order. Ray Anderson of Newburgh was third and Hoppy Jensen took fourth.

The sedan main event went to Jim Ketcham of Fishkill, followed by Dick Becker and Gordy Hall.

Piersall Goes On a Rampage In Detroit Game

CLEVELAND (AP) — The reformation this season in the behavior of Cleveland's Jim Piersall has been given a setback by the sting of a pitched ball on his right wrist.

It was the old Jim Piersall—emotional, fiery, irritating umpires and hamming it up for fans and a national television audience—who touched off a near donnybrook in the Indians' opener with Detroit Sunday.

The result was that Piersall, who was ousted from eight games last year, got thumbed from the field for the first time this year.

Piersall dashed to the mound to get pitcher Jim Bunning after he was nicked on the wrist with a pitch. Soon both dugouts were empty as players milled in a wild scramble.

"That guy (Bunning) has hit me six or seven times," declared Piersall later as he sat out the second game with a tender wrist. "I'm tired of it. He'd better stop throwing at people or somebody's going to get hurt."

No Intent

Bunning disclaimed any intent of aiming to hit Piersall, explaining:

"You don't think I'd be throwing at anyone with us leading by two runs and two guys on base. That wouldn't make sense."

Piersall threw a feeble left hook and followed with a right. Both missed as Bunning, wanting no part of a fight, ducked away. Then came an exchange of kicks. These were more effective. Both participants had shin scratches.

Piersall was such a problem last season the club gave him a week to "rest up" at home in Boston. His teammates called a meeting to deal with the problem and even Joe Cronin, American League president, called in the high-strung centerfielder for a "dutch uncle" lecture. But Piersall went his merry way.

Manager Jimmie Dykes put his thumb on Piersall this season and said all the problems with the umpires were over. Piersall played baseball and is having one of his greatest seasons, fielding brilliantly and hitting at a .346 clip.

Dean was recalled to Washington last week for consultation on the stalled Geneva talks. He appeared Sunday on a television news panel program NBC—Meet the Press.

Newburgh Determined to Rid Self

welfare on a steady influx of outsiders, principally from southern states. They believe the increase in welfare cases is related to an ethnic shift in city population.

City relief rolls show that, during the period from 1950 to 1960, the white population declined by 15.6 per cent. During the same decade, the number of non-whites increased 151.4 per cent.

Situation Changes

In 1950 almost two-thirds of the welfare recipients were white. In 1960 more than two-thirds were Negro.

A committee of three citizens appointed by the City Council last November to survey the welfare problem said the increasing Negro population was the result of an influx of migratory workers and their families, relatives of migratory workers who follow and a possibly more than accidental movement from South to North.

Leave After Apples Picked

The local office of the State Labor Department disagrees with some of the findings. If by migratory workers the committee means fruit-pickers who come North during the apple-harvesting season to pick fruit in orchards north of the city, a department spokesman said, then it is wrong. It's records show that no worker hired through its office during the last two years has stayed in the community past the apple season.

Area orchard-growers who hire the fruit pickers back the department.

Known as Haven

Whatever the cause for the influx, nearly everyone here agrees with the committee's finding that New York State, if not Newburgh itself, is known in southern communities as a haven for those who would emigrate.

To change that impression as far as Newburgh is concerned, City Manager Joseph McD. Mitchell has taken several drastic steps since becoming city administrator in October.

In a surprise move in May, Mitchell ordered recipients of welfare checks to come to police headquarters to obtain them. Checks to the aged and infirm were delivered by police officers.

The purpose of the order, according to Mitchell, was to verify that the recipients actually existed, lived in the city and were qualified to receive welfare aid.

In all, 250 persons went to police headquarters to obtain their checks. All except 10 were interviewed briefly by police officers. Eighty-six checks were delivered by patrolmen. Persons in the City Home or in the infirmary or on child welfare received their checks through the mail as usual.

Checks Returned

As a result, one check was returned to the welfare department because the person to whom it was issued never appeared, four others were returned to the department because of changed circumstances of the families involved.

Mitchell's muster order brought severe criticism from local ministers and the State Welfare Department. But the cries were mild, compared with the furor set off June 20 when the city manager announced 13 new welfare regulations. Among them are rules to cut off payment to mothers of illegitimate children if they should have any more, require able-bodied men on relief to work for the city 40 hours a week, and convert cash payments, where possible, to vouchers for food, clothing, rent and the like.

Effective July 15

The regulations are scheduled to become effective July 15.

Officials of the State Welfare Department were quick to express strong disapproval. They said many violated the state Social Welfare Law and the Federal Social Security Act.

Newburgh City officials said they would go to court, if the state steps in.

Meantime, members of the Orange County Board of Supervisors are deliberating the city's request to have the county take over its welfare program. Such an action, if taken before July 15, could save face for both city and state officials.

But the outlook is that any move in that direction probably would not occur for many months.

Boy Is Found Safe, Snug in Camping Area

PINKHAM NOTCH, N.H. (AP)—While more than 100 men and a helicopter searched a White Mountain wilderness, missing Harold Daudelin Jr., 12, was found safe and snug Sunday in a camping area at the base of Mount Adams.

Daudelin, of Rochester, N.H., was one of 22 youngsters in a church group who planned to hike to a camp near the top of the 5,798-foot peak over the weekend. He disappeared about 8:30 a.m. Saturday during a violent thunderstorm.

A U. S. Forest Service official found the boy at Dolly Copp Cabins about 2 p. m. Sunday. He was unharmed except for minor scratches and insect bites.

States Reach Agreements On Their Income Tax Laws

CHICAGO (AP)—A key figure in the nation's ever-broadening state income tax picture these days is the fellow who earns his paycheck in a neighboring state.

He has been the subject of heated debate in the legislative chambers of several states that collect income taxes.

The big issue he poses is — which state gets to keep his income tax dollars, the state where he lives or the state where he works?

Thirty-six states and the District of Columbia now impose income taxes. Commerce Clearing House, a private agency that reports on tax laws, says many of the states have satisfactory agreements with neighboring states and others are working toward a solution.

For instance: When West Virginia passed an income tax law recently it was able to work out reciprocal agreements with neighboring Kentucky and Maryland, both of which already had income tax laws.

All three states have directed firms hiring nonresidents to reduce the nonresidents' taxes in the amount the employee is taxed in his home state.

But such harmony is not easy to come by when a great many more employes commute to one state than to the other. For example, approximately 150,000 New Jersey residents flock to New York jobs each morning compared with 50,000 or so New Yorkers who work in New Jersey.

New Jersey had no income tax, but New York has—and Jerseyites who worked there were required to pay it, about $50 million a year total.

New Jersey Law

Faced with the need to raise money for commuter transportation services, the New Jersey Legislature took a close look at this provision and adopted a new law.

From now on, Jerseyites who work in New York (and only they) must pay a New Jersey income tax in the same amount imposed on them by New York. In effect, they would simply begin paying their entire New York tax to New Jersey.

For its part, New Jersey will begin withholding for New York the income tax of the New Yorkers working in Jersey—about $10 million a year which the New Yorkers theoretically had been required to pay to their home state but which heretofore had not been withheld from their Jersey paychecks.

Noting that the effect of this action would be to give New Jersey $50 million in exchange for $10 million, New York officials are anything but pleased. They point out the Jersey tax may be unconstitutionally discriminatory because it doesn't apply to all the state's residents. They anticipate a court test.

Other States Involved

Wisconsin and Minnesota also are involved in a tax controversy. It started when Minnesota adopted a withholding tax which Wisconsin said voided an old agreement that neither would tax the other's residents.

Negotiations were started to reach a reciprocal agreement but they collapsed when a Wisconsin legislative committee contended Minnesota stood to gain a half-million dollars a year because more Wisconsin residents are employed in Minnesota than vice versa.

The Wisconsin Assembly is studying a bill that would allow Wisconsin to tax the incomes of Minnesotans working there and distribute the money proportionately to Wisconsin communities whose residents work in Minnesota and are taxed there.

Thirty one of the 37 states which impose some form of income taxes allow their commuting residents credits for taxes imposed on their income is another states.

No such credits are allowed, however, in Alaska, Indiana, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Tennessee and Wisconsin.

Open Space Flight Center to Anyone

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP)—The United States will openly take a step in space next Saturday where the Soviet Union practices secrecy.

One of the nation's top security areas—the Marshall Space Flight Center—will be opened to anyone who wants to take a look.

The Saturn rocket is on the list of special attractions, and any Soviets who happen to be around can drop in with the American tourists.

Why We Say--

ENGLAND: An eavesdropper is one who listens in on someone's conversation. The name goes back to a time in England when it was the law that there had to be enough room between houses so that the eaves of the roof could drop water on the owners property. With houses loosely built, anyone standing in these spaces could listen in on what was going on in the house.

Eileen Schwenk Becomes Nun to Work at Missions

Thirteen young women from the Archdiocese of New York including a Kingston girl took part in a profession ceremony at the Maryknoll Sisters Motherhouse, Ossining, on June 24. Maryknoll Bishop John W. Comber presided and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Henry J. Lenahan, pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes, New York City, preached.

Eileen Schwenk, St. Joseph's parish, Kingston, was one of 62 young women to receive the habit of the missionary community. She is a daughter of former Alderman-at-Large and Mrs. John J. Schwenk, 85 Dunneman Avenue, and graduated from Kingston High, and from Salve Regina College, Newport, R. I., with a BS in nursing. She was school nurse in Kingston City Schools. Her name in religion is Sister Marie Veronica.

Other New Yorkers were Sisters Thomas Michael, M. Francis, and Ann de Lourdes, who pronounced first vows. These Sisters are now eligible for assignment to any of the Maryknoll Sisters 117 houses around the world.

In addition New Yorkers who received the habit include: Delores Barbeau, Barbara Cody, Maryann Dowling, Linda Montano, Noreen O'Connor, Dorothy Scanelli, Mary Valverde, and Eileen Zgardowski.

The Archdiocese of New York has given Maryknoll 107 professed Sisters.

The average American family is expected to spend $385 on home improvement in 1961. Manufacturers of housing equipment, furniture, and furnishings used $22 million worth of national newspaper advertising last year to inform the public of their products.
